who has been seriously ill, is now convalescing.

—Mrs. M. A. Mitchell, who has been visiting friends here, has returned to her home in Cleveland.

—Hair cutting to conform to the features of the face at Burn's popular hair cutting rooms, Cole's Block.

—Mr. and Mrs. U. G. McQueen entertained a company of friends at their home on Hall street, Monday evening.

—Mr. H. F. Ross has the contract for Rev.
Mr. Byington's new house on Franklin st.,
work on which has commenced.

—Don't forget that reserved seats for The Entertainment Club's third season are now on sale at Mr. Hubbard's Drug store.

—Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ellis have rented Mr. Lewis E. Coffin's beautiful residence on Bellevue street and are now living there.

—Mrs. F. L. Cutting and Miss Cutting of Park street sailed from Europe this week and will probably arrive home next Wednesday.

—Miss Laura Lane is up again after her long confinement occasioned by a broken limb, and is able to move around with the assistance of crutches.

—Mr. and Mrs. George H. Snyder, who have been stopping here for the past few months, have returned to their winter residence, St. Botolph street, Boston.

—The Newton Social Science Club will meet at Mrs. Stetson's, Park street, Wednesday, Nov. 9, at 10 a. m. Subject of study for the winter will be opened.

—H. E. Johnson has moved his place of business to Brackett's new block, 419 Centre street, where he has increased facilities for filling orders for all kinds of electrical work.

—There will be the usual services 10.45
a. m. and 7.30 p. m. at the Methodist church next Sunday. Miss Parks will play a cornet solo and Mrs. Brannan will sing at the evening service.

—By request Rev. Mr. Spaulding will deliver his lecture on "Our Italy" Picturesque California," in the Read Fund Course, Nov. 10th, at Eliot Hall. Admission is free and there will be plenty of seats.

—Miss M. L. Wagstaff, who for the past two years has kept a first class house at Nantasket beach, has through the advice of her numerous friends in Newton opened a boarding house, 223 Church street, where she solicits patronage.

—Mr. William Ludwig, the celebrated baritone, and his excellent concert company, will give a concert in Eliot Hall, Thursday evening, Nov. 11th. The company have always had crowded houses on their visits to Newton.

—Mr. P. A. Murray has a patent for applying pneumatic rubber tires to carriages, putting them on over ordinary tires, and he has put them on to a number of carriages and they are giving great satisfaction. It is a great invention.

—The concrete cross walk on Centre st.
opposite the bank was torn up recently when the street was improved and a good deal of complaint is being found. There is a cross walk now being laid in Washington street and the railroad track.

—The precinct two voting booth in Waban Park, near the estate of Mr. John S. Potter, has attracted no small amount of attention the past few days. It is not that it presents a very curious aspect, but is a novelty that seems to provoke scrutiny.

—The Newton Republican Battalion
under command of Capt. Hollis and Felton turned out in the big parade in Boston last night and made a creditable appearance.
The city was also represented by the West Newton, Auburndale and Newton Centre battalions.

—The Newton football eleven is to have the assistance of five men from the B. A. team Thanksgiving Day when a game will be played with West Newton. The contest promises to be a good one as both organizations have secured some clever players well known in amateur circles.

—Dr. Arthur Hudson made a good display at his pharmacy in recognition of the Republican torch bearers Monday evening.
The windows were decked with lanterns arranged in effective grouping. The store of W. B. Whittier was also decorated with Japanese lanterns and festoons of bunting.

—Rev. Mr. Hornbroke will give the third lecture in the course of lectures on The Religious History of the United States next Sunday evening in Channing church. Subject, "Religious Conditions in the Colonies between the time of the settlement and the War for Independence." Service begins at 7.30. All heartily welcome.

Music in Grace church Sunday evening:

Anthem, "Lord for thy tender mercies" Fabart sake, "Almighty and everlasting God." Recessional, "Pleasant are thy courts above." Gibbons

—Men's classes will be held in Nonantum hall, Wednesday and Saturday evenings, commencing Nov. 16, at 8 o'clock, under the direction of Mr. Boler, instructor at the Hemenway Gymnasium, Harvard College. The hall is large and commodious and well fitted for light and heavy gymnastics and all athletic work. Bath, Dressing rooms and lockers.

—Wellington Howes, Barber Brothers and Druggist Hahn decorated in honor of the Republican torchlight parade, Monday night, and most of the other stores kept the gas lighted. By the time the parade reached here the companies were rather demoralized, only the Cambridge company paying much attention to style, and their men marched like veterans.

—Some big bets are on over the Congressional contest. One resident is said to have a cool $1000 on Draper, placed with several enthusiastic supporters of George Fred Williams. Gen. Draper feels confident of victory, at least his intimate friends say so. It would be very sad for him to meet with disappointment under the circumstances, but who can tell where the hatchet will fall.

—You can relieve your mind and save much anxiety and trouble by dropping a postal to J. Henry Bacon, and his team will call at your house for your laundry work every week. He is agent for one of

THOSE DEPUTY MARSHALS.

THEIR APPOINTMENT ASKED FOR BY RE-PUBLICANS.

To the Editor of the GRAPHIC:

In your last issue, the chairman of the Republican Ward and City Committee of Newton, (Mr. Robert H. Gardiner), gives what he calls a statement of facts regarding the appointment of United States Deputy Marshals to serve at the polls in the coming election.

Conscious of the unpopularity of this action on the part of the Republican officials in superseding our police force, by placing government officers at the polls,
who have paramount authority, Mr.
Gardiner endeavors, first, to place the responsibility for their presence on Democratic shoulders, and, then, seeing that our citizens are resenting even this mild application of the Force Bill, tries to show that government interference in elections is harmless and salutary.

In both instances, Mr. Gardiner, in aiming at the truth, has shot very wide of the mark, and it is therefore necessary to enlighten him.

First: The United States Deputy Marshals for Newton will be appointed, not on petition of an eager Democrat and an unwilling Republican, as he states, but on that of two red-hot Republican citizens, viz:
J. J. Coxeter and N. H. Chadwick. In confirmation of this, I refer him to the Chief Marshal's office in the City of Boston.

I may add that while the list of names of those Republicans who are to serve as Deputy Marshals in the various precincts of Newton, has been on file in the Chief Marshal's office in Boston for several days,
the list of names of those Democrats who are to serve in a like capacity is not even yet made up. And, furthermore, it would not be made up at all, but for the fact that the Chief Marshal's office is a Republican office,
and would have power to fill the entire list with men who sympathized with the Republican cause.

Second: In order to allay the feeling which has been aroused in this community by the report that Deputy Marshals were to be appointed, Mr. Gardiner says of the duties of these officers, that they are simply to watch the registration and elections, and to report any illegality. On the other hand the Attorney General of the United States in his instructions to these officials,
just issued, declares that: "By Sec. 2022
the Deputy Marshals are authorized to arrest, with or without process, any person who commits, or attempts, or offers to commit, any of the acts or offenses prohibited therein, or who commits any offence against the laws of the United States."

I presume that in the construction of the duties of the marshals under the statutes of the United States, President Harrison's Attorney-General will rank even with Republicans, as a little higher authority than the esteemed Chairman of the Newton Republican Ward and City Committee. At any rate, he disagrees with Mr. Gardiner in thinking that Deputy Marshals are simply reporters.

In conclusion let me say that, in the purity of their elections and in the maintenance of order at the polls, the citizens of Newton implicitly trust to the honor and rely on the efficiency of our Board of registration and our police force. They believe in Home Rule. If they oppose the present Republican election laws, which allow Judge Hallett to set a watch on such men as Kingsbury, Bourne, Bridges and Hale, and permit Chief Marshal Doherty to defy our police officers, how much greater their opposition would be to the Republican Force Bill, which gives the control of the machinery of elections to government officials, and then backs them up with the bayonet. Yours truly, WM. J. FOLLETT.

ing and entertaining feature is looked forward to. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Saville.

Winter Cloaks.

Springer Brothers are showing a be-wondering variety of new and stylish winter cloaks, which will be sure to please every lady visitor. They have them in all styles, both in fur, in cloth and fur trimmed, and the excellence of the bargains offered is proved by the large number of customers found daily in their show rooms, which are the most extensive of any house in Boston devoted solely to ladies' outside garments. They have them at all prices so that every taste and purse can be suited.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

$607 FOR WATER MAINS—GRADE CROSSING QUESTION IN EXECUTIVE SESSIONS.

The mayor presided Monday evening at the meeting of the board of aldermen and all the members were present.

The appointments of various election officers were confirmed.

Applications for sewer assessments to be apportioned in five parts on the estates of W. H. Johnson and Mary Burdon were granted, also to L. J. Barnes, G. B. Buck and others for assessments in ten equal parts.

The report of the city engineer submitting plans of assessments of various estates was received.

REMOVE WATERING TROUGH.

Alderman Wilson offered a petition signed by S. F. Cate and others asking that the watering trough, corner of Washington and Watertown streets be removed 200 feet south of Watertown street. Referred to highway committee.

A petition for an appropriation of $100 for the support of the West Newton Athenaeum for the coming year on condition that the citizens pay the rent of the room, was received from L. G. Pratt, chairman, and referred.

N. E. TELEPHONE & TELEGRAPH CO. AGAIN.

The N. E. Telephone & Telegraph Co. petitioned for location for poles and wires on Concord street, Lower Falls, from Washington street to the western line.

Mr. Aubrey was present and said there were two subscribers they wished to reach and Concord street seemed the best way to reach them, and that this location was established the wire to Francis Blake who now had an independent line would be changed to this route.

Alderman Sprague requested the opinion of Chief Bixby regarding the location.

Mr. Bixby said the present line to Francis Blake was objectionable and it was a matter of necessity that a change should be made. The proposed route was the best that offered.

The petition was then granted.

TO ABATE ASSESSMENT.

Alderman Wilson presented a petition from Henry H. Hunt requesting an abatement of his tax, levied on account of the Mague meadows, claiming no benefit, that he was damaged by the changing of the course of the brook, also from the overflow leaving stagnant water on his land.

The petition was referred to the city solicitor.

REPORTS.

Alderman Coffin for the committee on highways reported on the petition of Tuttle and others recommending the laying out of Maple avenue, on petition of King and others recommending the laying out of Lenox street and taking lands therefor. The report was accepted and the recommendations adopted.

Alderman Harbach for the water board reported on the remonstrance of W. O. Hunt and others against the use of land, corner of Edinboro street for water pipe and giving the petitioners leave to withdraw.

Alderman Sheppard for the committee on claims reported, recommending that Amasa W. Tarbox for alleged damage to his estate have leave to withdraw.

$607 FOR WATER PIPES.

The water board were authorized to lay 256 feet of six inch pipe on Boylston street and 180 feet of six inch pipe on Crafts street at an expense of $607.

The city treasurer was authorized to levy and collect sewer assessments in accordance with the statutes.

Alderman Hyde offered orders requiring the N. E. Telephone & Telegraph Co. to rebuild their line on Walnut street, also authorizing the erection of poles and wires on Beacon and Boylston streets. The orders were adopted with the proviso the mayor's signature be withheld until plans of the location had been filed by the telephone company.

The report of the highway committee recommended the discontinuance of a portion of Beacon street as petitioned by the L. R. and Caroline Harbach heirs.

HEARINGS APPOINTED.

Hearings were appointed on the laying out and grading of Maple avenue and Lenox street, and the discontinuance of a portion of Beacon street before the board of aldermen Monday, Nov. 21, at 7:30 p. m. o'clock and before the common council on Monday, Nov. 28, at 7:30 o'clock, and notices were ordered issued to all parties interested.

An order was passed adopting the instructions to election officers as regulations in accordance with the acts of 1890, and authorizing the printing of 500 copies of the same.

The board then went into executive session which lasted over an hour considering the appointment of a committee to investigate the best method of separating the grades along the line of the Boston & Albany railroad at Newton, especially with a view to getting at the cost of the plans suggested by Mr. J. T. Langford and the Boston & Albany Railroad Company. The former contemplates changing the tracks to a new location, and the latter provides for an elevated roadbed on the line of the present tracks between Faneuil and Auburn.

The discussion is reported to have been a lively one, and resulted in an adjournment without deciding the make-up of the committee.

Resolutions.

At a meeting of the Boston Drugists' Association, Oct. 29, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, the Lord in his Divine Providence has seen fit to remove from our midst our friend, Mr. C. E. Billings, of the firm of Billings, Clapp & Co.,

Resolved, that we learn with profound sorrow the sad news.

Resolved, that it is with real pleasure that we are enabled to look back upon his acquaintance and business career of so many years, leaving, as it does, a brilliant example for his younger friends to imitate and follow.

Resolved, that these resolutions be spread upon our records, and a copy sent to his family and to his business associates.

JAMES O. JORDAN, Sec'y.

Constitution and all troubles with the digestive organs and the liver, are cured by Hood's Pills. Unequaled as a dinner pill.

When all other remedies for scrofula fail, Ayer's Sarsaparilla, if persistently used, effects a cure. Being a powerful alterative, it cleanses the blood of all impurities, destroys the germ of scrofula, and imparts new life and vigor to every fibre of the body.

The great value of Hood's Sarsaparilla as a remedy for catarrh is vouched for by thousands of people whom it has cured.

THE DANGER OF DELAY.

IN DECIDING UPON THE REMOVAL OF GRADE CROSSINGS.

To the Editor of the Newton Graphic:

I would like to call your attention once more to the fact that, whatever may be the merits of the Langford scheme for the improvement of the city, the lingering and desultory way in which the discussion of it is carried on is going to cost the taxpayers of the city a very large sum of money, which might just as well be saved by a little promptness.

It seems to have been entirely forgotten that neither the Mayor and Aldermen, nor the Boston & Albany Railroad Company, nor any committee of private citizens, have any power whatever to say in what way the grade crossings in Newton shall be changed, but that this power rests by law with a Commission to be appointed by the Superior Court. This Commission is appointed, if the Court thinks proper, on the application of the Mayor and Aldermen, or the railroad company; it hears the parties interested and directs in what way the improvement shall be carried out; and the state has made a limited appropriation, out of which, so long as the appropriation lasts, it will pay one-fourth of the cost of making change, and will compel the railroad company to pay sixty-five per cent, leaving, at most, only ten per cent for the taxpayers of the city to pay, and the Commission may, if it deems best, divide the cost so that the city will pay less, and the State more.

The statute provides that the total amount to be expended by the State for this purpose shall not exceed $5,000,000, and that not more than $500,000 shall be expended in any one year. A very large part of the State fund will be absorbed by the improvements to be made in Boston, Brockton, Worcester, and the host of smaller places where the money by making early application, and if Newton does not apply very soon for its share, which would probably be more than half a million, and might reach nearly a million, according to the plan adopted, it will get nothing.

In any case, it will be years before any of the State's money will be available for Newton, even if it is applied for immediately, as the more enterprising towns will have to be attended to first, and the Commission appointed by the Court, which has sole power in the matter, will have plenty of time, as well as inclination, to hear anything that parties interested may have to say.

At one of the Langford meetings, a speaker, on having his attention called to the fact that the State might not be disposed to contribute to the Langford plan, said that the people of Newton were rich enough to carry out any plan they wanted, without the help of the State. That may be true, but, at the same time, the taxpayers would be glad to have the State's help, if they can, and they ought not to lose it simply for want of asking for it.

It seems to me, therefore, in every way desirable that the Mayor and Aldermen should make application without delay to the Superior Court for the appointment of a Commission, as the law provides, setting forth in their petition, if necessary, any provisional scheme that they may agree upon. This will secure the money, if there is any to be had, and will bring the matter before the only body which has power to do anything about it; and Mr. Langford, and all the other people who have schemes to propose, can display their eloquence where it will do some good.

You will understand that I, personally, have no preference for or against any scheme. What I should like best would be a plan that would be a benefit to the city, and a burden to the State.

The wages of these Hopdale workmen may be 100 per cent higher than in similar factories abroad, though I doubt it, but are they within 20 per cent of the rate paid in similar factories in this state? This is where "Eliot Lord," as he signs himself, is weak, and he seems to know it.

Hopdale may be a model manufacturing town, in protectionists' eyes, but a town where the workmen owned their own homes and were not liable to be "evicted" at any moment, would be a better model for Americans to imitate.

The wages of these Hopdale workmen may be 100 per cent higher than in similar factories abroad, though I doubt it, but are they within 20 per cent of the rate paid in similar factories in this state? This is where "Eliot Lord," as he signs himself, is weak, and he seems to know it.

Gen. Draper may be a "close" student of "economic conditions;" as Eliot says and according to those affidavits his workmen find him so.

Gen. Draper, I see, believes in the McKinley policy of taxing the people to make millionaires out of a few manufacturers; he believes in taxing the people to pay pensions to millionaires, and he would also like to have the people taxed to send him to Congress. I have often heard men say that the world owed them a living, but I never before saw a man who was quite so omnivorous in his method of collecting it.

Hospital Sunday.

In accordance with notices sent by Rev. Wolcott Calkins, chairman of the committee of ministers, a meeting of the ministers of the churches in the city of Newton was held at the Methodist church, Newtonville, on the afternoon of Monday, Oct. 31st, to make arrangements for Hospital Sunday, Nov. 20th.

The meeting was called to order at 4.30 p. m. There were present as representatives of the various churches: Rev. W. C. Jackson of the Newtonville Methodist church, Mrs. Russell of the Church of the Redeemer, Chestnut Hill; Rev. Mr. Manning of the Methodist church, Newton; Rev. Francis B. Hornbrooke of the Channing church, Newton; Rev. J. M. Dutton of the Central Congregational church, Newtonville; Mr. Q. A. Green of the North Evangelical Congregational church, Newton; Rev. Nathaniel Fellows of the Methodist church, Newton Upper Falls; Rev. Lemuel C. Barnes of the Baptist church, Newton Centre; Mr. Lucius G. Pratt of the First Unitarian church, West Newton; Rev. Theodore J. Holmes of the First Congregational church, Newton Centre; Rev. John Worcester of the New church (Swedenborgian), Newtonville; Rev. Edwin H. Hughes of the Methodist church, Newton Centre; Rev. Wolcott Calkins of Eliot church, Newton; Rev. John Matteson of the Church of the Messiah, West Newton and Auburndale; Rev. Edward T. Sullivan of Trinity church, Newton Centre and Rev. Wm. Hall Williams of St. Paul's church, Newton Highlands.

Rev. Wolcott Calkins was elected chairman and Rev. W. H. Williams, secretary of the meeting.

Letters expressive of regret for necessary absence were read from Rev. J. C. Jaynes of the Unitarian church, West Newton, and Rev. George C. Phelps of the Congregational church, Newton Highlands, and verbal message was received to similar effect from Rev. George W. Shinn of Grace church, Newton.

Interesting and suggestive accounts of the work and condition of the Newton Cottage Hospital, indicating the growing efficiency of the institution and its increasing need of liberal aid on the part of the churches and the general public, were given by Rev. John Worcester and by Dr. S. L. Eaton, the latter representing the executive committee of the hospital.

Mr. Lucius G. Pratt of the Boston Finance Committee made valuable suggestions in regard to the best method of obtaining generous contributions from the churches and emphasized the need of substantial increase in such offerings.

Rev. Francis B. Hornbrooke urged that secular organizations as well as churches should be asked to aid in the support of the hospital. In reply to a question of Rev. J. M. Dutton, Rev. John Worcester detailed some interesting facts as to the origin and growth of this institution. Dr. S. L. Eaton also explained the careful endeavours of those interested in the financial administration to induce patients of limited means to pay as large a proportion as possible of the cost of their treatment.

On motion of Rev. Francis B. Hornbrooke it was voted that the meeting should express to the authorities of the hospital the recommendation that appeals for support be sent to secular organizations in Newton.

On motion it was voted that the chairman, Mr. Lucius G. Pratt, and Rev. G. W. Shinn with the secretary be appointed a committee to formulate and transmit to the churches an appeal for Hospital Sunday.

The committee were instructed to include in their circulars very full information concerning the work and needs of the hospital.

On motion of Rev. Lemuel C. Barnes it was voted that the proceedings of this meeting be sent by the secretary for publication in the local papers.

On motion the meeting was adjourned.

WM. HALL WILLIAMS, Sec'y.

A Republican for Williams.

To the Editor of the GRAPHIC:—

Mr. George Fred Williams' record as a public man ever since he became a legislator should, it would seem, appeal strongly to the voters of this congressional district.

To those who firmly believe that through their party is the only road to the highest public good, this aspect of the contest will probably appeal with small force.

But it has been shown in times past that there are a great many electors in the city and towns comprising the new eleventh district whose interest in the public good is untrammelled and unconfined by party ties, who respect the honest, fearless, independent and able man in office, and who believe that the hope for pure, disinterested and wise administration of affairs lies in pushing such men to the front and in keeping them when they have proved their sincerity and worth.

To all such a great opportunity is presented. It is said that this district is "naturally Republican" by over 100 votes.

Let it be shown that it is naturally sure for nothing except the man whose position on public questions, whose integrity and ability best command to his suffrages.

Before voting against Mr. Williams because of a difference in opinion upon some of the several issues of the campaign, let the voters stop and think of those who would rejoice at his defeat and to whom every hostile vote will bring the deepest satisfaction. The friends of unlimited silver and of a depreciated currency, be they southern democrats or western farmers' Alliance men, would have a sigh of relief to know that the fearless young representative of the old Bay State had been defeated by the men for whom he worked day and night, with a courage, an ability and a success that attracted the attention of the nation and brought down upon his head the bitterest attacks both of enemies within his own party and of a party in such revision among the opposition, which cared more for party capital than public welfare.

However much they might mourn in private the politicians and school boys who chuckle with satisfaction if the man whom they have never been able to control was retired by the people for whose interests he had broken from party ties and ignored the bosses' threats.

Will the voters of this district afford these classes of people, whose interests are so opposed to their own, the satisfaction of the defeat of the man whom they fear and hate?

With Mr. Williams' record and character in mind, is it reasonable to fear that he would vote for any scheme of tariff revision which would ruin the industries of Massachusetts? Can it be believed that he could be whipped into line to help destroy her prosperity? Can it be doubted that he would, if elected and his party were in the majority, be a potent factor in such revision and that he would fight for a schedule that would guard the interests of his state and district, while at the same time reduce the burdens of the present tariff?

What reason is there to look for wisdom, more honest and more disinterested action on the part of his opponent? Gen. Draper, who undoubtedly is an honest and capable business man, has a personal, material interest in the question. His friends and associates are of the class which has this interest. In this company he works and lives and the question of tariff naturally and necessarily is seen by him from the manufacturer's side. In short, he is all over in partnership with the government, that is with the people, and he asks the latter to choose him their representative in making a bargain between himself and his friends on the one side and the people on the other. Would Mr. Draper's superior technical knowledge be at the disposal of the public or of his friends? Gen. Draper might possibly be the most capable expert witness, but would not Mr. Williams be the most impartial judge?

The defeat of Mr. Williams would to my mind be a blow at good government. What is needed to-day is public life. If any thing else is men who have the mental equipment necessary for an intelligent grasp of public questions, the courage of their convictions and the sand and ability to stand up to the right for their principles. When there are more of such men, public questions will be discussed and decided more upon their merits and less by the deals and bargains of the politicians.

Mr. Williams is one of these men, as his bitterest opponent will admit. To defeat him is to discourage the entrance of his like into public life, and their usefulness when in it. His election would mean that the people will stand by the man who stands by them, who follows his convictions not the dictates of party, and that they will upset the calculations of the politicians by returning him from a district supposedly so constructed as to leave him not a ghost of a show.

I have taken the liberty of sending you this because I believe that there are many others like myself, who intend to vote for the rest of the Republican ticket, but who out of admiration for Mr. Williams' courage and ability, will cast their ballots for him. At a time like this, every word and every vote counts.

NEWTON TARIFF REFORM CLUB. The Tariff is a Tax.

Every person interested in the subject of the Tariff, is cordially invited to take part in the discussions carried on in this column. Respected consideration will be given to inquiries, criticisms, and communications of every kind, whether coming from Tariff Reformers, Free Traders or High Protectionists. Address Secretary of Tariff Reform Club, Auburndale, Mass.

Congressman Williams.

Our Congressman, George Fred Williams, has made his record in his first session. It has been exceptionally brilliant and able. He has been thoroughly sound upon the great financial question of the day. He has been firm as a rock in his convictions. He has been brave, fearless, eloquent and successful in his heroic and self-sacrificing defense of the interests of the people. He has risked much and won the fight, not only for the people of his own district, but of the nation as well. He has a national reputation. By his rare and high service he has become a man of national importance. He has made his reputation and it is secure. He is indebted to his constituents for only the opportunity (made by their electing him) to show his ability and courage. They are indebted to him for their safety from unsound currency legislation.

His career has been such a phenomenon that Charles Francis Adams, who has known personally every prominent Massachusetts man for the last forty years in any department of the national government, says publicly: "Weighing the words I use, and speaking upon full reflection, I do not hesitate to say that during those forty years no Massachusetts man has in the first session of his first Congress made in Washington the mark, or accomplished as considerable results, as Mr. Williams."

Mr. Williams has done remarkable service and has nobly stood the severe test put upon him. He is not now on trial. It is his district which is at the bar of public opinion in the sight of the nation. As Mr. Williams has a national reputation, to his honor, it is for the district to show, in the eyes of the nation, that it appreciates and supports the man who has so conspicuously justified the choice of his constituents. Rarely does an opportunity come to any one district to show its quality in the sight of the nation. To most districts such opportunity never comes at all. But the opportunity is open this year for the eleventh district to honor itself before the world, by giving an overwhelming majority to him who has so highly served the people of all districts, and so signally honored his own, or to disgrace itself in the eyes of all who would see noble service nobly appreciated, by refusing to stand by the man who stood by it and by all who need honest money.

The district will next Tuesday pass its verdict upon itself. It can elect Mr. Williams and honor itself by showing that it properly values his ability, fearless courage, lofty character and rare service, or it can defeat him and prove itself, in the eyes of the world, sordid, unappreciative and unworthy of the distinguished representative it now has.

TWENTY QUESTIONS FOR 1892.

THE PROTECTIONIST WHO WILL SEND IN CORRECT ANSWERS TO ALL THESE QUESTIONS HAS THE PRIVILEGE OF GUESSING UPON THE SIZE OF HARRISON'S MAJORITY NEXT TUESDAY.

1. With a duty of two and two-tenths cents a pound, or seventy-six per cent. ad valorem, one per cent. of all the tin plates we use are made in this country. To enable the Galvanized Iron Trust to make $200,000 worth of American tin plates the American public has to pay an annual tax of $15,000,000. How much more nourishment will this particular infant require in order to become a truly American infant? [Cong. Rec. June 29, 1892, pp. 6179, 6205.]

2. Carroll D. Wright, United States Commissioner of Labor, declares that the actual cost of manufacturing a ton of steel rails in this country is not more than $2.50 greater than it is in England. The duty is $13.44 a ton. What becomes of that odd $10.94? [Sixth Annual Rep. U. S. Com. of Labor, pp. 175, 177. Cong. Rec. June 25, 1892, p. 6204.]

3. With a profit of $10 a ton upon an annual output of 3,145,000 tons, how much can the Steel Rail Trust afford to pay to the Republican campaign fund for the perpetuation of the McKinley tariff?

4. If the object and effect of a high tariff is to raise the rate of wages, why have there been more than two hundred and fifty strikes and reductions of wages in the protected industries since the adoption of the McKinley tariff? [Cong. Rec. p. 6184.]

5. If the increase of $1,052,573 in our exports to Brazil from 1891 to 1892 is due to our "reciprocity arrangement" with that country, what caused the increase of $2,255,067 from 1890 to 1891, before reciprocity had broken out?

6. If, as protectionists assert, it is a sign of national prosperity to sell more than we buy, how much statesmanship is there in a policy which cultivates trade with Brazil and Cuba where we bought last year $144,944,990 and sold $26,345,134 and obstructs trade with Canada and England where we bought last year $235,157,707 and sold $485,257,781? [U. S. Statistical Abstract No. 14.]

7. If, as Mr. Sherman asserts, a protective tariff tends to lower the price of the protected article, how can Mr. Carnegie, with his neat device for sealing wages down as prices go down, expect to satisfy his workmen that the protective tariff is made for them?

8. The woolen schedule of the McKinley tariff prepared by the National Association of Wool Manufacturers, of which Mr. William Whitman is President, has raised the duty on the goods made by the Arlington Mills, of which Mr. Whitman is Treasurer, from sixty per cent. to ninety per cent. Even before this increase Mr. Whitman reported the average earnings of his mill for a period of twenty years to have been twenty and eight-tenths per cent. per annum. And now Mr. Whitman declares that the tariff should be let alone and he roundly denounces those who are "always eager to engage in crusades of tariff reform at the expense of other people." Are there enough "other people" of Mr. Whitman's kind to outvote us at the next election? [Whitman's Rep. as Treas., March 20, 1890; also Whitman's Letter to the Press, Jan. 29, 1892.]

9. After an uninterrupted application of the Home Market theory for twenty years we find nine hundred and six abandoned farms in Massachusetts. How many farm mortgages does it take to buy a home market? [Descriptive Catalogue of Farms in Massachusetts Abandoned or Partially Abandoned, p. 9.]

10. If, as Mr. McKinley now asserts, "the foreigner pays the tax," why did he strike off the sugar tax which yielded to our government an annual revenue of $53,983,873.85? McKinley's Speech in Providence, April 2, 1892.]

11. Why did he give a bounty of two cents a pound, paid by American taxpayers, to the Louisiana sugar planter as a substitute for the foreign-paid tax on imported sugar?

12. Why did Mr. Whitman demand a tax of forty-four cents a pound on imported dress goods as "compensation" for the duty on imported wool?

13. Why did Wm. C. Cronmeyer, "Secretary of the American Tin Plate Association," demand a higher duty on tin plates; Thomas G. W. Bradley, "President of the New York Knife Co.," a higher duty on jack knives; James W. Inches, "President of the American Mineral Water Association," a higher duty on mineral waters; A. E. Richardson, "President of the American Milk Sugar Co.," a higher duty on sugar of milk; and so on to the end of the chapter?

14. If all these patriots animated by the desire to have the foreigner taxed more heavily for the support of our government? If so, how does it happen that the bill which they framed is entitled a "bill to reduce the revenue"? [Mis. Doc. No. 176, 51st Cong., 1st Session, pp. 74, 92, 286, 801, 921.]

15. If, as protectionists assert, "free trade has always worked disastrously, why is England more prosperous than any other European country, and why did Francis DeWitt, Secretary of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts say in 1850, ten years after the passage of the Walker "free trade" tariff: "The result exhibits a rapid and substantial growth in our industrial resources which is believed to be without a parallel in the history of the world?" [Industry of Mass., 1855, p. 14.]

16. Why did all the Massachusetts members of Congress in 1857 vote to make the low tariff of 1846 lower still? [Cong. Globe, 34th Cong., 3d Session, pp. 971, 982.]

17. If a low tariff means low wages, why does our Republican Consul in the free trade colony of New South Wales declare that "labor is better treated and better paid here than anywhere else on the earth"? [Rep. of Consuls of U. S. No. 140, May, 1892, p. 29.]

18. When Mr. McKinley said, reporting his bill: "In every case of increased duty importations will fall off," and when Senator Evarts said: "Trade between nations stands for war," and when Senator Hawley said: "Transportation is a calamity," did these men imagine that the Boston Journal would discover two years later that the McKinley tariff actually stimulated foreign trade? [McKinley Rep. No. 1460, 51st Cong., 1st Session. Speech Wm. M. Evarts, Sept. 3, 1890, Cong. Rec. p. 10,796. Journal, July 28, 1892.]

19. If free trade competition means equality in wages, how could we send abroad $872,270,283 worth of the products of our high-priced labor last year to be sold in free competition with the pauper labor of the whole world? [U. S. Statistical Abstract, No. 14, p. 18.]

20. If, as the Republican platform asserts, a duty should be levied upon imports, "equal to the difference between wages abroad and at home," why is the duty on steel rails $13.44 a ton when the difference in labor cost is only $3.78 a ton? And why is the duty on pig iron $9.72 a ton when the difference in labor cost is only $2.24. And why do we impose duties on copper, sewing machines, agricultural implements, clocks, watches, breadstuffs, provisions, and numerous other things which are produced more cheaply here than anywhere else on earth? [6th An. Rep. of the U. S. Com. of Labor, pp. 86, 176, 177.]

PROTECTION COLUMN.

SEEMS TO SETTLE IT.

ANOTHER OPPORTUNITY FOR MR. WILLIAMS TO CORRECT A MISSTATEMENT. To the Editor of the Boston Journal:

Congressman George Fred Williams replied on October 28 to my card which pronounced as unqualifiedly false his statement on the stamp that "during a strike to maintain union wages at Gen. Draper's Elastic Fabric Factory in Hopedale, he sent an agent to England and through him imported English weavers to man his factory."

In his reply he says that Mr. Lapworth, the Superintendent of that factory, was in England pending the strike, trying to induce English weavers to come to America to work in the Hopedale mill.

He offers as corroborative evidence a letter from one G. H. Fletcher, which does not corroborate his statement, as will be seen if it is carefully read.

I now produce affidavits from Mr. Lapworth himself and Mr. Osgood, who was Treasurer of the Elastic Fabric Company at the time of the so-called strike (which included only about a dozen men out of the hundreds employed here), which affidavits show conclusively that Mr. Lapworth was not in England for more than a year before and not for more than two years after this difficulty.

Mr. Lapworth further says that the first time he saw Mr. Fletcher, or knew of the man, was when he applied for work at the factory in Hopedale in the summer of 1890. Now I demand again that Mr. Williams retract the statement which he has made in regard to this matter without sufficient investigation. I will also give him opportunity to retract if he desires, his statement made in his Milford speech that no wage earner owns the land that he lives on or the house that he lives in in Hopedale. That is certainly a false statement, whether intentionally so or not.

Mr. Williams, in Milford last Thursday night, said, substantially, that the whole ownership of the land in Hopedale is in the hands of one man or one corporation, meaning me, and says in words as reported in the Boston Herald, "Will you extend the quality of Hopedale to every other town in Massachusetts? Would you bring about the result that no wage earner owns the land he lives on or the house he lives in?"

Now, then, one of the Hopedale Assessors gives the facts below:

I, with my two brothers and sons and the firms and corporations in Hopedale in which I am interested, own 537 acres of land in Hopedale.

Present wage earners in our shops own 177 acres of land in Hopedale, and retired wage earners, or heirs of deceased wage earners, own 71 acres of land, making 248 acres.

Other parties in town own 2328 acres. As to houses, including the houses we live in and all the tenements owned by my brothers, my sons and myself and the corporations in which we are interested, the number so owned in Hopedale is 89.

The number owned by our wage earners is 35, and the number owned by retired wage earners or heirs of wage earners is 16, making 51 in all.

The number owned by other parties is 93, making 233 in all.

The so-called strike in the elastic web factory which Mr. Williams has used to bolster up his pretence that I am paying "starvation wages" to workmen, only covered at most one-tenth of the employees of the elastic web factory, and less than one fifth of the workers employed in the Hopedale mills.

It was occasioned by the introduction of improved machines advancing largely the product per working hour. With this mechanical advantage there was a reduction in pay for piece work, but our pay rolls show that the actual average per man is to-day $15.04 per week. If these are "starvation wages" it would be of interest to know what Mr. Williams would term the wages in like factories abroad, averaging less than one-half as much. Yet it is to unrestricted competition with these wage earners that he is now inviting the men in our mills and the workmen of the Eleven District.

I certify that since my connection with the Hopedale Elastic Fabric Company I have visited England only twice. First, I went in February, 1887, to purchase machinery while the factory was being built, and returned in April, 1887.

The second time I went in January, 1892, and returned in March, 1892, and on neither of these visits did I solicit any help to come to Hopedale. I never saw or communicated with Mr. Fletcher, whose letter Mr. Williams printed, in England, and the first time I ever met him was when he applied for work at our factory in Hopedale in the summer of 1890. The so-called difficulty in our factory was not in the end of 1888, on a small number of looms.

WILLIAM LAPWORTH,
Superintendent Hopedale Elastic Goods Company.

Subscribed and sworn to before me, this thirty-first day of October, 1892.

GUSTAVUS B. WILLIAMS,
Justice of the Peace.

I hereby certify that neither Mr. William Lapworth nor any other agent of the Hopedale Elastic Fabric Company was ever sent to England to solicit help for the company. The date of the petty trouble in our factory was the last of December, 1888. Mr. Lapworth went to England in February, 1887, and returned in April, 1887, and did not again visit England up to the date of my retiring from the Treasurership in January, 1891.

Ex-Treasurer Hopedale Elastic Fabric Co. Subscribed and sworn to this thirty-first day of October, 1892.

GUSTAVUS B. WILLIAMS,
Justice of the Peace.

TO THE VOTERS

OF THE ELEVENTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT.

We heartily commend to your support the Republican candidate for Congress in your district, General William F. Draper of Hopedale. The unanimous call of the Republican District Convention was a fitting and notable recognition of his unquestioned standing in the front rank of the representatives of the progress and principles of the Republican party.

In him the party has chosen a volunteer of unswerving faithfulness and disinterested gallantry in the war for the Union. When the party opposed to him today was declaring that the war was a failure, General Draper, shot down in the battle of the Wilderness, was taking his place again with Grant in the field. If there has been any public service in our time that will not be forgotten, it is the soldier's share in the freeing of the slave and the saving of the Union.

When the war was over, General Draper again went to the front as a builder up of the nation which he helped to save. He has been signally identified with the advancement and extension of the varied industries that have made the Bay State great. He has maintained to him a declaration of industrial independence by his capable advocacy of the policy that has made the nation self-reliant and self-supporting. This championship was appropriately recognized by the Home Market Club in its choice of its President. There is no man in the State who is better informed in regard to the industrial and economic conditions at home or abroad, or better able to legislate expertly and wisely for the needs and development of the State and nation.

To the thoughtless and reckless assertion that the interests of the manufacturer are opposed to the interests of the workman, the raising up of Hopedale, the model New England mill town, by the capital, the brains and the hands of George Draper and his sons, is an unanswerable refutation. It stands today as a final rejoinder to the wall of the calamity orator and the sneer of the demagogue.

In the development of the cotton manufacturing industry, for which our State is pre-eminent, General Draper has taken a distinguished part, and he is identified with the progress of a wide range of enterprises for the productive employment of capital and labor, as a contributor, a worker and a director.

There can be no question that the interests of the districts, the State and the country at large will be safely confided to the trained comprehension, discretion and patriotism of such a Congressman, and in the present contest he is justly singled out as the representative of what the Republican party has done and is pledged to do.

For the faithful soldier, the gallant General, the comrade of the Grand Army the member of the Sons of the Revolution the honorably citizen, the earnest economist, the thorough business man, the sympathetic employer and the true Republican we ask your vote.

The theory of free trade avowedly means the shifting of the employment of men engaged in any work that others in any other part of the world can do cheaper. If men are forced out of one line of production they must look for another in which they can compete with the labor of the world. Now competition in another line requires another training. Who will pay the expense of this training and support the learner or his family while he is seeking it? Will the workmen in the so-called "unprotected" trades welcome a crowd of competitors from the "unprotected" industries who have been thrown out of work and must have bread?

Will Congressman Williams guarantee work, wages or support to any man in the district who votes for him and unrestricted competition with the worst paid labor in the world? If the flood of products from "the cheapest market" supplants home-made goods, will he help a single American workman to hunt for a job? Will he agree to run a single American's mill and pay the wages now paid to American operatives, and what is any agreement of the sort that he can give good for?

It is worth noting that the laurels of Mr. Williams in congress were won at the expense of his own party majority. It is an odd claim to support that he now makes as a Democrat to Democrats, that he has voted with the Republicans.

THE COMING ELECTION.

The election next Tuesday has at last aroused a good deal of interest, and as usual in the last days of the contest both sides are claiming everything in sight, and professing a confidence they would be very happy to feel. Whatever the result, it will not much surprise the majority, as there has been no general election in years in which there were so many doubtful states.

There is a good deal of conscientious thinking done among the voters, and the politicians on both sides are disgusted with the increasing number of men who are not owned by either party, as can be seen by the utterances of the Boston Journal on one side and Senator Hill on the other.

In this state no matter which party
wins we shall have an excellent governor, but it will be a matter for surprise if the Republican Presidential ticket does not pull through the entire state ticket, as it always has done in the past, by a substantial majority. The Australian ballot and the great popularity of Gov.
Russell make the result for Governor in doubt, although no one seems to feel any doubt of the success of the rest of the Republican state ticket.

As for Congressmen, the great storm centre seems to be in the Eleventh District, where the contest has been an unusually lively one and the two contestants have tried to reach every voter in their nightly speeches. The District was intended when laid out, to be as safely Republican as it could easily be made, but Congressman Williams is a born fighter, and his independent course in the last Congress, where he fought so valiantly for a sound currency, and his pointed and eloquent speeches on the stump have pleased the voters so that it is conceded that the contest will be a very close one.
The reputation Congressman Williams brings in Congress, and the fact that Gen.
Draper is one of the leading supporters of the McKinley policy in this state, have given something of national importance to the Eleventh district, while the other congressional contests in the state are more of a local affair.

Newton is not particularly interested
this year in the other district contests, save in that for Councilor, and it ought to endorse Mr. J. R. Leeson by a unanimous vote, as he is one of the most public spirited and respected citizens we have, and for the office of Councilor the character of the man is of much more importance than his views on national politics.

For Representative there is little doubt but that Messrs. Chester and Es-tbrook will be elected by good majorities, although the fact that only one Democratic candidate was nominated assures Mr. Samuel Shaw of a respectable vote.

WARD ONE'S ALDERMAN.

It appears that there is to be a contest
over the alderman from Ward One.
Many of the residents on the north side of the track think that that section should be represented in the board of aldermen, and that its interests would be better taken care of were it represented by some man who has a direct personal interest in the section. They say that for a good many years both of the aldermen from Wards One and Seven have come from the south side of the track, and that the interests of that section are so identical that the Ward Seven alderman would care for it as well as any one from Ward One. These gentlemen are talking of presenting the name of Mr. D. R. Emerson, who owns a great deal of property on the north side, and is acknowledged to be one of the most successful business men of Boston. Mr.
Emerson has long been identified with Newton, and it is encouraging to see men of his position and wealth willing to recognize the duty that every citizen owes to Newton, and to do his part in looking after the interests of the city.
There is also said to be a movement in Nonantum in favor of Councilman For-kham, and the claim is made that the Republican caucus has been "fixed" for his nomination, but many tax-payers feel that their interests would be safer in the hands of an alderman who had a direct personal interest in the prosperity of Newton, in shaping the city business economically administered, and the tax-rate kept within moderate limits. Alderman Coffin also has many friends who would like to see him returned, and there is a prospect of his being a three cornered contest.

The aldermen held an executive session, Monday night, over the appointment of a commission to examine into the abolition of grade crossings, and report in regard to the cost and feasibility of all the plans that have been presented.

No definite action was taken but it is certain that the proper order will be passed, authorizing Mayor Hibbard to appoint such a commission. It will be composed of three engineers, of whom Engineer Noyes will be one, and they will be instructed to make a thorough and impartial examination, of the cost of each plan, the advantages and disadvantages, and all other questions relating to the matter. The engineers to be selected will be men of such high standing that their report will be accepted without question, and this certainly appears to be the best way out of the controversy. It is probable that the investigation will take at least six months, so that the decision of the question will be postponed to another year.

ANOTHER name has been presented for the mayoralty, this week, that of Alderman Wilson of West Newton. It is urged in his favor that he is a very shrewd and successful business man, and would be likely to give the city an economical and business-like administration. His friends also say, that as he has been a member of the sewer, highway and finance committee, he is thoroughly familiar with city affairs, and West Newton people think that it is about time the mayor came from their ward, instead of being confined to two or three wards. This makes three men who have been promi-nently mentioned for the place, ex-Alderman Fenno, Alderman Wilson and Harbach. If Mr. Wilson should make any effort it is said that he could easily secure the Republican nomination, as he is an influential member of the Republican Ward and City Committee and would probably have the cordial support of all the other members.

Two other names have been mentioned since the foregoing was written, those of Mr. C. S. Keene and ex-Alderman N. H.
Chadwick, both of Ward Two.

It is said that if Mr. Chadwick would accept he would have the nomination of both parties.

Science and Conscience.

Is M. Pasteur really about to try experiments in cholera on human beings?
It looks very like it. He has told the correspondent that he has tried "choleraic vaccine" on animals, and has found that it completely protects them against true choleraic virus when introduced into the intestines. The virus caused "a real center of intestinal disorder," but did not cause death. The experiments, however, are unsatisfactory, inasmuch as the effect on men and animals may not be the same, and although the vaccine
has been tried on men, who have consequently escaped the disease, even M.
Pasteur shrinks from introducing into them the true choleraic virus. Still science cannot be content without that introduction, and after failing to induce a Russian prince to try the experiment M. Pasteur has asked Prince Damrong of Siam, a great admirer, to "vaccinate a portion of the inhabitants
in some of the villages, and so submit the whole question to a fair scientific inquiry," so as "to ascertain whether choleraic vaccine introduced under the skin is a protection against intestinal cholera."

Clearly, the Siamese villagers are to be tested in some more perfect way than Frenchmen would bear, and the additional way is obviously the introduction of the intestinal virus. At least, if it is not, M. Pasteur has done himself a great injustice, or suffered one from M. de Blowitz. We rather fancy that Prince Damrong will shrink from the experiment on villagers, as he might rouse a rebellion; but he may try it, in criminals, and in this case, if the experiment fails, M. Pasteur may have a good many deaths upon his conscience. Intellectual curiosity seems, however, to suppress that organ.—London Spectator.

French Masons in Politics.

The Freemasons have resolved to take a more energetic part in politics. At the last assembly in the hall of the grand orient of France the conduct of certain members was discussed who had shown a disposition to act with the Clericals.
Masonic deputies were censured for voting endowments to church institutions.
There were several protests, some contending that it was too soon to insist upon the separation of church and state,
as that would make the Radical party unpopular. These protests were hooted down, and several Masons thereupon retired from the order. Carried on by this same spirit the Masons passed a resolution to vote for all reforms "necessary"
for the final evolution of the republic,
for the separation of church and state,
for the suppression of the public worship system and of the embassy to the Vatican, and that each Mason should have a civil funeral.

There was a general instance upon the complete secularization of every public institution, the removal of religious emblems from every court house and street corner, and the suppression of chaplains in barracks, ships, prisons and hospitals.—Paris Letter.

Why Novelists Do Not Write Plays.

Ouida has contributed an article to the series being printed in the Pall Mall Gazette on the subject of why novelists do not write plays. She says that the French style allows a wider latitude in situations. A French audience appreciates an intellectual character and esprit of the play which an English audience finds unintelligible and tiresome.

Ouida adds that if Racine and Moliere were alive they would write plays for Mounet Sully and the Coquelins. Were Shakespeare and Shelton alive they would certainly write poems and novels. An audience capable of accepting Mary Anderson as a tragic actress is incapable of knowing good from bad. English audiences are uncultured. With few exceptions English actors and actresses act ill. They never merge themselves into the character they represent. These, according to Ouida, are the reasons that have kept writers of eminence off the English stage since the days of Lytton.

A Precious Pussy.

A certain young woman of this town who dotes on cats was made the happy possessor not long ago of a cat which was rescued from a sinking vessel in mid-ocean. Sailors have a superstition that a cat rescued at sea becomes a mascot. This particular cat was the last living creature to leave the foundered bark Alumbagh, from which the life-boat of the steamship La Champagne took off sixteen men on the morning of Aug. 28. There was great competition among the passengers on La Champagne to obtain the cat, but a gentleman with a persuasive tongue and a long purse, who knew of the aforementioned young woman's hobby, secured the animal and presented it to her.—New York Times.

Chestnuts Are Plentiful.

Chestnuts ought to be cheap this year,
for they are abundant, and never were finer or larger. At present they cost seven dollars a bushel in New York.
The chestnut tree thrives best by the roadside or at the edge of clearings—not so well in thick woods—and its fruit is therefore easy to find. In Sussex county, N. J., the trees are hardly seen, except on a narrow slate ridge, half a mile wide, that runs for some miles nearly east and west.—New York Letter.

How It Happened.

We violate no confidence when we say that as a work of art the discovery

upon the hypothesis that a Chicago man must have got up the New York invitation and a New York man must have got up the Chicago invitation.—Chicago

GENERAL DRAPER

And His Relations Toward Labor

General Draper is a candidate for Congress.
He is a business candidate. He is interested in over twenty corporations heavily protected by the McKinley law. He is claiming that the benefits of protection go to the wage-earner.
He is described by a political organization as having "proved himself careful of the interests of those associated with him in his large industrial enterprises."
General Draper uses the following words in his pamphlet entitled "Manufacturers and the Tariff":
"If the mechanics and operatives of this country are generally to take the charge of lower duties, or no duties at all, on manufactured goods, they should realize that the time will come before many years when manufacturers will tire of holding the umbrella over them in spite of themselves."
In view of the above professions it is right
to inquire:

Just How Careful General Draper Is
of the interests of labor. The following letters explain themselves. The first letter was written to the general secretary of the Weavers' Union, Brighton Mills, Camden, N. J. It was written during a strike against a reduction in the wages of goring weavers from $3 to $2.50 per week. Even the $2 rate is 85 cents less than the rate paid by all other goring manufacturers. General W. F. Draper is president of the Hopedale Company.

Box 118, Hopedale, Mass., Feb. 18, 1891.
Sirs: I am the opportunity of writing you to inquire if you intend doing anything in the matter of the Hopedale strikers. I came to this town from England, and I am perfectly ignorant of any previous trouble in this shop.
Mr. Lapworth held out such favorable inducements to bring my wife here and set up down that I accepted them. I stand here today boycotted from getting work in any garment shop because I have worked here. I worked at the Chelsea shop some years ago before I left for England on a visit, and at that time I belonged to the union. I am a unionist in principle, but I am perfectly incapable to help myself. Won't you help us?
There are at present five Englishmen here awaiting further communication from you,
and I trust you will see fit to answer this,
as I can assure you that it is absolutely true that we get work at other shops, and I know how we are situated.
I enclose you a letter from Bridgeport showing the feeling of the employers toward the Hopedale men. There are several men gone to work at the reduced price, viz: 23 cents a yard for 34-in. terris, five leashops. Hoping for your reply, which will be propose helping us or not, I remain, yours, etc.
G. H. FLETCHER.

P. S.—I may add that we are under the tyrannical regime of the company, who virtually own the whole of Hopedale. We are no more than their slaves. The next move on their part will be to eject us.
General Draper has been claiming high wages for his operatives. He shows averages but does not disclose his rates. Here is a statement of his:

Denied by Official Authority.

This letter appeared in the Boston papers of the 10th inst. It was written to the Editor of the Boston Herald. It was written by General Draper. It was written in your columns a statement made by General W. F. Draper that the average wage of his goring weavers was $3.00 per week. I desire to challenge the statement and ask General Draper to furnish proofs and substantiate from the goring weavers now in his employ as to the truth of the same, which I deny.

The goring weavers in the employ of the Hopedale Elastic Fabric Company are today receiving 30 cent. less per yard for the weaving of elastic goring than is paid by all other American manufacturers, and I challenge General Draper or his superintendent to refute the statement.

The Hopedale company, before casting reflections upon the statements of others, should be sure that its own are correct, and the organization should be willing to explain why the Draper of which he is president is not willing to let his equal rate of wages stand up with his competitors in the same line of business—not in England, but America.

General President E. W. A. A.

Boston, Nov. 1, 1892.
In view of the above facts the citizens of the Eleventh district may well question the propriety of sending a man to Congress whose public professions of interest in his laborers
do not appear to be borne out by statements from those in his employ.

—Mrs. Geo. Washburn has returned from a month's outing in Vermont.

—Miss Hattie Calley attended the Teachers' Convention in Boston, last Friday.

—Miss Nellie Fenno, who has been quite ill at her home on Cabot street, is convalescing.

—Mr. Walter Chaloner has rented his home on Boston street and will spend the winter in Boston.

—Mr. and Mrs. Marshall W. French have returned for the winter to their home on Newtonville avenue.

—Miss Susan Higgins of Brewster is making an extended visit at Mrs. Lydia Higgins, Walker street.

—Dr. Talbot's addition to his house is nearing completion, and Mr. C. N. Allen is putting in a new, large furnace.

—Miss Mary J. Wellington visited the girls' English high school, in Boston on last Friday, it being teachers' day.

—Mr. and Mrs. Davis and Miss Maude Davis of Walnut Terrace leave here Nov. 15. They will pass the winter in Boston.

—Mr. H. D. Kingsbury bought a speeder this week in Portland and Mr. Frank Amidon secured a fine horse from the same lot.

—Mr. A. Q. Cole has purchased from Councilman Lunt a fine hitch, comprising a bright bay horse and light Goddard buggy.

—Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Boyden return tomorrow from a very pleasant western and southern trip having been absent about a month.

—Mrs. Wayne Fay was in town a few days but has returned to her home in Springfield. Her son entered Harvard with honors this fall.

—At the Congregational church fair the Newton High school orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Harry C. Wiggan, rendered some excellent music.

—Miss Parks, for some time head assistant at Talbot's, news stand, has accepted a position with Messrs. Lunt & Colburn and will take charge of their depot office.

—A hot box on the engine at the power station of the Waltham Gas Light Co. caused a stoppage of the cars on the Newton & Boston Street Railways for an hour and a half on Tuesday afternoon.

—The opening reception for the season of the Lowell Street Neighborhood Club will be given at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. William Dearborn next Saturday evening, Nov. 12. Several new members will be cordially welcomed on that occasion.

—The invitation cards are out for the formal opening of the new clubhouse, Wednesday evening, Nov. 17. It will be the biggest social event that Newton has seen in many years. Gov. Russell and staff with their ladies will be present, and many other distinguished guests have been invited.

—Mr. Henry Breck, who was so seriously injured by a fall from a wagon two weeks ago, is in a very critical condition and does not seem to rally from his injuries as it was hoped he would. He is seventy years old and with the excessive loss of blood and his age, his friends feel that the chances are against him.

—The team bowling schedule of the Newton club will probably be made up next week. It will include about 20 teams. The alleys, it is expected, will be in readiness Saturday evening. Mr. W. F. Hawley has again been placed at the head of the bowling committee. The league players will comprise those who played last year and some new men, probably F. F. Raymond, C. W. Loring, C. F. Shirley and Herbert Pearson.

—The Republican club of Ward Two held a rally in Tremont hall, last evening at 7.45. Following are the speakers: Capt. J. G. B. Adams of Lynn, J. R. Leeson Esq., S. L. Powers, Esq., A. L. Harwood Esq., Hon. H. B. Milton of Waltham, E. C. Benton Esq., of Belmont, L. S. Sater Esq., J. T. Allen Esq., D. Chester Esq., E. J. H. Estabrooks Esq., J. B. Goodrich Esq., R. H. Gardner Esq.,

—Among the houses illuminated upon the occasion of the Republican torchlight demonstration Monday evening were those of ex-Alderman Fenno, Dr. O. H. Hunt, Dr. Talbot, Mr. A. R. Mitchell, Mr. Joseph Swallow, Mr. J. W. Dickinson and M. C. Davy. In the square many of the stores were illuminated and the headquarters of the Republican club in Central block was brightly lighted up and decked with lanterns. Tremont hall building was in gala dress and displays were made from nearly all the business blocks.

—A very successful entertainment under the auspices of the "Lend A Hand" was given in the Universalist church parlors last evening, consisting of a oyster supper followed by music, tableaux and illustrated poems. Miss Grace Trotter and Miss Mary Wellington having the supper in charge, and Miss Linda Curtis the management of the entertainment. The parlors were decorated with pink and blue chrysanthemum and groups of potted plants. Piano solos were rendered by Miss Ida Snow and little Ethel Noyes. The illustrated poem, "The Courtin'" was recited by Miss Lucy Ross, as "Hudsy," Mr. F. Y. Willey as Zekie, Miss Linda Curtis as the mother and Mr. George Trotter the minister. The tableaux, "Flower of the Family," "Comforts of Bachelor Life," "Discomforts of Bachelor Life," and "Comforts of Married Life" were also finely given. The Phantom Glee club were also a pleasing feature of the entertainment. Among those who participated were: Ada Powers, Miss Mamie Metcalf, Miss Ida Snow, Miss Grace Trotter, Maude Davis, Mary Wellington, Mattie Fenno, Mabel Fisher, Allie Hall, Carrie Williams, Hattie Calley, Oscar Locke and Geo. Trotter.

—The appended schedule contains all the dates of league bowling contests in which the Newton Club team will participate.

—The Woman's Guild held its first regular meeting in the Methodist vestry Tuesday afternoon. After the statement by the president of the Guild's work for the Newton Hospital and its present needs, the annual report was read. The secretary also gave a tribute to the memory of Mrs. S. E. Thayer and Mrs. Wallace read a loving tribute to memory of young Mrs. Booth. The afternoon was then devoted to "Outings" of different members, led by Mrs. J. A. Fenno who gave a description of summer fittings to quaint Nantucket, Deer Park, quiet days of farm life at Framingham and mountain delights, closing with a description of a storm on Lake George. Mrs. G. W. Pope in her usual sprightly fashion gave a vivid and delightful picture of "Camp life in the woods of Maine." Mrs. Martin took the friends to the conference of Associated Charities to Lynn, which included beautiful drives and charming social entertainment and was anything but prosaic. Mrs. Chaloner gave a picture of "And-um." The Guild is in a very prosperous condition and has many names awaiting enrollment upon its already large list for membership.

—The Central Congregational church fair opened in the old Gen. Hull mansion Tuesday afternoon. It closed last night and despite unpleasant weather, the financial result has been very gratifying. The old house was gaily decorated for the fete, Miss Josephine Woodworth superintending the draping and arrangement of flags and bunting. The parlor was festooned in white and orange cheese cloth and contained the art, fancy, flower, candy, bag and basket tables. The gentlemen's department was located in the library. Up stairs, three rooms were reserved for entertainment features and in the other apartments were the domestic and cake tables, children's department and preserve parlors. The bowling alleys in the basement proved a great attraction and the spacious dining hall on the first floor met fully the wants of the refreshment department. The following were in charge of the several tables and departments. Refreshment room, Mrs. J. Merrill Brown; gentlemen's department, Messrs. C. E. Roberts, C. C. Briggs, W. H. Allen and Joseph E. Bird; art and fancy table, Mrs. William Hollings; bag and basket table, Miss Susie Dickinson; flower table, Mrs. Frank Lucas; candy table, Mrs. Wetherell; domestic table, Mrs. E. E. Stiles; cake table, Mrs. Charles Drury; children's department, Mrs. C. E. Roberts; lemonade stand, Mrs. G. W. Churchill; preserve parlor, Mrs. A. C. Judkins; old curiosity shop, Mrs. J. B. Taylor; entertainments, Miss Bessie Wakefield; scales, Howard Hollings. Miss Woodworth has received and deserves commendation for the decorative features. A vast amount of detail work was done by Mrs. A. W. Cole, chairman of the executive committee.

Peloubet led the devotional exercises, supplementary remarks that were encouraging. Ladies were called upon to relate from personal observations of the evil effects of alcoholic drink. Minutes of the last meeting were read by Miss C. Strong and resolutions passed, when the meeting adjourned.

Lasell Notes.

The series of lectures which Rev. Mr. Spaulding has been giving at Lasell recently, closed on Friday evening with one on "The Amusements of the Ancient Romans," in which the Roman circus and amphitheatre were particularly described. Lucid explanation, aided by the fine views of these buildings, their plans and interior arrangement, made what is usually a dry and difficult subject interesting and intelligible. Particular attention was given to the explanation of the cells and passageways below the arena, the contrivances for getting the animals up on the sands from below, and for flooding the arena for naval combats. Representations of several famous paintings illustrative of Roman customs at the games lent reality and vividness to the conception of these places and the bloody scenes they furnished of old. It is a matter of regret to Lasell students that the course is closed.

The Symphony concert, claimed on Saturday evening its usual contingent of Lasell girls.

A number of the pupils enjoyed the fun of a hayride on Saturday evening, some sixteen or more of them taking a ten mile ride of that particularly delightful style, taking in Newton and Watertown on the way.

Lasell enjoyed on Discovery Day a lecture by John Fiske on the special theme of the day, "Columbus and His Discovery." The chief cause of the discovery was found in the extension of the Turkish empire by the taking of Constantinople and the consequent blocking of the old trade routes between Europe and Asia, which led to the question of the practicability of discovering new and shorter ones. The fallacy of the common belief that in Columbus time few or none believed in the rotundity of the earth was exposed, and Vesputi honorably acquitted of the charge of having discovered the new world. The personal character of the great discoverer was but lightly touched upon, but was defended from some unworthy charges which have been made against him. An instructive and exceedingly able and interesting address.

Chrysanthemums.

All lovers of the chrysanthemum are cordially invited to see the collection at the green house of H. A. Gane, Waltham street, Nov. 5th to the 12th inclusive.

—Farley, pianos, 483 Wash. St., Newton.

—Engineer Gilman is enjoying a two weeks vacation in Maine.

—A democratic rally is arranged for next Monday evening in Freeman hall.

—Harry Ayles has taken the position of baggage master at the Auburndale station.

—The order of Aegis of which there are a number of members here is in the hands of a receiver.

—D. R. Bowker, day brakeman on the branch, has left that position and accepted one as fireman.

—Mr. Joseph Seaver has returned to his position at the station as agent, after an absence by sickness.

—Rev. G. A. Crawford will deliver the second lecture of the course at M. E. church next Thursday evening.

—A variety entertainment was given in Freeman hall, Wednesday, by a troupe from Boston. A fair attendance was present.

—The M. E. society held their annual harvest festival and bazaar in church vestry Wednesday evening. The affair was a pleasing success and largely attended.

—The republican club of Wellesey held a rally at Freeman hall, Thursday evening with Chas. H. Litchman as the principal speaker. A very large audience was present and genuine enthusiasm prevailed. The Boyle O'Reilly boys brass band of Natick livened the occasion with music.

NONANTUM.

—As one item indicative of the interest of our people in the republican parade Monday, over 6000 lanterns were sold and used that evening, beside red fire and candles by the hundreds.

—A very interesting and enjoyable harvest concert was given by the Nonantum Sunday school last Sunday evening. Recitations, singing by choir and school, duet by Misses Henderson and Worth, and remarks by the pastor made the occasion one to be remembered with pleasure by those in attendance.

—The Democrats had a rally and flag raising Thursday night in the Athenaeum hall on Dalby street. T. B. Fitz of West Newton presided over the meeting, and the speakers of the evening were Timothy Leary of Waltham, Joseph Hurley of Brockton, and W. P. Cherrington of Boston. Lots of enthusiasm and red lights.

—A fair will be held by Charity lodge in the lower Athenaeum hall, Dec. 13, 14 and 15. George Jackson, Letitia Jackson, Thos. Moore, Rachel Scott and Mrs. Reuben Forknall are on the committee, and even at this early date the affair promises to be one of unusual interest. The object of the society is to raise money to erect a Temperance hall on the land already secured by them on the corner of Crescent and California streets.

—At the meeting of Charity Lodge held last Wednesday, the following officers were installed by Deputy Grand of Loyalty lodge, West Newton, assisted by installing Marshall, Reuben Forknall and Deputy Chief Templar, Marshall Lizzie Moore; Chief Templar, Edward Stearns; vice-Templar, Edna Kerton; Chaplain, Grace Frost; Past Chief Templar, George Jackson; recorder, Secretary, Annie Dorman; assistant Secretary, Katie Hutton; financial Sec. Rachel Scott; Treasurer, James Galway; Marshall, Carrie Moore; Guard, Alice Midgell; Sentinel, Josiah Frost; Superintendent of the Juvenile society, Thomas Moore.

—Nonantum was wide awake Monday night at the republican torchlight parade. The citizens vied with each other, irrespective of party to make their houses attractive with illuminations. Every house on California street was illuminated and some of them very fine. At the Etta mills the fire hose were brought into play throwing the water in columns in a way to produce pleasing effects and won the admiration of every one who witnessed it. Mr. Davidson had a magnificent illumination of his house and grounds. J. B. Murphy, A. Turner, D. Stearns, C. O. Davis and Dr. Stearns made brilliant shows of lanterns and red fire at their residences. Not a case of disorder or disturbance was reported along the line of the parade.

—Young ladies who have occasion to travel alone on the lower part of California street, would do well to complain that they are insulted by the Italians who live in the shanty. There is no particular mode except that they approach and talk to the solitary travellers, and seem to take delight in frightening them. One night last week a gentleman who was passing in that locality was startled by loud cries from a lady, who told him when he came to the scene, that an Italian who was standing near, would not let her go by. The gentleman demanded an explanation and was told by the Italian that when he inquired what time it was, the lady began to scream. The officers on duty say they have received no complaints as yet.

Drawing & Painting

—AT—Lasell Seminary.

Mr. HENRY O. RYDER, who has recently returned from abroad after six years' study with the best French Masters, such as Boussard, and Lefebvre, has taken the charge of the studio at Lasell Seminary.

Mr. Ryder has neglected no branch of art, and has been especially successful in figure, genre and landscape. His paintings have received favorable notice at the most important exhibition of modern art, the Paris Salon, in the years '89, '90 and '91, as well as at Berlin and other European cities. Also in America, as at Chicago and Boston. Mr. Ryder is a member and exhibitor of the Boston Art Club.

Mr. Ryder has also had exceptional opportunities in his personal acquaintance with leading French artists, and of learning their methods.

With these qualifications are combined some experience in teaching and much aptitude for that work. Lasell feels assured that her pupils in the art department are furnished with special advantages for thorough training. The object is to give students familiarity with fundamental principles, to train the hand and eye; in short to give some mastery of drawing before confusing them with the difficulties of color.

The studio is large, admirably arranged and lighted and furnished with every requisite in implements and models for the learner. The walls are hung with paintings that educate and refine the taste.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE—"The Fire Patrol" comes to the Grand Opera House next week to again renew the extensive acquaintance it formed in Boston when presented there last season. This drama pictures scenes of the present; is dramatic throughout, and abounds in surprises for its audiences. Dramas to-day must necessarily contain a strong element of realism to make them popular and profitable. In "The Fire Patrol" realistic scenes of every day life are pictured with a vividness and accuracy which seem to carry the auditor to the very spot and place which scenery and acting place before him. The company has been chosen with great care, and as everything is new and the scenery fresh, from the artist's brush, a production excellent in every detail is promised. Of those who will assist Mr. Webber may be mentioned the names of W. W. Bittner, Wilson Enos, George Scott.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS.

TREMONT THEATRE—Next week Monday, Nov. 7, the day before the national election, Russell's new comedians will take possession of the Tremont Theatre. No matter what happens Election day and no matter what results from that occasion's struggle, there will be nothing but entertainment, contentment, enjoyment for all who visit this theatre. Russell's entertainments have won the banner of success and hold to-day the first place of prosperity. For this engagement he presents a new play, an Eccentric Farce in three acts, entitled "A Society Fad," written by John G. Wilson, with new music by the well known composer, Gustave Kerker. "A Society Fad" has a plot of interest and the story holds admirably through the first acts without interfering with any of the fun. The company seem the best he has ever had under his control. The list includes Messrs. Tyrone Power, Dan Daly, Luke Schoolcraft, Miss Lydia Yeaman-Titus, Mrs. Margaret Fitzpatrick, Misses Ethel Ormiston, and the incomparable beautiful danseuse, Miss Amelia Glover. The success of any play placed in such hands as these would appear to be assured. There will be an especially bright occasion on Election Night, when the returns, received by the special wire, will be read from the stage. Seats are on sale for the first week of the engagement.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE—"The Fire Patrol" comes to the Grand Opera House next week to again renew the extensive acquaintance it formed in Boston when presented there last season. This drama pictures scenes of the present; is dramatic throughout, and abounds in surprises for its audiences. Dramas to-day must necessarily contain a strong element of realism to make them popular and profitable. In "The Fire Patrol" realistic scenes of every day life are pictured with a vividness and accuracy which seem to carry the auditor to the very spot and place which scenery and acting place before him. The company has been chosen with great care, and as everything is new and the scenery fresh, from the artist's brush, a production excellent in every detail is promised. Of those who will assist Mr. Webber may be mentioned the names of W. W. Bittner, Wilson Enos, George Scott.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE—Marie Tempest and her opera company have scored a great success in DeKoven and Smith's opera, "The Fencing Master," who also composed "Robin Hood." Manager J. M. Hill is entitled to great credit for the production, and that the large expenditure of money was wise is demonstrated by the success of the piece, star and company. The opera will be seen for a week longer, after which it will go to the New York Casino, which play house is again to become the home of comic opera under the direction of Mr. Hill. The work of the artists in "The Fencing Master" is most exciting, and for that reason only one matinee a week will be given and that on Saturday. On Monday, Nov. 14, Charlie Reed and Willie Collier come for a week's engagement.

ment in their immensely successful farce comedy, "Hoss and Hoss." Reed and Collier are conceded to be two of the most original and at the same time most unctuously funny comedians upon the stage.

GLACIE THEATRE—Next Monday the comic opera success, "Tar and Tartar," opens at the Glacie Theatre, with an excellent cast, including several former members of the famous Emma Abbott Opera Company, beside other talented opera singers and a chorus of fifty people.

BOWDOIN SQUARE THEATRE—Those famous merry-makers, Evans & Hoey, in their perennial success, "A Parlor Match," which has been completely transformed and new features introduced will be the attraction at the Bowdoin Square Theatre next Monday. The company this season contains twenty-three members, which is no doubt the largest farce comedy organization travelling. Chief among the principals is Miss Annie French (Innocent Kidd). Miss Lillie Alliston, Miss Madge York, Miss Lillian Marchant, the brilliant contralto, James T. Galloway will continue to play the part of Capt. Kidd as of old while M. J. Sullivan has been re-engaged for the role of Gov. Bellmont. Mr. Sullivan's imitation of the down East Yankee is said to be as funny as anything can be. Sir Thomas H. Farrar, for many years Secretary of the English Board of Trade, who explains the several English views of the McKinley tariff and its effect upon British exports; and Lord Masham, President of the Fair Trade Club and the largest textile manufacturer in Great Britain, gives the reasons why the present policy of England should be changed to a protective policy, arguing that England has not profited by free trade. A unique contribution to the political campaign is a group of eight short papers entitled "For Whom I Shall Vote and Why," by eight prominent men who are not actively identified with politics. Of a semi-political nature also is a group of two papers on "Our Failure in Municipal Government"—one by Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, the English political leader who compares the cost of the municipal government of Birmingham, England, with the cost of the municipal government of Boston. These two cities are about the same size, but Boston's government costs about five times as much as Birmingham's. The other article is by Mr. Charles Francis Adams, who writes of the lessons from the municipal experience of the historic town of Quincy, Massachusetts.

The series of educational articles about our public school system by Dr. J. M. Rice, is this month devoted to the schools of Buffalo and Cincinnati. Other articles in this number which give it unusual variety are "A New Impulse to an Old Gospel," by Jane Adams, one of the founders of Hull House, Chicago; "What We Really Know About Mars," by Prof. Edward S. Holden, Director of the Lick Observatory; "The Library of the United States," by Ainsworth R. Spofford, Librarian of Congress, and "The Matter with the Small Farmer," by Prof. H. Means Davis, of the College of South Carolina. The Forum Publishing Company, New York.

LITERARY NOTES.

Abraham Lincoln, the Story of a Great Life, is the simple title of probably the most intimate life of Lincoln ever written. This book, by Lincoln's law-partner, William H. Herndon, and his friend Jesse W. Weik, shows us Lincoln the man. It is a true picture of his surroundings and influences and acts. It is not an attempt to construct a political history, with Lincoln often in the background, nor is it an effort to apotheosize the American who stands first in our history next to Washington. The writers knew Lincoln intimately. Their book is the result of unreserved association. There is no attempt to portray the man as other than he really was, and on this account their frank testimony must be accepted, and their biography must take permanent rank as the best and most illuminating study of Lincoln's character and personality. Their story, simply told, relieved by characteristic anecdotes and vivid with local color, will be found a fascinating work. It has been thoroughly revised, and this new edition will be published by D. Appleton & Co. in two volumes, with an introduction by Horace White, and with new illustrations.

Messrs. D. Appleton & Co. will publish immediately a striking volume by W. H. Davenport-Adams, entitled Warriors of the Crescent. This story of Oriental magnificence, of glittering campaigns, of fatalistic heroism, and of the pillage of the marvelous riches of India, by the Sultans of Ghazni and their followers, comes to the reader like new tales of the Arabian Nights. Here we may read the exploits of Mahmud, Timur the Tartar, and the Great Moguls. It is a splendid but little known chapter of history, and Mr. Adams's graphic, vivid style clothes history with the garb of romance. Many who read the dazzling records of Shah Jahan, The True Star of the Faith, or Aurangzeb, the Conqueror of the Universe, will find a new world opened to them in these pictures of magnificent Oriental despotism. This volume will be uniform with Pictures from Roman Life and Story (Illustrated), by Prof. A. J. Church, who has added a book of remarkable interest and permanent merit to his sketches of Roman civilization.

BOOKS AND MAGAZINES.

THE ATLANTIC.

Mr. George Edward Woodberry has an admirable paper on "The Generalization of the November Atlantic and Dr. Holmes has contributed a poem in his memory. Elizabeth Stuart Phelps has also a touching poem on Whittier, which was written as he lay dying. An installment of Mrs. Deland's "Story of a Child" is given. Mr. W. Henry Winslow contributes a paper on Mr. Jolley Allen, a Revolutionary worthy, and Dr. Hale's paper, in his series on "A New England Boyhood," is devoted to social relations, and gives an interesting account of his religious training at the Brattle Street Church. He also sketches the lecture system, tea-parties, and the fire department of Boston days. A short story in two parts by Margaret Collier Graham, called "The Withrow Water Right," chapters of Mr. Crawford's "Don Orsino" an able unsigned political essay on "The Two Programs of 1892," a paper by Samuel W. Dike, on "Sociology in the Higher Education of women," a paper on "Folk Songs," by Theodore Bacon, with translations; and a poem by Lizette Woodworth Reese, are among the other attractions of the number. Houghton, Mifflin & Co., Boston.

THE BERKELEYS.

"The Berkeleys and their Neighbors" form a very interesting community in a rural neighborhood in Virginia. They are trying to accommodate themselves to their new position after the war, and this gives occasion for some very pathetic as well as amusing character sketches.

Miss Molly Elliott Seawall appears to have caught the very spirit of the place and as the author tells up at the beginning "They were gentlepeople tinged with rusticity," that is, all but the Colonel and his spirited daughter, and the artificial Madame Koller, with her cosmopolitan lover. They still make a boast of their ancient lineage, and their pride in old Virginia. It is a very pleasant story and the hero develops into one of the leaders of Congress, and the story ends happily. Appletons' Town and Country Library.

IN OLD ST. STEPHEN'S

is another Southern novel, by a new writer, Miss Jeanie Drake, and she shows a great deal of promise by the skillful use of her materials. The scene is laid in South Carolina, in the early days of that state, when the sons of the rich planters were sent to Oxford and Cambridge to complete their education, and life flowed on peacefully but with a great deal of state and ceremony. The characters are very real and some of them become very real personages, before the reader gets far into the book. The pathos of the book is very well managed, and it is one of the best of Appletons' Town and Country Library.

THE FORUM FOR NOVEMBER.

In the Forum for November will be found two articles by prominent English writers: Sir Thomas H. Farrar, for many years Secretary of the English Board of Trade, who explains the several English views of the McKinley tariff and its effect upon British exports; and Lord Masham, President of the Fair Trade Club and the largest textile manufacturer in Great Britain, gives the reasons why the present policy of England should be changed to a protective policy, arguing that England has not profited by free trade. A unique contribution to the political campaign is a group of eight short papers entitled "For Whom I Shall Vote and Why," by eight prominent men who are not actively identified with politics. Of a semi-political nature also is a group of two papers on "Our Failure in Municipal Government"—one by Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, the English political leader who compares the cost of the municipal government of Birmingham, England, with the cost of the municipal government of Boston. These two cities are about the same size, but Boston's government costs about five times as much as Birmingham's. The other article is by Mr. Charles Francis Adams, who writes of the lessons from the municipal experience of the historic town of Quincy, Massachusetts.

The series of educational articles about our public school system by Dr. J. M. Rice, is this month devoted to the schools of Buffalo and Cincinnati. WHITTIER.

Elizabeth Stuart Phelps thus correlates her poem on the death of Whittier in the November number of the Atlantic:
Thou spirit! who in spirit and in truth
Didst worship utterly the unseen God,
Thine age the blossom of a stainer's youth;
Thy soul the star that swings above the sod,
No prayer to heaven ever lighter rose
Than thine, O soul, that soared above the sod,
Thou hast like a chord unto its close,
Thou hast like the Amen to a vow.
Sacred the passion-flower of thy fame,
To thee obedient, "Write," the Angel saith,
Thine age the blossom of a stainer's youth;
Thy soul the star that swings above the sod,
No prayer to heaven ever lighter rose
Than thine, O soul, that soared above the sod,
Thou hast like a chord unto its close,
Thou hast like the Amen to a vow.

At a cricket match one of the best bats in a certain club turned up so highly elevated that, as he said, he could "see three batsh and three ballsh." "Never mind, go in and bang the middle ball," said the captain. He went in and was clean bowled first ball. "Hang it all, you didn't hit the middle ball," remonstrated the captain. "Yesh, a-did," replied the man with the duck's egg, but I hit it with the outside bat."—Titbits.

It is Useful for young ladies who are troubled with freckles, pimples, moth and tan and a bad skin generally to use liquid paints or dry powders, for they only make the skin look well for the time being. To have a good complexion you must have pure blood. Use Sulphur Bitters and your skin will be fair and complexion rosy.—Young Ladies' Magazine.

It is reasonable to suppose that as Ayer's Sarsaparilla has benefited others it will benefit you. No other medicine is so effective in producing a radical change in the blood and imparting renewed life and energy to the whole system, both nervous and physical.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

"Castoria is well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me." H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"The use of 'Castoria' is so universal and its merits so well known that it seems a work of supererogation to endorse it. Few are the intelligent families who do not keep Castoria within easy reach." CARLOS MARTIN, D. D., New York City. Late Pastor Bloomingdale Reformed Church.

Castoria cures Colic, Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Eructation, Killa Worms, gives sleep, and promotes digestion, without injurious medication.

"For several years I have recommended your 'Castoria,' and shall always continue to do so as it has invariably produced beneficial results." EDWIN F. PARKER, M. D., "The Winthrop," 115th Street and 7th Ave., New York City.

Mr. Leeson for Councillor.

[Somerville Citizen]

Few men are better informed in tariff matters than J. R. Leeson, the candidate for Councillor in this district. He has made a thorough study of the question of import duties and embodied his conclusion in a little pamphlet entitled "Tariffs and Business" which has had a large circulation. Mr. Leeson is a good talker, though not a practiced public speaker. What he says is directly to the point as would be expected of a business man. He appeared recently at a rally in Charlestown and the Boston Journal of Saturday last reports his speech which occupies over a column, in full. It is a good omen when business men like Mr. Leeson will overcome their natural repugnance to going before an audience and consent to give their well-learned views.

—Rev. A. J. Hughes of the Methodist church exchanged pulpits Sunday morning with Rev. T. J. Holmes of the First church.

—The J. R. Leeson drum corps and the battalion participated in a parade at Dedham Friday night, Howard Deal furnished conveyance.

—Cards have been issued by Mrs. John H. Sanborn and her daughter Miss Sadie Sanborn, for a reception to be given next week Thursday evening.

—Mr. George Wilson, of the firm of Wilson Bros., had his foot badly crushed the other day, an oil barrel falling upon it, and he is now confined to the house.

—Mrs. Anderson and family have rented Mr. Charles C. Barton's house on Beacon street. Mr. Barton and family have moved to Boston for the winter.

—The hall committee of Crystal Lake Lodge, Sons of Temperance, are arranging for a basket party which will take place in White's hall, Tuesday evening, Nov. 10.

—Dr. A. H. Stoddard, of Marlborough street, Boston, has become the purchaser of the house at the corner of Centre and Rice streets, and intends to occupy it soon.

—Miss Alice Thaxter Read's entertainment in Associates' Small Hall, Tuesday evening, was a very successful one, and her readings gave great pleasure to the audience.

—It is reported that Mr. Dennison, brother-in-law of Mr. W. H. Gould, who recently bought Mrs. Blaisdell's place on Homer street, has bought Mr. Langdon Ward's house with several acres of land on the same street.

—There are letters in the postoffice for Mrs. Martha J. Blen, Miss Mary E. Colby, Mrs. B. L. Crider, Jr., Mrs. B. C. Cummings, Mrs. H. H. Leavitt, Mr. Hugh McInnis, Mrs. Geo. M. Rice, Mrs. M. E. Thompson, Mrs. Josiah Howe Vose, Martin Weitz.

—Mr. Daniel Bond of Paul street has had a very busy week, during the season he has repeatedly sent out new berrying berries. This week he has picked a supply for the tea table, having gathered from the same bushes four times in October and once in November.

—Henry W. Savage and H. D. Bennett have sold for Mr. Louis L. Browne to Dr. C. P. Wilson a lot of land on Chestnut Hill road, Chestnut Hill, containing over 75,000 square feet. The land adjoins the Hayward estate, and Dr. Wilson will at once build a fine house upon it for his own occupancy.

—Mrs. Harry H. Mason entertained all the prominent ladies of the place on Saturday afternoon, at her lovely home, corner of Ward and Centre streets, the occasion being a reception in honor of Henry Cabot Lodge, Roger Walcott and General Draper, who were her guests. The reception was a very much enjoyed affair, all the guests agreed.

—Rev. Wm. A. Benedict of Homer street has given quite a number of addresses in Berkshire County and will address the voters and others in Cape Cod town until election time. He is a strong prohibitionist and believes that the true way to help along the cause is to work with the Republicans and is making strong arguments and many voters for the party.

—Arrangements have been made for receiving the returns on election evening at Associates hall, and a special telegraph loop will be put up for this purpose. The returns will be shown on a large transparency as fast as received, and seats will be arranged in the hall so that gentlemen and ladies both will be able to watch the returns without inconvenience.

—Mrs. Charles Brackett had her ninety-first birthday anniversary on Friday, Oct. 28th, at which her children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren were present in a goodly number. Mrs. Brackett retains her faculties to a remarkable degree and is in good health. Of those who attended her ninety-first birthday anniversary reception, three have died, viz. Mr. George Hyde, Mrs. Daniel Stone and her son, Mr. W. H. Brackett.

—The Republican torchlight parade, which occurs next Monday night, promises to be one of the most imposing that has been seen in the city during this campaign. The line will form at 8 o'clock in the square and the route of procession will be through Institution avenue, Station street, Glen avenue, Beacon, Summer, Ward, Centre, to corner of Mills streets and counter-march; Centre, Beacon, Laurel streets, Lake and Crescent avenues, Centre street, Parker street, Ridge avenue, Parker street, Centre street, to square where a dress parade will take place. The residents along the line of march are requested to illuminate. Invitations have been extended to battalions at Newton, Auburndale, Waltham, Cambridge, Hyde Park, Dedham and Watertown, and the number in the procession will probably exceed 1200.

—Mr. Daniel Bond, Paul street, is the possessor of a cow which has netted him in cash the past year, up to Nov. 1st, the unusual sum of $288.60. The receipts and cash disbursements were as follows:

EXPENSE.
Cow.	$45.00
Paid for hay and grain.	$2.70
Total.	$97.70
RECEIPTS.

—New lamps have been placed on the exterior of St. Paul's church. Arrangements have been made so that the Bible class shall hereafter occupy the choir-room.

—Mr. Stevens now occupies the house on Forest street just vacated by Mr. Norman, who has removed to Roslindale. Mr. Stevens is secretary of the Peet Valve Co. of Boston.

—List of letters remaining in the post-office: C. H. Belcher, Mrs. E. H. Gibson, Mrs. D. W. Hinckley, Annie Johnson, Mrs. Robert A. Lord, Charles J. Swenborg, Fannie Tewksbury.

—The M. E. Ladies' Society held a meeting Wednesday afternoon at Mrs. E. J. Hyde's. Plans were made for a sale and entertainment to be given Wednesday, Nov. 30. In the evening a social was held, including music and recitations and games.

—The Congregational Sewing Circle held their meeting on Wednesday with Mrs. Strong at Waban, at which there was a large attendance. In the early evening a bountiful supper was served, after which a musical program. With Miss Davis, the Misses Thayer, nieces of Mrs. Strong, took a prominent part.

—Mr. E. E. Houghton has sold out his provision business to Messrs. S. Thorpe & Co. of Boston. Mr. R. E. Thorpe is the resident partner and has leased the house belonging to Mr. Levi Ladd on Walnut street, formerly occupied by Mr. H. G. Peet, and now occupies it.

—Sunday's music at the Congregational church will include the following: Anthem, (for male voices and organ), "God is our hope." Davenport.
Response, "Lord till I reach that blissful shore." Gerrish.
Oratory, "Nearer my God to Thee." Gerrish.
Solo, "Rock of Ages." Mrs. E. J. Hyde.
Mr. Hunting, tenor. Mr. Estabrooke, tenor.
Mr. Ayer, baritone. Mr. Ryder, basso.
Miss Stone, organist.

—The Monday Club kept Halloween this year of grace, not with mysterious rites and ceremonies, but as Columbus day, in a patriotic manner. The club met at Mrs. Robinson's, and in rooms gracefully festooned with bunting and flags, gave the afternoon to memorial papers on Columbus who sang of Spanish ballads and patriotic songs, crowning all with an original poem on Columbus by Mrs. Pindar. Then came a march to the dining-room, where a lady in a Spanish dress, with a "Spanish tea" by ladies in Spanish decorations and partaken of in a gay and festive way also thought to be Spanish. As a benediction and farewell to all this came a long letter from Mrs. Phipps, read by Mr. Phipps, giving an interesting account of her trip across the country and making a very pleasant ending to a very delightful day.

—"Better late than never," said the members of the Monday Club at the close of the Columbian afternoon, Oct. 31st, as some fifty or more gathered at the home of Mrs. Robinson, corner of Hillsdale avenue and Chester street. The spacious hall-way and parlors were elaborately decorated with American flags and festoons of bunting in the National and Spanish colors, the ladies wearing those emblems as well as Monday Club badges of orange ribbon and small American flags. The literary exercises opened with a finely executed duet on the piano by Miss Stone and Mrs. Houghton, a selection was read by Mrs. S. C. Cobb acting president, on "Times of Columbus," followed by essays on his birth, first and second voyages by Mrs. O'Connor, Mrs. Eaton and Mrs. Wheeler, selections were read by Mrs. Ogden of the third voyage, followed by Tennyson, "Columbus in Chains" read by Mrs. Pratt. Articles were read by Mrs. Wheeler, "Columbus literature," "Death of Columbus and death of Ferdinand," also paper on "Death of Isabella" by the Mrs. Esterbrook, Nickerson, Jewkes and Strong; also poem "Tribute to Columbus" by Mrs. Pindar. The exercises were interspersed with music, Mrs. Ryder singing a Spanish ditty, "Gaily the Troubadour," also solo, "Three cheers for the Red, White and Blue," all joining in America at the close. A collation followed of chocolate, sandwiches and various dainties. The dining-room was decorated with Spanish colors, also the table, whilst the mantle was massed with orange and scarlet flowers. After the lunch extracts were read by Rev. G. G. Phipps from letters from Mrs. Phipps, president of the club, her trip a graphic account of her trip to Tacoma, with descriptions of the Great Desert, and Rockies, and Grand Canon, and Eagle Pass by moonlight. Great credit is due to all who aided in making the afternoon so successful and pleasant.

NEWTON UPPER FALLS.

—Farley, pianos, 483 Wash. St., Newton.
—Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Lane. A son.

—Thomas Farrell has severed his connection at Kerr's paper mills.

—Rev. Mr. Jefferson of Norwood occupied the Baptist pulpit last Sunday.

—Mr. Frank Fanning's new house on Boylston street is nearly completed exteriorly.

—Miss Rooney of Elliot street has had the ground about her house and store nicely graded.

—A large lamp has been put up on the corner of Mr. H. A. Sherman's store to light the driveway.

—A Harrison & Reid flag was hung to the breeze for the first time one day last week at the Pettie Machine Works.

—Mr. John Hardy and mother, Mrs. Hardy, of San Domingo, but formerly of this place, are visiting friends here.

—The Whist Club met at Mrs. W. C. Thompson's on Boylston street last evening, a very pleasant time being enjoyed.

—Thomas Furdon, who has been very ill of typhoid fever at the Cottage Hospital, has recovered sufficiently to return home.

—Mr. Wm. Dyson's new house on Pennsylvania avenue is in the hands of the painters and will soon be ready for occupancy.

—Miss Mary Mitchell held a Halloween party at her home on Chestnut street, Monday, the evening passing in a most enjoyable manner.

—The Clover Club held a Halloween party in Quinobeguin Hall and enjoyed the usual festivities of such an occasion with invited friends.

—The Grattan Star Bakery have removed their store from Procter's block to Mr. H. A. Sherman's block, where a neat and convenient place has been fitted for their occupancy.

—The new horse purchased by Thomas Flynn last week acted unbecomingly the first time he was hitched up and ran, throwing Mr. Flynn out and smashing up the wagon. Mrs. Flynn escaped uninjured.

—The rear of Mr. H. A. Sherman's store is being changed to meet the requirements of a market and it is probable a new market will soon be opened here. The carpenter work is being done by H. H. Hunt of West Newton.

—Mr. E. J. Hickey is fitting paper mill No. 1 to run by steam entirely, which will make it possible to keep the mill in constant operation and avoid the previous necessity of closing down when the water was too low to furnish the requisite power. Preparations are being made to start the mill in a few weeks.

—Mr. Martin Sturtevant was found lying under one of his apple trees a few days ago having evidently fallen from the tree. He was taken to the house and Dr. Hildreth called who found no more serious injury than a severe bruise on the back. Sturtevant is quite an elderly man and his friends will be pleased to know his fall was not serious.

—T. F. Shaughnessy is high bowler on the Quinobeguin alleys, his best endeavor knocking down 197 pins. Messrs. Edwin Cooper and Alf. Kempton have until now held the highest record, each having bowled over 194 pins. There are only three pins between them and the contest for big scores is watched with interest as the bowlers become more familiar with rolling on the regulation alley.

—A business meeting of the Baptist church was held last Friday evening in the chapel, and it was decided to extend a call to the Rev. Mr. Kempton of Newton Centre, who is taking a short advanced course at the Newton Baptist Theological Institution. Rev. Mr. Kempton has preached here once or twice with so much acceptance that the church decided to extend a call. The church has been without a pastor only a few weeks and may be considered fortunate in so soon finding a preacher so acceptable to them. Rev. Mr. Kempton will preach next Sunday.

—Echo Bridge Council, Royal Arcanum, held an initiation at their meeting Wednesday evening, and were honored by a visit from Supreme Secretary Robson and suite of Boston, the former making an interesting address and remarks being given by the Regent and members of the council. After the business meeting an adjournment was taken to the banquet hall where a bountiful repast had been prepared and to which outside friends had been invited, many accepting the invitation. The evening was thoroughly enjoyed.

—Mr. and Mrs. John A. Gould met with an accident Friday evening while driving home from Walpole which very fortunately had no very serious results. In turning out for a team the vehicle in which they were riding was overturned, throwing Mr. and Mrs. Gould out. The horse became frightened and ran to Walpole, before being stopped, the buggy being completely wrecked. Mrs. Gould was considerably bruised about the face and Mr. Gould received a bad shaking up. They were taken to Needham and were driven home by friends.

Who said "A Rasher of Bacon?"

It was Peter Familias, and he said it because he was a little overworked, and wanted something appetizing for breakfast next morning. So the good mother sent out that very inviting and delicious rasher of Bacon, and when her other half had finished his delicious repast of bacon and eggs in the morning, he felt like a new man, and told her so as he kissed her good-by. She always buys Ferris brand now.

Obvious. Buttons (fresh from the country, evidently no French scholar): "I say, Mary, the gu'nor and missus are dining out tonight; but I can't for the life of me make out what a R, a S, a V and P mean on this 'ere card."

Smart Housemaid. "Why, of course it means they're going to have rump steak and veal pie?"—Puck.

NEWTON.

-Farley tunes pianos, 483 Wash. street.
-Miss Helen Cobb is quite seriously ill at her home on Bellevue street.
-Mr. and Mrs. George F. Meacham have taken apartments at Hotel Huntington.
-Mr. and Mrs. Levi B. Gay will pass the winter months at Hotel Huntington, Boston.
-Do you wish to look handsome? If so, have your hair cut by John T. Burns, Cole's block.
-Michael Quirk intends to build a number of small houses on West and Green streets.
-Mayor Hibbard has leased his only vacant house on Jefferson street to Mr. Knowles of Boston.
-The quiet of the morning after election was in marked contrast to the celebrations of some former years.
-Mr. Chas. F. Rogers has entirely recovered from his recent illness, and is at his office again as usual.
-The Social Science Club will meet at Mrs. Wellington's, Fairmont avenue, Wednesday, Nov. 16, at 10 a. m.
-Mrs. F. L. Cutting and Miss Cutting arrived on the Cephalonia from Europe Monday. They will pass the winter in Boston.

-Mr. Harry A. Flinn, who has been in town for a few days, departed for New York City Wednesday, where he remains until the holidays.
-The return from precinct two, Ward One, were the last to arrive at the City Hall and were not received until 7.10 o'clock Wednesday morning.
-The new location of the Ward Seven polling place in Eliot Lower Hall proved entirely satisfactory to the voters and election officers. There is plenty of space and good light.
-A sociable was held in the Eliot church last evening. The entertainment features were in charge of the young ladies and comprised musical numbers and tableaux.
-A Bible class for men only will meet at the Y. M. C. A. room, Sunday afternoons, at 4 o'clock, for the study of the gospels, under the charge of the general secretary.
-Mr. Henry Tolman is spoken of as the successor to Councilman Bothfield in the common council, and the latter seems likely to get a unanimous nomination for alderman.
-Rev. Mr. Hornbrooke will speak in Channing church next Sunday evening, Nov. 13, on "Edwards Whitefield and the Great Awakening." Service begins at 7.30. Seats free. All heartily welcome.
-A literary society has been formed by thirty-two Newton ladies and fortnightly meetings will be held Tuesday evenings. The first meeting was held at the residence of Mrs. Whitman, Vernon street. A lecture was given by Miss Gould of Boston.
-A class in vocal training will be formed at the Y. M. C. A. rooms, to meet Monday evenings under the charge of Mr. Joseph Stewart of Boston, provided 100 young men register before Nov. 19th. Full information will be given by Mr. H. S. Dow, the general secretary.

-Mrs. Elizabeth Gowdy Baker has received a great number of visitors at her studio this week, and visitors will be received this evening and Saturday afternoon and evening. Hereafter visitors will be received on Monday only. Classes in art have been formed for Tuesday and Thursday mornings, which ladies who desire are invited to join.
-The Muskegon, Mich., Morning News of Nov. 3 gives an account of the reception to Mr. A. F. Barrett and wife by the local Y. M. C. A., which is spoken of as a very pleasant social event. The News says "Mr. Barrett made an address, which was concise, logical and eloquent, at once stamping him as a leader of Y. M. C. A. interests, whose acquisition is a decided factor in their growth."
-Mr. Martin V. B. Paine died at his residence on Brook street, Wednesday. He had been ill about three weeks. Deceased was 52 years of age. He had been a resident of Newton about ten years and conducted a provision store in French's block. Those who knew Mr. Paine respected him for his many good qualities and appreciated the solid worth of his character. He was agreeable, kindhearted and honorable in his dealings with his fellowmen. His health had been poor for some time, an attack of la grippe about a year ago bringing on serious complications which led to his final illness and death. A widow and daughter survive him. The funeral will take place from his late residence this afternoon at 2 o'clock.
-At Eliot church next Sunday evening the choir will be assisted by Mr. Willis Nowell, violinist, and the service will include the following music:
Anthems, "Behold, I bring you," Barnby
Te Deum in D. Gounod
Quartet, "Come unto Me," Gounod Duet, "My song shall be," Mendelssohn Hymn of Praise.
Organ Solo, Adagio. Raff
Organ Prelude, Adagio. Rheinberger
Organ Postlude, "Marche Triomphale," Guilmant
-Music in Grace church Sunday evening:
Processional, "O Paradise! O Paradise!" Goss
Cantate, Deus. Goss
Solo for soprano, "He giveth His beloved sleep." Abt Anthem, "The radiant morn hath passed away." Rees Recessional, "Son of my soul thou Saviour dear."

-The new bowling alleys in the Newton clubhouse were opened for members Tuesday evening. They have since been inspected by Mr. Carr, the official representative of the Massachusetts league, and pronounced by him the finest in the state. The compliment is a deserved one, no pains or expense having been spared to make them as near the ideal standard as possible. The foundation is macadam. Above there is four inches of hard concrete and two inches of asphalt. The stringers run on the asphalt surface and are laid in Portland cement, supporting the heavy planking which forms the base for the rock maple finish, comprising selected upright boards 4 1/2 inches thick. The maple flooring extends beyond the foul line to the line of the spectators seats, giving a perfectly smooth surface and a condition for bowling unexcelled in any clubhouse in the country. The entire flooring of the head house is literally an extension of the alleys. The runways set low on handsome brass supports. The newel posts are carved cherry and are placed in position flush with the foul line. The gent's alleys are lighted with brass fixtures similar to those in the Manhattan clubhouse. The pit contains hair cushions for the drop and swinging canvas cushions are arranged at the base line. The side bumpers are leather similar to those in the B. A. A. clubhouse. The alleys for the use of the ladies, two in number, are separated from the four devoted to the use of the gentlemen by a partition. The general construction and method of lighting is the same.

-Mr. Wm. F. Goodwin is quite ill at his home, Chestnut street.
-The lot on the corner of Beacon and Woodward streets is being much improved by the filling and grading of the small pond which was formerly there.
-The Literary Club held its first meeting of this year with Mrs. Norris on last Wednesday. The services of Mrs. Whitman have been engaged to address the class at its meetings during the winter.
-We understand that the other store in the Collins building is soon to be occupied as a variety and novelty shop. Such a venture should prove very successful and we wish it a great and prosperous future.
-Mrs. Ellen Flynn, who has so long been dangerously ill at her home, corner of Beacon and Chestnut streets, died on Thursday evening at the age of 53 years. Mrs. Flynn was the wife of Mr. James Flynn of this place, and since last June her death has been almost daily expected. The funeral was conducted by Rev. E. Danahy in St. Mary's church, Upper Falls, on Saturday morning, interment at Needham cemetery.
-The E. L. C. Benevolent Society Fair, Collins Hall, was the scene of a very pretty gathering on Thursday and Friday evenings of last week, being the occasion of a fair held by the E. L. C. Benevolent society in aid of the church fund. The tables were tastefully arranged about the hall and each was draped with its individual color. Over each was an umbrella shaped canopy connected with a common centre by streamers of the respective colors. The hall was lighted entirely by banquet lamps which served to soften the effects and make them more pleasing. Messrs. L. K. Karlow and L. M. Bacon were the committee for the decoration and were the recipients of large amount of praise for their services. The white and silver table was presided over by Mrs. Heaton and Miss Trefrey; the yellow tables, by Mrs. Stone, Miss Stone and the Misses Collins; the lavender, by Mrs. A. D. Locke and Miss Minnie Locke; the pink, by Mrs. Harlow and Miss Kendrick; the green, by Mrs. Robinson and Miss Childs; the candy and flower, by Misses Rand and Heaton and Mrs. Campbell and the children's by Misses Dresser and Woodbury. The supper room was under the charge of Mrs. Woodbury and Mrs. Reading, assisted by Mrs. Gould. These ladies deserve great credit for their excellent management of the affair, which is due to the great success of their efforts. On Friday evening an entertainment was given by the children of the Waban school who repeated their exercises. There followed later in the evening a violin and piano duet by the Misses Manson of Newton Highlands and vocal selections by Messrs. Buffum and Raymond. The fair was a decided success and it is thought that between three and four hundred dollars was realized.

Lace Curtains

are cleansed by J. H. Looker, 21 Carlton street, in the most satisfactory manner, and no one need fear in trusting the most delicate and expensive curtains to his care. His many years of experience as foreman at Levan's have qualified him for this work, and he can give many references to parties whose curtains he has cleansed and done up. A postal card will cause him to call at your address. Mr. Looker does also all kinds of cleansing and repairing, and pays special attention to the laundering by hand of fine linens. If your clothes come from the laundry worn out by rough usage, try sending them to Mr. Looker and see how much longer they will wear.

The Ludwig Concert.

The announcement given in today's paper that the eminent baritone, William Ludwig, is to give one of his desirable popular concerts in Newton on the 17th inst., cannot fail to be received with the greatest satisfaction by every lover of good music in our city.
It will be remembered that when he and his company sang here a few days ago it was regarded as the musical event of the season, and as it is rarely that such distinguished artists as those named on the program are heard outside our large cities, it is hoped that the people of Newton will avail themselves of the treat in store for them. The program is given in another column.

A Gymnasium for Men.

Mr. John W. Bowler of the Hemenway Gymnasium, Harvard College, will form a gentlemen's class at Nonantum Hall, on Wednesday evening, Nov. 16, to meet Wednesday and Saturday evenings, at 8 o'clock, throughout the season. Instruction in all branches of light and heavy work will be given. Women's and children's classes Monday and Thursday afternoons. See adv.

The special offer made in another column by R. H. Stearns & Co. will be read with great interest by our lady readers. The offer is a most unusual one, considering that the goods are all new and fresh, and the prices remarkably low. Purchasers may rely on one of the greatest bargains this firm has ever offered. Attention is respectfully called to the advertisement.

Songs of the Negroes.

A quartet of students from Tuskegee Institute, Alabama, will sing Negro songs peculiar to the "Black belt of the South," at Lasell Seminary, Nov. 10, at 7.30 p. m. Two of the students will speak.
Friends interested in songs of the "Jubilee Singers" will be welcome to hear these. Admission free. Collection taken.

"THE LADY OR THE TIGER."

The heretofore accepted definition of Club has been "Paradise from which Eves are excluded." The Newton Club has proved this definition obsolete.
As Saturn crowned by its rings and Satellites, bursts forth in all its glory to the wondering gaze and renewed interest of the astronomer, so the Newton Club in its elegant new home, bursts forth to the astonishment of the older residents.
The character of its members gives distinction to the organization while its brilliancy is enhanced by its Satellites, the ladies.
The handsome new Colonial home with its generous driveway and spacious portecochere, unfolds its hospitable doors to the wives and daughters of members and ushers them to various apartments erected for their pleasure.
Passing through the paved vestibule a hallway of ivory whiteness encloses you. A unique office connecting with the body of the house confronts you and while registering, faint glimpses of the entire interior can be stolen and communication with every part of the structure can be obtained.
The monogram N. C. on the handsome doorway before you, is a seal to the gentlemen's apartments, therefore you turn for escape to the reception room near at hand, where you have the consolation of your own domain. Here placed invitingly near a generous window, an escritoire spreads wide its leaf, dotted here and there with its complete equipment of glass and silver. This retired corner with its mahogany furniture and brocaded hangings makes just the retreat needed, till the stairway, with its miniature arches, suggestive of coquetry, entices you upward.
Peering beneath these arches, the opposite wall presents a Colonial clock of banjo design, all white and gold and crystal, with its glistening face, and ponderous pendulum and sonorous "tick, tock" at once so soothing and companionable.
Confronting you, a window with its armorial hangings, recall the halcyon days of knight errantry and still ascending the drawing room opens out before you. Only the delicate mazes of the peach bloom, with here and there a glimpse of azure sky flecked with fleecy clouds can rival the daintiness of this beautiful room. Its delicate pink walls, dotted here and there with weaths and garlands in relief, the muresque frieze in ivory, figured with cupids rollicking in flowers, are overtopped by a dainty sky of blue. The hangings of brocade are of the same dainty blue combined with lace, suspended from silvery poles. The white mahogany furniture adds a stability as well as gracefulness to the upholstery. A Dresden lamp with its garniture of pink and silver casts a peachy glow to the ivory table supporting its wealth of beauty.

With such surroundings your lightest step seems a clumsy tread through silent, for the velvety softness of the roof beneath your feet, strewn with crushed and broken wreaths of flowers entwined with love knots here and there, smothered every thud in its depths, while the brilliant lights from silver lamps cast a halo about the whole.
With such haste have you moved onward you have not looked to right and left where other lights are streaming. Across the hall from where you're dreaming the dining-room claims your attention. A long room, divided by folding doors of colonial days. Each division assigned a particular use.
The first as Cafe invites you to a light repast at round tables covered with damask on which the only design is the club monogram, with a N. C. bow knot suggestive of the decorative part of the club, the ladies. The silver reflects the same design as also the crystals. Each mirror in the buffets is a picture reflecting the haughtiness in all their beautiful colorings. The leaded glass doors suggest dainty china in their dark enclosures and the warm glow of rug repeats its Rococo design in every plate and napkin.
The other division looks equally attractive. The mahogany table of superior workmanship with mahogany chairs upholstered in russet leather, reminds you of festive boards and choice viands which will be duplicated within these walls, so masterly handled that the fruits in the frieze remind you of harvest time only and the season of plenty. Sweet strains urge you to the third ascent, yet still within the ladies' domain. Passing between paneled walls and particularly colored glass partitions, an emerald portiere is drawn aside and this picture is presented. A hall of spacious dimensions of ivory whiteness, the walls of delicate green with wreaths and festoons in relief upheld by flowing ribbons touched here and there with gold.
The ceiling spanned by huge arches is paneled and daintily wreathed. The windows draped with delicate rose and green brocade are flanked by luxurious seats which, cushioned in deeper rose, invite you to linger. The gilt chandeliers, like bursting rockets, are ablaze

CITY GOVERNMENT.

The board of aldermen met Tuesday night with all the members present. T. M. Clarke called attention to his petition of some months ago for gates at his crossing opposite Brookside avenue, and the matter was referred to the city solicitor to have the matter attended to at once.

Albert Gay withdrew his name from the petition for the laying out of Austin street, as far as the petition differed from the plan of T. H. Carter.

A fire alarm signal station was asked for on the corner of Dedham and Parker streets.

D. S. Farnham was granted license to build shed for storing carriages.

The street light on Hancock street was asked to be re-located, so that the telephone pole should not interfere with the light.

Paul Gaultt gave notice of intention to build house in Ward one.

H. W. Downs et al and W. M. Flanders et al petitioned for street lamps.

E. C. Harris asked for license for billiard and pool table in West Newton.

Rev. P. H. Callahan of St. John church, Lower Falls, asked for license for life and drum corps to practice on the streets two nights a week; referred to license committee.

An order was passed for 1990 feet of 8 inch pipe on Fuller street, at a cost of $487.

Two street lights were asked for on Lenox street, between Highland and Valentine streets.

The telephone company gave notice that Francis Blake had relinquished his special telephone wire on condition that the wire was carried on other poles.

A large number of petitions were received for the division of the sewer assessments into ten equal parts.

The order establishing the rates of back fares at 25 cents for 3/4ths of a mile from a station, and 25 cents more for each additional half mile was read and passed, and maps of distances were ordered posted in each carriage.

Alderman Sheppard presented an order that a committee be appointed, consisting of the city engineer and two other engineers, who are experts, to examine the plans presented for the separation of grade crossings, and report first, in regard to the Langford plan; 2nd, in regard to elevating the tracks, and 3rd, in regard to depressing the tracks, and elevating the streets, and also to widening Washington street to a width of 100 feet.

Alderman Harbach presented a substitute order, limiting the amount to be expended to $7,000 in order that citizens might know what such an investigation would cost.

Alderman Sheppard said he hoped no definite sum would be put in, because it would be better to let them bring in their bills and pay them.

Alderman Hyde said he thought if the people knew what the investigation would cost, they would oppose it, and for that reason he hoped no action would be taken tonight. He moved to lay both orders over to the next meeting.

Mayor Hibbard said there ought to be a definite time to report, say the 1st of May.

Both orders were laid on the table. A recess was taken for an hour, waiting for election returns.

An order was passed authorizing the sale of $175,000 of twenty year, 4 per cent. sewer bonds.

An order was passed that the $2,548.98 received from the county treasurer for dog taxes in 1891 be turned over to the school appropriation.

The finance committee were authorized to expend $200 on clerical assistance in examining books and vouchers of the city treasurer.

The petition in regard to the High school was referred to the school board. The board received election returns until 7.10 a. m.

The wisest course in politics is to vote for the best man, and you cannot be mistaken. So, in the use of the blood-purifiers, you can't be mistaken if you take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, because all parties agree that it is the best—The Superior Medicine. Try it this month.

For the cure of headache, constipation, stomach and liver troubles, and all derangements of the digestive and assimilative organs, Ayer's Pills are invaluable. Being sugar-coated, they are pleasant to take, always reliable, and retain their virtues in any climate.

I have been troubled with chronic catarrh for years. My wife said the only relief was to have me take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I have paid out for doctors and medicine in the last year? I told her I did not know. To doctors I have paid nothing, and five dollars' worth of Sarsaparilla has kept health in our family. F. Andrews, 12 Bowdoin street, Boston.

MR. GARDNER EXPLAINS.

"THEY BOTH WERE RIGHT AND BOTH WERE WRONG."

Nov. 9, 1892.

To the Editor of the Newton Graphic:

I am sorry to intrude on your space again, but when I have been accused of lying, I cannot remain silent. In your issue of October 28, I stated the facts in regard to the responsibility for the appointment of United States Supervisors in Newton. What I stated was true in form and substance regarding the Supervisors, and true in substance, though it turns out not to have been literally correct in form, in regard to the Marshals.

I repeat from my previous letter the following:— "A prominent Democrat in Ward 5 was anxious to have these officers appointed, and asked a republican to join him in signing the petition. The Republican came to me and I did my best to dissuade him, and thought I had succeeded, but his Democratic friend finally induced him to sign the petition on the ground that it would do nobody any harm." That petition, signed by this Democrat and his friend, was filed and Supervisors appointed in accordance with it. I wrote my letter for the purpose of stating these facts, and when I wrote my letter I was thinking only of Supervisors. The heading "Deputy Marshals" to my letter you were responsible for, and not I. The Supervisors were appointed, and Mr. George F. Williams of Newtonville was designated as Chairman. He received a letter from Judge Hallett, the Chief Supervisor, telling him that it was customary to add the United States Marshals to aid the Supervisors, and enclosing a petition for their appointment, asking him to secure the signatures of two citizens of good standing. This letter from Judge Hallett was really a request, and not an instruction, but Mr. Williams very naturally regarded it as an order from his superior officer, and accordingly asked the first two citizens of good standing whom he met to sign the petition, and to appoint them.

I signed the petition, and I understand that Messrs. Chadwick and Coxeter, who signed it, did so without inquiring beyond the fact that they were told that it was a form necessary to be gone through. I knew nothing of Judge Hallett's letter at the time it was written or received, nor until the appearance of Mr. Follett's letter last week. I received notice from the United States Marshal asking me to nominate Deputy Marshals, and went over at once to his office to see if they could be dispensed with. I did not see him, but I found one of his deputies who told me that as a petition had been filed, it was necessary to appoint them. I supposed that this was the original petition filed by the two citizens of Ward Five for the Supervisors and that it included the Marshals also. It did substantially include them, for if there had been no Supervisors asked for, there would have been no Marshals appointed.

The error then, in my letter, in thinking that this original petition covered the appointment of both Supervisors and Marshals. It did literally cover the Supervisors, and substantially covered the Marshals. I stated the

THE CITY ELECTION.

Now that national politics are out of the way citizens of Newton will have time to turn their attention to the coming city election, which affects every taxpayer more nearly than any of the questions involved in the late contest. We are all interested in having an economical and efficient city government, and in placing the best men to be had in charge of city affairs.

The mayoralty question is a very important one, as so much responsibility is placed upon the mayor, and the experience of the last two years has shown what a practical business man can accomplish in that office. Several names have been proposed, and ex-Alderman Fenno and Chadwick and Alderman Wilson have all many of the qualities and experience which would enable them to make excellent heads of the city government of Newton, but so far public opinion seems to have settled in favor of no particular candidate.

Alderman Harbach was at one time regarded as the next Republican nominee but it is now doubted whether he could get votes enough to get the nomination, and the Republican leaders are said to be anxious to unite with the Citizens upon some candidate who would be acceptable to both parties, and whose fitness could not be disputed. As we are all interested in the welfare of the city, such a result ought not to be difficult of accomplishment. A warm contest over the office would furnish fun for the boys, but it serves no good purpose and there will be contests enough over the members of the city council to make the election interesting.

The time is short for the selection of candidates, and it is rather remarkable that we have come to within a month of the election without any definite candidate being advanced by either party, although ex-Alderman Fenno has received the most popular mention, and would have little difficulty in securing the nomination if he desired to make any effort to obtain it.

Possibly something may come out of the movement in favor of a candidate from Ward Three, which is remarkable for the modesty of its leading citizens. The ward has never had a mayor, chiefly for this reason, and at the present time ex-Alderman Luke has been assured that he could have the nomination of both parties if he would accept, and a good deal of pressure has been brought to bear upon him, but so far he refuses to entertain the idea, on account of his business duties. Alderman Wilson is also said to be unwilling to accept the responsibility.

There has been the usual talk about ex-Aldermen Johnson and Hollis, but both have refused the honor so many times that there is no hope of their accepting it this year. Perhaps another week will see the campaign in more definite shape.

THE GRADE CROSSINGS.

An order was presented in the board of aldermen, Monday evening, in which all the people are directly interested. Alderman Sheppard presented one form of the order, to have the commission of engineers to be appointed investigate the so-called Langford plan, and also the elevating of the tracks, and the depression of the same, so that the three means of doing away with grade crossings could be thoroughly investigated.

Alderman Harbach presented a substitute order, giving no definite work for the commission to do, and appropriating $7,000 to pay their expenses. He explained that his purpose in offering the order was to scare the people who wanted such an investigation, by stating the great sum it would cost. We do not believe, however, that the people of Newton are so easily scared, or that they would object to spending $10,000 to find out the best method of dealing with this problem.

Here is an undertaking involving a million dollars, more or less, and one that will have a direct effect on the future prosperity of the city, as well as on the comfort of every citizen who has to use the railroad. We might rush into the business blindfold, adopt any plan that happened to strike our fancy, and obstinately insist upon that in face of all opposition, and so save the cost of the commission and probably expend a dozen times more than would be needed if a capable commission had studied the matter carefully.

That is one way and some might call it the economical way, but it would be a very short-sighted and penny-wise policy, and the citizens generally would prefer to follow a more intelligent plan. We should not shut our eyes and rush ahead until we know where we are going.

City Engineer Noyes thinks the commission might not cost over $5,000, and if it were directed to report by the first of May next that would be in plenty of time for any actual work. No one claims that to have the tracks elevated in their present location would be anything else than an eyesore. We may have to come to it, and also climb a flight of stairs to every station, but before that is decided upon, the people would like to know if some better plan could not be devised, and they would be willing to spend a few thousands in the endeavor to find out what was best, and whether the elevation of the tracks in their present location is the only possible method, as some of the aldermen seem to think.

COUNTING THE RETURNS.

The task of counting the returns under the Australian ballot law is not an easy one, and it was seven o'clock Wednesday morning before the last precinct in Newton was heard from at City Hall. This unfortunate precinct was the one located in the new structure on Waban Park, which seemed to have a paralyzing effect upon the counters. Ward Three, although it has been divided into two precincts, strove hard to keep up its old reputation of having the slowest counters in the city, and came in second this year, both precincts being very late, and one of them coming in only a short time before Ward One.

The Lower Falls precinct was the first one to be heard from, coming in about 9 o'clock, and the others straggled in between twelve and three the next morning.

The delay shows the wisdom of having an amendment to the law which would allow of the ballots being counted during election day, with proper safeguards, and such an amendment is likely to be adopted in the near future.

The job of serving as an election officer is not such an "soft snap" as it was, with the prospect of being kept at work all night.

Election night rumors were plentiful and amusing, the result in Massachusetts and the nation being confidently announced several times before midnight, and many good party men went home and to bed in a very serene frame of mind, only to wake up next morning to discover that nothing was decided, and hardly enough facts given in the morning papers to base a guess upon. This is a great country and its extent is hardly realized until one discovers how many states must be heard from before the result can be known with absolute certainty.

HOSPITAL SUNDAY.

Nov. 20th, this year is Hospital Sunday in Newton. The finance committee ask for $10,000 from the churches, and although this amount is far beyond what has ever been given yet in any one offering by the churches it can be raised if a vigorous effort is made. The Hospital has never been in such a prosperous condition as now. All its affairs are managed with perfect harmony, there being not a trace of the old differences left. A gift of $12,000 has just been made by two citizens, Messrs Pratt and Converse, for the Nurses' Home, and the accommodations are taxed to the utmost to meet the demands made day by day for admission.

Every citizen of Newton, rich and poor, should be interested in the prosperity of this institution which has been not only a pioneer in its special line, but has steadily kept itself at the front in all improvements. Its fame has gone far and wide, and it has been a source of benefit to hundreds of our people who availed themselves of its kindly shelter and care. When it began no one dreamed that it would ever grow as it has grown, but here it is with a splendid school for nurses, completely equipped contagious wards, and with quarters for the reception of about forty patients at a time. Frequently every bed in the main wards is occupied, and recently patients were placed on lounges, there not being beds enough. We bespeak the largest generosity from a generous community. Those who have hitherto been content to give five dollars should make it ten, and those who have given a hundred should give two. The time too has come for some large gifts of thousands, and it would be an occasion of great rejoicing if, when the collections are all gathered in this year, there would be found some very big checks towards the endowment.

THE NEWTON FIGURES.

The Newton figures make quite an interesting study when compared with those of former years, and the vote on leading candidates in '88 and '90 are given elsewhere. It will be seen that Harrison has increased his plurality from 686 to 743, a gain of 57, while there has been an increase of 569 in the total vote of which the Republicans have 329 and the Democrats 271, showing that the increase of population in Newton is largely Republican, the city being a favorite place for retired clergymen, and other men of Republican antecedents to choose for their home.

On the vote for Congressman, Gen. Draper has 330 more votes than Mr. Candler had four years ago, and Mr. Williams 157 more votes than Mr. Burnett. Gen. Draper gains 721 votes over Mr. Candler in 1890, and Mr. Williams gains 145 over his vote in that year. Mr. Candler's plurality in that year was 388 and Gen. Draper's is 778, a gain of 390.

Gov. Ames had a plurality of 739 four years ago, and Mr. Haile loses in comparison, as his plurality is only 567 on a much larger vote. Two years ago, Gov.

Brackett had a plurality of 332, and a year ago, Mr. Allen had a plurality of 521, almost as much as Mr. Haile has this year.

Newton has always been regarded as a very conservative place, in politics as in everything else, and the whole of the rest of the country may be convulsed by a political earthquake, but Newton people go serenely on their way, voting the same ticket year after year.

GEN. DRAPER'S majority in this district is something of a surprise, although the district was cut out to be safely Republican. By the defeat of Mr. Williams the district loses a man whose ability made him one of the leaders in Congress and who has made a national reputation in his first session. In Gen. Draper it gets an amiable gentleman of great wealth, who will probably be a worthy successor of the men by whom this district has usually been represented, but who have seldom been heard of after getting to Washington. They have been safe legislators, but they have not been the kind of men whom Massachusetts sent to Washington when she exercised a commanding influence on the affairs of the nation. Mr. Williams himself is partly to blame for his defeat as in his speeches he showed an outspoken frankness that offended the prejudices of many people and lost him votes. A good deal of money was used in the contest and Gen. Draper had in this respect a great advantage over Mr. Williams.

MR. GARDINER replies to Mr. Follett in another column, and the controversy between them reminds one of the story in the old reading books about the chameleon. The first letters of each were strictly true, as far as they went, but before election, discreet politicians do not feel called upon to tell all the truth. The letter of Mr. Gardiner shows that he was shrewd enough to see that this appeal to have federal election officers appointed, which seems to have been general in many northern states, was a great mistake. Elections are honestly conducted under our local officers, and the federal interference was not liked by the people, and doubtless this had something to do with the result.

Now the contest between Speaker Barrett and Congressman Lodge for the United States Senatorship will become one of the interesting spectacles in this State. If each could defeat the other and a first class man, like Crapo or Long get in, the state would be the gainer, and this result is not impossible.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUSES will be held next Tuesday evening to nominate candidates for the Common Council, and elect delegates to the City election, Nov. 22.

THE general opinion seems to be that McKinley did it with his little Bill, and the consumers of the country have been heard from.

Grade Crossings.

To the editor of the GRAPHIC:
The main issue thus far evolved from the discussion of the question of abolishing grade crossings in Newton, would seem to be whether the streets shall pass over the railroad with sinking it where it is, or by first removing it to the low ground north of Washington street.

Probably there is no divided opinion among our citizens that the tracks should have been laid on the proposed new line originally. The conformation of the ground and the easy grades to be obtained for street crossings and railway stations at once suggest it, and many other considerations are urged in its favor to today, not merely that it would separate the grades in a way to bring general satisfaction to the public as well as the R. R. corporation, but that every advantage attainable by any other method would be at least equally derived from this. But the most important of all, perhaps, is the fact that the natural development of the city of Newton is greatly obstructed by the railroad at its present location, inasmuch as it cuts the north slopes of Mt. Ida and the west Newton hills and lies across the natural line of communication between the cities of Newton and Boston.

The Boston & Albany railroad gains nothing, either for its through line or its local trade by being so located, while the city of Newton loses much. Its hills and valleys, the hills of Brighton, the Charles river valley, the river itself, whether ever developed as a waterway for Newton or not, all contribute to carve out the path for commerce between Newton and the Boston wharves along the south terrace of the river and there is plenty of room, but for the present establishment, without twice crossing a railroad, for a wide and commodious thoroughfare at the northerly foot of Newton's hills; while the railroad itself, rightly located, would remain the important factor it now is without being in any sense an impediment.

But the question still remains whether in view of the present establishment such a radical change should be made. A question difficult of solution, especially as it involves the shifting of values and of rights which are considered settled, and interfering with rights which are vested.

The writer's purpose is not to go farther in this direction than to try to show the fallacy of the argument that the suggested line of communication, north of the Newton hills, is not the natural channel for the travel and commerce of Newton to which her valleys and highlands naturally become tributary, but is forced and arbitrary.

Our statutes upon the re-locating of railway stations are manifestly framed to prevent the arbitrary discontinuance of stations or moving them up and down the line by the sole power of the road, thus breaking up the environment.

In this case a more momentous question presents itself. It is proposed to move a railroad and as an incident to carry the stations along with it to the advantage and not the injury of the environment.

In view of its importance and of the questions involved, the commission provided for by the law as well as all subsidiary committees should be of men, capable of grasping the situation, and incapable of bias.

[From the Chicago Tribune.]

"Is this Mmc. Pompon?" breathlessly inquired a man who had climbed several flights of stairs and been admitted into a darkened parlor.

"It is," replied the stately personage whom he had addressed.

"The same."

"Do you read the mind?"

"With perfect ease."

"Can you foretell the future?"

"The future holds no mysteries that I cannot unravel."

"Can you unfold the past?"

"The record of all things past is to me an open book."

"Then," said the caller, feverishly, taking from his pocket a handful of silver, "I wish you would tell me what it is that my wife wanted me to bring home without fail this evening, and name your price. Money is no object!"

A Thousand Cattle Burned.

Clausen Bros. have received word from the superintendent of their stock range in the Bear River valley that more than 1,000 head of fat cattle have been destroyed by the great forest fires that have for weeks been sweeping over that region. Nine houses and four cabins were also destroyed, and three herdsmen fatally burned.

The cattle were feeding in a small valley. A strong wind suddenly blew a sea of fire down upon them. The animals stampeded, but they ran in the wrong direction. Before the cowboys could turn the maddened animals the herd was surrounded by flames. The cattle huddled in the center of a clearing, about a mile square in extent, and the cowboys thought they might remain quiet and eventually escape. Showers of cinders and sparks fell upon the herd, however, and presently a steer ran amuck among its companions, goring them with its horns and bellowing frightfully. The other animals broke and ran in all directions. Many of them dashed into the midst of the flames where they perished in horrible agony.

Others ran into the burning forest near where the cabins had stood, and paused to drink at a water hole, but the fluid was scalding hot, and the poor brutes, maddened by their intensified sufferings, viciously charged each other and every other living object in sight. To save their lives the four cowboys who were within the fiery circle attempted to force their horses through a narrow belt of blazing greasewood, the shrubs standing about two feet high. Before they had gone ten feet the animals had inhaled flames and dropped to the earth, their riders being compelled to run back to their starting place.—Boise City Letter.

A Canine Football Champion.

At the conclusion of the game between the Harborne and Handsworth football teams at Harborne, on Saturday, Mr. H. B. Lowe allowed his dog, which is a beautiful black and tan Australian terrier, to play the victorious team for about a quarter of an hour. As soon as the dog was brought on to the field he seemed anxious to get at the ball, and when all was ready and he was let loose among the team, in a few seconds he got the ball, which was covered by a net, firmly between his teeth. He dodged the players with great agility, and when surrounded held the ball tightly between his fore feet, and try as the players would to obtain possession their efforts were in vain.

Then seeing an opportunity, he would dash off toward the goal stumps with his two legged opponents in hot pursuit. Passing, dribbling, and long kicking did not prevent him getting the ball, and once the net was between his teeth it was futile to try by kicking or pulling to release the ball. After about a quarter of an hour's "play," which caused the spectators much amusement, the net on the ball was torn and sport was abandoned, "neither side having scored."—Birmingham Gazette.

A Village Aboard the Otdam.

One of the largest exhibits for the World's Columbian exposition has arrived by the steamship Otdam, of the Netherlands-American company, at New York. The shipment consists of a German village. One-half is now on board the Otdam, while the other half will come by another of the Netherlands steamers. The first half, comprising 6,500 pieces, will be erected on the grounds of the World's fair at Chicago. The village will occupy a space of 17,500 square feet, and consists of various buildings, markets and shops, a church, town hall and hotels, all in the style of the sixteenth century.

There will be a castle containing antiquities, arms, etc., from German museums. Celebrated pieces from the royal German museum at Mayence will be exposed to view. The fashion of dress, decorations and the entire outfit will offer us an exact representation of the development of German culture as known to us by history. The village will be called Chicago.—New York Letter.

An Old Woman.

The right to call herself the oldest woman in Brooklyn probably belongs to Mrs. Mary Schultzing, a German, who lives in a little frame building in the rear of a tenement house on Park place, near Rochester avenue. As near as she and her descendants can figure out, she is now between 103 and 105 years of age. She lives with her youngest son, who is now nearly seventy-five years of age.

Mrs. Schultzing was born in a village in Germany, near Berlin, but the exact year she does not remember. She has a small silver ring, given her when she was a child, and it has engraved upon it "1790." The figures are almost illegible, and a word which is in front of them has been entirely rubbed out.

Mrs. Schultzing was married in 1812 and came to America fifty-nine years ago. During her married life she had seventeen children.—New York Times.

An Interesting Suit.

A cure of Les Aubiers established a sort of clerical table d'hôte for those wishing to take communion. Whoever desired to communicate had to dine and pay. Three young women resisted the charge, and upon being refused communion their fathers appeared to the court, which decided in their favor, and they followed this up by an action against the cure for damages for refusing to officiate when requested. The cure was condemned to pay an indemnity of 125 francs to each of the fathers.—New York Sun.

Shipping Trade Is Dull.

It was lately quoted in British shipping circles, as a proof of the depression affecting the shipping trade that, a splendid four masted iron bark of 2,000 tons register, owned on the Clyde, came into port from Australia in ballast, was unable to get a cargo, and sailed back for the antipodes again with the same ballast she brought with her.

Wooed with Hypnotic Power.

What promises to be a very interesting story was brought to light by the filing of a bill in circuit court No. 2 to annul the marriage of Miss Drucilla Wolf, the pretty little thirteen-year-old daughter of Mr. William N. Wolf, and George Flack. Flack is about eighteen years old. He and Drucilla have known each other for years, and the father of the girl alleges in the bill that for at least six months prior to the marriage he exercised an almost hypnotic influence over her.

The two young people took a walk together on the evening of Aug. 23, and they went to the house of the Rev. Mr. F. B. Rice, the pastor of Union Square church, at the corner of Lombard and Calhoun streets, where they were married. It is claimed that Flack had already procured a license, and Mr. Wolf, the father of the girl, alleges that it was done through fraud and perjury, the young husband having made oath that he was twenty-two years old, and that his prospective bride was over eighteen years old. As soon as the ceremony was performed, it is alleged that the girl returned to the home of her parents, and has remained with them ever since. Flack, it is alleged, has never contributed anything to her support.

The father alleges that the husband of his daughter has acquired such control over her that when in his presence she will do anything that he orders. This influence, he says, was used when he compelled her to marry him.—Baltimore Herald.

Their Coming Heralded.

Two trunks arrived at the Union depot yesterday which were curiosities. They came in on the Burlington from St. Joseph. One bore the address "R. J. Rowe, No. 3936 Washington avenue, St. Louis," and the other had the same address and the word "Bride" painted on it in large letters. Wrapped about the trunks were about sixty yards of white satin ribbon, while here and there was a dainty bow, which indicated plainly that one or more women had helped perpetrate the joke—for joke it was.

It seems that Mr. Rowe, who is a clerk in the Burlington's St. Louis offices, was married at St. Joseph Tuesday to a beautiful girl. They left for St. Louis via Kansas City, and bid their many friends goodbye at the St. Joseph depot. But the friends wanted some fun, and took the Burlington's "Elm" for Cameron, where they met the Kansas City train. Part of the delegation, which consisted of nearly fifty people, entered the Pullman coach, and pelted Mr. and Mrs. Rowe with rice and old shoes, to the delight of the passengers and the chagrin of the young couple. The other half of the delegation spotted the trunks as they were being transferred, and in addition to putting on the sixty yards of ribbon, nailed on four horseshoes and a dozen old shoes. The trunks attracted the attention of thousands at the depot.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Influence of the Cholera.

Many of the fashionable dressmakers in this city and Brooklyn have sent pretty little circulars to their customers setting forth that all of their fall and winter dress goods and trimmings were brought over on steamships which carried no immigrants. In several other branches of business concessions are made to the cholera scare. "We sell no tenement made cigars" is a notice posted in a downtown tobacco shop. "This water has been distilled" is the label on the water coolers in several of the restaurants and cafes, and a Bowery saloon keeper has put out a big placard which informs the thirsty passersby that "there are no cholera germs in our beer." For the past week or two industrious peddlers have scoured the downtown business localities selling small leather medicine cases. Each case contains a dozen doses of "cholera cure," with printed instructions how to take them.—New York Times.

Jade Head in an Ancient Grave.

In an ancient grave at Gignac (Herauld) M. de Lepouge has found a finely carved human head of jade, representing a type of the great yellow skinned race or races. It is religious in character, and is evidently from China or Japan. M. Sindho regards it as a Japanese work made from a Hindoo or Singhalese model of Buddha, a little before the Christian era, while M. de Millone considers it a head of Kouan Yin, a Chinese deity, and M. de Rosny thinks it a head of Mayadevi, mother of Gautama, the founder of Buddhism. It is supposed to have been worn as an amulet around the neck of a Hunnic or Gothic chief. The graves at Gignac are probably those of a settlement of the West Goths.—London Globe.

Cabs in London.

Statistics recently compiled in London show that the number of cabs, both four wheeled and hansom cabs, is diminishing. This is probably due to the extension of street car routes and democratic ideas. During the last twelve months there were 3,689 four wheeled cabs licensed, as against 3,921 the year previous. There are over 7,000 hansoms in the city, but their number is also diminishing, though not so rapidly.—London Letter.

Love Is Blind.

A marriage of more than ordinary interest took place in Golden City. The parties were both blind and their romantic engagement extended over a period of seven years before their patient hopes were realized.—Kansas City Journal.

A Knoxville (Tenn.) liveryman fell off a bridge Sunday and landed on a pile of rocks, a distance of fifty feet, while intoxicated. He escaped without injury, but got mad because his watch case was broken.

An inmate of the Bates county (Mo.) poorhouse died lately whose head was three feet in circumference and the weight of his brain was said to be 144 ounces.

By Hood's Sarsaparilla—Blood Poisoned by Canker.

Read the following from a grateful mother: "My little boy had Scarlet Fever when 4 years old, and it left him very weak and with blood poisoned with canker. His eyes became so inflamed that his sufferings were intense, and for seven weeks he Could Not Open His Eyes. I took him twice during that time to the Eye and Ear Infirmary on Charles street, but their remedies failed to do him the faintest shadow of good. I commenced giving him Hood's Sarsaparilla and it soon cured him. I have never doubted that it saved his sight, even if not his very life. You may use this testimonial in any way you choose. is by no means so general as one might expect. Many folks eat from habit, others as a matter of duty, while the poor dyspeptic sustains himself mostly on the contemplation of what he cannot eat at all.

The healthfulness of food is almost altogether a matter of preparation. The difference between food cooked with the new health food

Pumpkin Pie.

When melancholy days come round and leaves get brown and red, When corn is shocked, and when you add a blanket to your bed, When apples, pared and quartered, are set in the sun to dry, This is the time you smack your lips and think of pumpkin pie.

This pumpkin pie's a tempting dish to almost any fellow. So sweet and tender, luscious (yum!) and then, withal, so yellow. You stir up eggs and milk and spice and sugar—oh, my eye!—And then you add the pumpkin, and that makes the pumpkin pie. —Brandon Banner.

An Ostrich Amazes Africans.

News has just reached Liverpool of the arrival at Sierra Leone, West Africa, of a remarkable specimen of the ostrich tribe, which the people of that colony have seen for the first time. The ostrich, which is ten feet high, has come from central Africa, and walked a distance of at least 600 miles to the British colony. The bird was sent by the great Mohammedan chief, Alimamy Samadou, to Mr. Alfred L. Jones, of Liverpool, who has the coaling establishment at Sierra Leone. It came down with a caravan of the Alimamy's headmen and traders, who arrived in the British settlement with their produce, ivory, gold, &c.

It is a most unusual circumstance for an ostrich to be found in central Africa, and when it reached Sierra Leone the whole population turned out to see it. The traffic of the streets was stopped, and the governor had to send a special company of native police to escort it to the Sierra Leone Coaling company's premises. As the Alimamy Samadou is a great Mohammedan, it is thought that the bird may be regarded in some religious connection.

Knowing the great reverence the Alimamy has for Queen Victoria and the English people, it is the intention of Mr. Jones to offer the bird to her majesty as a present from the great Mohammedan chief. The ostrich, it is said, will be sent over by the next African steamer to Liverpool.—London Standard.

A Scotch Tenant's Grievances.

Mr. Hope Johnstone, of Annandale, who owns one of the largest estates in the south of Scotland, has raised an action in the Dumfries sheriff's court against one of his hill tenants which is exciting great interest in the north. Mr. Hope Johnstone sues the tenant for payment of the last half year's rent amounting to £425.

The tenant pleads that he is entitled to retain the sum due because the landlord has violated the agreement concerning the burning of heather, with the object of providing additional cover for game, the result bearing that the tenant's sheep had no young heather to eat.

He also pleads that he has suffered severe losses in consequence of the landlord's keepers having killed down weasels, hawks, owls and smaller birds, owing to which there has been a plague of voles, which have eaten up the pastures. The case is regarded throughout Scotland as a test action, and if the tenant is the winner, then landlords who sacrifice everything to the preservation of game are likely to have a bad time of it.—London Truth.

A New Lumber Saw.

The introduction of a new saw for lumber is to be noted—an upright implement, thin like a bandsaw and having direct steam attachment, at each end of it a steam cylinder, each of which has but a single steam port. The upper piston draws the saw and the lower piston up and the upper piston draws the saw and the upper piston down, each piston drawing the saw, but neither of them pushing it, this causing the saw at all times to be rigid, so that a very thin saw can be employed.

Below the lower cylinder are a heavy pair of balance wheels, these giving a steady as well as uniform motion to the saw, and to these balance wheels are connected a pair of rods, the upper ends of which connect with a knuckle joint at the lower end of the saw, thus throwing the lower end of the saw out as it is going up and against the log as it is coming down. The log carriage is operated by the same engine that runs the saw.—New York Sun.

Electrician Revived from Death.

A curious accident has happened at Konigsberg to a workman employed at the town electrical works. He was occupied in fastening some of the conducting wires, when his head must have come in contact with some of the upper wires. He received such a shock that he fell senseless among the net of conductors, and instinctively held on with his hands. They remained hanging so fast that later on they had to be torn loose.

His companions believed that he was already dead when they released him, but a doctor who was called succeeded in bringing him back to life. The flesh of the man's left hand was entirely burned off, and he had received injuries on his face, but it is believed that they will not be fatal.—London News.

Hauled Out the Fish by Horsepower.

A gentleman who resides in Bolivar reports that a large sawfish was captured a few days ago near Rollover which measured 18 feet in length, 3 feet 8 inches length of saw, 6 feet wide and 2 feet thick from dorsal to ventral fin. It got inside the bar that runs parallel with the peninsula, and not being able to get out was caught, and after being made fast with a hawser it took two horses and four men to pull the fish ashore.—Galveston News.

Treasury department statistics for the year ended with June 30, 1892, showed that our country exported nearly three times as much wheat as it did during the previous year—in round numbers 150,000,000 bushels in place of 50,000,000.

A child born at Waucoma, Ia., on the 13th of September has a smooth, round hole in its back near where the points of the shoulder blades come together, through which the action of the lungs can be plainly observed.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS.

BOSTON THEATRE.—Last Monday evening Manager Tompkins presented the great spectacular production of "Babes in the Wood" at the Boston Theatre. Mr. Tompkins has presented a greater number of big scenic productions than any other manager in the country. He is energetic, progressive, original and daring, and the cost of a production has ever been with him a secondary consideration. It is claimed that "Babes in the Wood" will be the most costly and most beautiful of all the Tompkins productions. The principal features consist of: grand ballet of international insects, grand ballet of the dream of the babes and grand ballet of popular airs; Nina Patti En L'air and her pupils; from the Casino, Paris, in a French quadrille; Shakespearian pageant, introducing the familiar characters and characters; the harlequinade, introducing George Melville as the clown, and a grand transformation scene. Gorgeous scenic effects, beautiful tableaux, magnificent costumes, new European specialties, novelties of home manufacture, elaborate scenic sets, mechanical surprises, and other burlesque, pantomime, farce-comedy, opera and variety, with clever men and beautiful and shapely women, will make a combination the public will find it difficult to resist.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Few leaders in the dramatic profession are better known in Boston or vicinity than Charles T. Ellis, the sweet and popular German dialect comedian. Mr. Ellis comes to the Grand Opera House next week and on this occasion will introduce his new comedy drama, "Count Casper." The piece has made a decided hit wherever presented this season. It is more of a comedy than a drama, yet there is a plot, which is a good deal more than can be said of the average comedy. The comedy has a freshness about it and it affords his art as an actor and to sing his songs, all of which are new this season and written expressly for him. Included in the songs which Mr. Ellis will sing are "Have a Bouquet with me," "How I Love the Babies," "Up and Down," "The Sweetest Rose of all," "The Old-fashioned Home," "Playing Pony with Casper," and "Oh, Phillip Schneider." There are two bright children, Florrie

O'Brien and baby Mattie Grier, included in the cast, which has been chosen with good judgment and with an eye to have people who are justly qualified for the parts. "Count Casper" is sure to draw largehouses to the Opera House.

COLUMBIA THEATRE.—Lottie Collins, the much advertised and long anticipated "Ta-ra-ra-boom-de-ay" dancer, will make her first appearance in Boston at the Columbia Theatre on next Monday evening, when she will dance her original conception of the popular melody between the second and third acts of that amusing comedy, "The Family Circle." The cast of Augustus Thomas' new play, "Surrender," to be produced for the first time on any stage at the Columbia Theatre, Nov. 21 has been completed. The players engaged in the production will be Louis Aldrich, W. H. Groomston, Burr McIntosh, Clement Bainbridge, Robert Ayling, Henry Woodruff, Alf Loman, Charles Green, Frank Cummings H. D. Blakemore and Rose Eytling, Myriam O'Leary, Maud Banks, Elaine Elison, Florence Robertson and Kate Busley. "Surrender" will be produced under the stage direction of E. W. Presbrey, who has been for years the stage manager of A. M. Palmer's stock company.

BOWDOIN SQUARE THEATRE.—Evans and Hoey, with their rejuvenated "A Parlor Match," have been playing to the capacity of the Bowdoin Square Theatre and remain one week longer, beginning on Monday evening. "The Man Who Broke the Bank at Monte Carlo" as sung by Mr. Hoey, is far the best thing heard this season. Those who enjoy innocent amusement will view him with delight as he walks off with a grand piano in his arms. Evans and Hoey are assisted by that clever little lady, Minnie French, and a company of 23 people. Italian and Hart follow Nov. 21, with their new play, "The Idea," which is said to have made a great Western success. In the company is Mollie Fuller, Al Wilson, John E. McWade and others.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE.—Since the reign of farce-comedy was inaugurated there probably never has been gathered together a stronger company both in point of numbers and talent than that headed by Messrs. Charlie Reed and Willie Collier, and which will present at the Hollis Street Theatre next Monday, the latest, and undoubtedly one of the greatest of farce-comedy successes, "Hoss and Hoss." Ever since farce-comedy became popular both Mr. Reed and Mr. Collier have been considered by managers as great "catches," and when Manager Smith announced the combination of the names of nineteen especially clever people who were to support them, the verdict of the professional people in New York was that it would be the strongest farce-comedy organization that would take the road, and its magnificent success has verified the prediction. Following Reed and Collier comes E. H. Sothern, supported by Miss Virginia Harber, with his new play, "Capt. Lettrelair."

Found Dead.

Last evening a person giving the name of G. R. Thompson registered at Hunt's Hotel, and desired to be called in season to take the 12 p. m. train for Chicago. Being unable to awaken him, the room was entered by means of the key, and the door, which the gentleman was found to be dead. He was advertising agent for Sulphur Bitters, which has an extensive sale. The coroner returned a verdict of death from heart disease. His body will be sent east immediately.—Cin. Commercial.

The Advertising.

Of Hood's Sarsaparilla is always within the bounds of reason because it is true; it always appeals to the sober, common sense of thinking people because it is true; and it is always fully substantiated by endorsements which, in the financial world, would be accepted without a moment's hesitation.

For a general family cathartic we confidently recommend Hood's Pills.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me." H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"The use of 'Castoria' is so universal and its merits so well known that it seems a work of supererogation to endorse it. Few are the intelligent families who do not keep Castoria within easy reach." CARLOS MARTY, D. D., New York City. Late Pastor Bloomingdale Reformed Church.

"For several years I have recommended your 'Castoria,' and shall always continue to do so as it has invariably produced beneficial results." EDWIN F. PARKER, M. D., "The Winthrop," 125th Street and 7th Ave., New York City.

Elys Cream Balm For CATARRH THE POSITIVE CURE.

ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren St., New York. Price 50 cts.

Catarrh, Not Local, But Constitutional.

Dr. Dio Lewis, the eminent Boston physician, in a magazine article says: "A radical error catarrh. It is not a disease of the man's nose; it is a disease of the man, showing itself in the trouble." Therefore, he argues, the use of snuff and other local applications is wrong, and while they seem to give temporary relief, they really do more harm than good. Other leading authorities agree with Dr. Lewis. Hence, the only proper method of cure for catarrh is by taking a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, reaching every part of the body through the blood, does eliminate all impurities and makes the whole man healthier. It removes the cause of the trouble and restores the diseased membrane to proper condition. That this is the practical result is proven by thousands of people who have been cured of catarrh by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

No flowery rhetoric can tell the merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla as well as the cures accomplished by this excellent medicine.

PASTOR KOENIG'S NERVE TONIC

The Best Remedy in this world, says J. H. Hoffer of Syracuse, N. Y., is Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic, because my son, who was partially paralyzed three years ago and attacked by fits, has not had any symptoms of them since he took one bottle of the remedy. I most heartily thank for it.

Nervous Prostration, Sleeplessness, and Weakness.

West Broughton, Quebec, Oct. 1, 90. The Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic I ordered was for a young lady of my household, who was almost useless to herself and others, owing to nervous prostration, sleeplessness, weakness, &c., &c. 10-day there is quite a change. The young person is much better, stronger, and less nervous. She will continue to use your medicine. I think it is very good.

—Mr. J. W. Work has returned from the west with his health much improved.
—Mr. W. H. Smith and Mrs. Harrison have taken rooms at the Pelham house.
—Mr. and Mrs. Frost of New Hampshire are the guests of their son, Mr. Thomas R. Frost.
—The first of this season's dances will be held Tuesday evening at the Oak Hill schoolhouse.
—The B. & A. bridges on Institution Avenue and on Parker street have been re-laid with new planks.
—Representative Dwight Chester received the largest individual vote in the city on election day.
—Prof Wadsworth has removed his family to Rockland, Mass., where his present pastorate is located.
—Mr. C. A. Vinal and family are occupying the fine new residence just completed for them on Kernwood avenue.
—Mr. S. V. Hunter has the cellar completed for a new house which is about to be erected on his land on Lake avenue.
—The sewer trench on Centre street near the Catholic church was filled so loosely that after the rain a couple of teams were partially wrecked there.
—Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Anderson, who have been stopping at Rev. Dr. Mills on Gibbs street, have taken and are occupying a house on Beacon street.
—The work of the highway department on Warren street has been completed and the street is in excellent condition, having been macadamized its entire length.
—The Ellisha Bassett house on Parker street, recently purchased by Mr. Chase, is undergoing extensive alterations. The house is to be almost wholly remodelled.
—One of Howard Deal's horses was quite badly injured on Centre street yesterday morning by the caving in of the sewer filling. The horse was badly cut and bruised.
—The Unitarian Society still holds its services in Associates small hall, Sunday afternoon at 3.45 o'clock. Next Sunday Mr. Bowser will preach on "The Victory of Good over Evil."
—Following is the list of letters remaining in the postoffice: T. Carney, Mrs. Callahan, 2 Mrs. Haley, care Mrs. Taylor, Manuel C. Mann, 3 Miss Sarah Markham, Miss Edith Page.
—E. B. Darrell, as a result of Cleveland's election to the presidency, received a wheelbarrow ride this week. W. B. Monroe, the defeated candidate, wheeling him nearly a mile through the public streets.
—Mr. Dickens has purchased this week out of the surplus money collected for the school flag, a handsome engraving of Columbus before the Court of Spain. The engraving has been presented to the Oak Hill school.
—Mrs. H. B. Smith of Summer street has returned from her sea voyage to Japan. She accompanied her daughter, Mrs. Garland, as far as Boston, where she is on from there to her present missionary home in India.
—George H., son of Mr. H. E. Chapman of the Institution, received third prize offered by Wells, Richardson & Co., Burlington, Vt., for the prettiest baby using their food. Over six hundred competed and only eight received prizes.
—Crystal Lake division, Sons of Temperance, held a successful basket party in White's Hall, last evening, and the well filled baskets found many purchasers among the gentlemen. After disposing of their contents dancing was enjoyed for several hours.
—The first social of "Market Gardeners" will be held at Oak Hill hall, Tuesday evening, November 15th. Tickets can be obtained of H. C. Esty and M. Ware. Mr. Frost will run a barge to the hall, starting from Woodman's house at 5 p.m. All are cordially invited and a good time is assured.
—The Calendar Fest to be held Nov. 15, 16 and 17 promises to be the most unique entertainment ever given in this village. The twelve months are to be represented by as many tables, each decorated with goods displayed on each table harmonizing with the month represented. June will have its bower of roses, February its Valentine postoffice, and December its Christmas stockings. A valuable Loan which includes an exquisite Madonna, will be an attractive feature to all lovers of art, and the "Merry-go-round," and "Old Woman in the Shoe," cannot fail to please the children. The rising talent of Newton will be present and do its part. Miss Alice Reed will be heard in two of her choicest selections and the high school orchestra and a double quartet of young ladies from the Baptist church will furnish the music. During the first evening groupings of classic statuary displayed by calcium light will be given by young ladies from the Highlands. Bouillon, salads and ices will be served in the refreshment room. Brief remarks are expected the opening night by prominent citizens of Newton. The "Statuesque Grouping" at the Calendar Fest is to be under the direction of Miss E. Fannie Love, Newton Highlands.
—The torchlight parade took place on Monday evening, but the weather and mud kept many of the battalions expected, away, those from Newton and Auburndale being the only visitors present. The line of march was through Institution avenue, Station street, Beacon street, Summer street, Ward street, Centre street, Beacon street, Laurel street, Lake avenue, Crescent avenue, Centre street to the square where they disbanded. The residents along the route were very generous in display and nearly every house was illuminated, many having strings of Japanese lanterns suspended from the house or about the lawns, and several of the stores, notably those of Mr. Noble, Mr. Williams, Mr. Woodman, W. A. Parks & Co. and Mr. Knapp being illuminated and decorated. Residents of Parker street and Ridge avenue, where the procession failed to go as advertised, illuminated very generally and were greatly disappointed in not seeing them, but the enthusiasm was so small that the ranks were badly broken before half the route had been covered, and the Newton Centre battalion was the only one to finish the march at the square, both Newton and Auburndale breaking up before it was reached. The result of the torchlight was naturally disappointing but coming so close to election time could hardly be otherwise.

—The generally quiet streets of this city were the scene Monday evening of unusual activity. In Nonantum square upwards of 3000 people assembled, and there remained during the firing of 25 rounds from a 12-pounder in honor of the election of the Democratic national ticket and the re-election in this state of Gov. Russell. Similar salutes were given in the public squares in Newtonville and West Newton, and on the summit of Waban hill. Four 12-pounders and a detachment of battery A, Boston, were utilized for the several salutes. Many of the stores and residences were illuminated, and the Democracy was out to rejoice to the full over the success of favored candidates. The details of the affair were in charge of the Newton Cleveland and Russell Club, and the moving spirit in fact, the man who suggested the demonstration, was Maj. W. F. Lawrence of West Newton.

—On Monday evening the members of the executive committee of the Newton club and their ladies, tendered Mr. William J.
Follett, Chairman, a complimentary dinner
in appreciation of his services in the cause of building the new club house. Covers

NEWTON CLUB HOUSE OPENED.

A Brilliant Assembly Gathers in the New Building.

GOV. RUSSELL AND HIS STAFF AMONG THE DISTINGUISHED GUESTS.

The formal opening of the new home
of the Newton Club, Wednesday night, was the most brilliant social affair ever held in Newton, and no event of recent years has been looked forward to with more interest.

The new clubhouse was thronged with guests, and from 5 until 10:30 o'clock a continuous stream of fashionably attired men and women wended their way from the elegantly furnished parlors on the first floor to the assembly hall and thence to the grand dining hall in the second story.

The receiving party, comprising Hon.
and Mrs. Hermon E. Hibbard, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel L. Powers and Mr. and Mrs.
W. J. Follett stood on the west side of the assembly hall, in front of a bank of palms and dracaenas, and under a large cornucopia of cherry and white chrysanthemums, representing the club colors.
On the stage in the rear of the receiving party the musicians were stationed, screened from the audience room by a grouping of tall palms and foliage plants.
A beautiful French plate mirror above
the stage was tastefully festooned with asparagus vine, knotted here and there with small bunches of cherry and white chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Hibbard was gowned in gray faille with trimmings of yellow ostrich feathers. Mrs. Follett wore a white broad-caded silk, striped with Nile green and velvet. Mrs. Powers was gowned in yellow corded silk and yellow crepe de chine with passementerie trimmings.

To the right of the receiving party members of Gov. Russell's staff were stationed, comprising Gen. Samuel Dalton, Col. J. L. Carter, Col. H. E. Russell, Col. J. H. Cunningham and Col. F. B.
Bogart. Other distinguished guests were given a position of honor near the Governor's staff.

The guests were escorted to the assembly hall by a staff of sixty ushers, directed by Mr. George B. Jones, chief marshal. His aids were William H.
Coolidge, assembly hall division; Charles
S. Dennison, lower hall division; J. L.
Richards, banquet hall division.

The guests were formally presented to the receiving party by the reception committee, comprising Messrs. Charles S.
Keene, Herbert D. Kingsbury, William F.
Hawley, Frederick Johnson, Winfield S.
Slocum, William H. Young, William F.
Lunt, Henry A. Priest, Henry H. Seaver,
George T. Coppins, Albert C. Warren, A.
D. Stephenson, Charles T. Palsifer.

During the reception a very enjoyable program of instrumental and vocal selections was rendered by the Germania orchestra and Newton Club glee singers.

The contrasting colors of the interior were rendered more beautiful by the gleam reflected from many incandescent lights set in handsome chandeliers of polished brass, some with very pretty colored glass effect. Add to this the presence of many lovely women and the color of exquisite gowns of every shade and rich material, and the scene seemed like a rare picture, bright with artistic lines and shades, and having the substantial form of life and activity.

Among the many handsome costumes
among the ladies were noticed the following:

Mrs. W. F. Dearborn, black dotted Brussels lace.

Mrs. E. S. Merchant of West Newton, ashes of roses with trimmings of gold galoon.

Mrs. W. F. Lunt, ciel blue satin brocade with yellow, wateau train, edged with slashed puff, trimmings of silver.

Mrs. Samuel W. French, cream satin merveilleux, pearl trimmings and corsage bouquet of Catherine Mermet roses.

Mrs. Robert G. Bridgman, white brocade satia, with court train of white gros grain, corsage edged with Mechlin lace;
bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

Mrs. John Fenne, pearl gray and pink brocade rhadame, aigrette of pink tips.

Mrs. W. H. Coolidge, canary broche satia, with trimmings of Catherine Mer-met roses.

Mrs. Charles Adams, white mousseline, de sole over silk slip, garnitured with gold.

Mrs. A. Q. Cole, empire gown of white satia with trimmings of garnet velvet.

Mrs. H. D. Kingsbury, pink lavender satia duchesse, with lace trimmings.

Mrs. D. B. Harding, pale gray crepe de chine embroidered in self-color.

Mrs. J. B. Fuller, Nile green broche satia, low cut corsage, with bertha of white lace; diamond ornaments.

Mrs. B. E. Taylor, gray china silk, trimmed with gray velvet.

Mrs. Henry M. Baker of Auburndale, pale gray gros grain, with pink ribbon trimmings.

Miss Myra Upton, pale gray cashmere,
with trimmings of crepe de chine.

Mrs. Lillian M. Baker, pale blue crepe, en traine, low cut corsage, edged with blue forget-me-nots.

Mrs. Arthur Veasey of Haverhill, canary crepe garnitured with yellow hyacinths, low cut corsage.

Miss Ratsey, Auburndale, white embroidered brussels net over gray silk

THE COTTAGE HOSPITAL.

TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS WANTED FROM HOSPITAL SUNDAY COLLECTIONS.

The finance committee of the Newton Cottage Hospital find it necessary to ask for a contribution of $10,000 from the churches of our city, on the coming Hospital Sunday, Nov. 20th. This amount may seem very large, being more than twice what has ever been given any year before, through the churches, but the great growth of the Hospital, and the need of enlarging the present accommodations, call for greatly increased gifts from the generous people who have thus far given their support to this excellent institution. It is suggested that with prompt and earnest effort, the usual contributions should be doubled, and in almost any congregation, and especially if the people are made aware of the pressing demands for Hospital treatment.
The city is growing in population, and the institution has earned for itself an excellent reputation. We cannot complain that so many sufferers desire to receive its benefits, but should gladly do our part for their relief. Each year the number of patients cared for has constantly increased. At the present time, every bed in the two main wards is occupied, and four patients have to be accommodated on lounges. We do not desire to turn any away from its doors, nor will it be creditable to us to diminish
our work for the lack of means.

The expenditures now exceed $1000 per month, aside from enlargements and repairs, and are likely to run beyond that sum this year, with all the economy we can practise. The people of Newton have nobly sustained the work the Hospital has already done, and we look with confidence for a continuance of this liberal support, both through the churches and individual subscriptions.

EDMOND W. CONVERSE,
JUNIOR, Secretary.

MRS. M. L. BACON, Finance

MRS. ALVAH HOVEY, Committee.

LUCIUS G. PRATT.

SOME FACTS ABOUT OUR HOSPITAL.

The building was opened June 5, 1886.
Up to the present date, Nov. 8, 1892, it has admitted 1123 patients, being an average of 172 per year for the six and one half years of its work. The number last year nearly reached 300. This year the number will be fully 350. The entire cost of land, buildings, furniture and equipments to this date is about $50,000.

The current expenses have been in round numbers as follows:

1886, six months, $1889

1887, one full year 5579

1888, " " 6150

1889, " " 7900

1890, " " 9945

1891, " " 12,290

1892, " " 12,290

Thus we have reached the period when we require more than $1000 per month to pay our bills.

The contributions on Hospital Sunday
have been as follows:

In 1885, $1048

1886, 1522

1887, 1594

1888, 2250

1889, 2321

1890, 3537

1891, 3742

The amount each year has been larger than the preceding. Now the finance committee, in view of the growth of the institution and the need of improvements in different directions, ask for $10,000 from the Newton churches.

HOW HELP CAN BE GIVEN.

1. By an offering on Hospital Sunday,
Nov. 20, in cash or by check or subscription.

2. By becoming responsible for a free bed for a year, $300. You then designate the patients who occupy it.

3. By pledging $500 for a permanent free bed to be called by your name or to be made a memorial of a

CITY GOVERNMENT.

AN APPROPRIATION BUDGET OF $771,306,
AN INCREASE OF $80,500.

The common council met Monday evening in City Hall, West Newton, with President Roffe in the chair, and Councilmen Downs and Lunt absent.

The records were read and approved.

AUBURNDALE PARK.

A hearing was held on the petition of the Auburndale Village Improvement Society for a park and playground on the Charles River, Mr. Geo. M. Fiske appearing for the society.

He showed a plan of the section desired, the total cost of which would be about $8450, of which they wished the city to pay one half. Definite figures have been secured in writing and the plan which seemed most desirable at present was to purchase thirty of the thirty-seven acres, the remaining seven it being necessary to take under the land act, bringing the cost down to $8000, which would only require an appropriation of $4075. The citizens of Auburndale have subscribed nearly this amount and the society were anxious to have the matter settled as it was indefinite how long the owners of the land would hold it for the city.

At the conclusion of the hearing a long list of business from the aldermen was passed in concurrence.

CITY EMPLOYEES.

Councilman Knapp presented a petition from Thomas B. Hart and others requesting that city employees after Jan. 1, 1893, receive $2 per day.

Hiram G. and Mary Tucker notified the council not to award damages of certain land on Waban hill without their consent, because of their interest in said land.

Petitions were received from Owen Gallagher for street light on Crescent street near California street, from H. W. Downs and others for three street lights on Newtonville avenue between Summit and Harvard streets.

Various notices of sewer apportionments on Walnut and other streets, Ward Two, were received.

SIDEWALK ORDINANCE.

Councilman Bothfield reported for the committee on conference to whom was referred the ordinance relative to the removal of snow from the sidewalks. It was a majority report and asked that the previous act of the council be reconsidered.

The report was accepted and Mr. Bothfield moved reconsideration of the previous vote relative to the ordinance, which required abutters residing within a radius of seven-sixteenths of a mile from the B. & A. station at Newton and within three-eighths of a mile from stations of said road in Newtonville and West Newton, to keep the sidewalks clear of snow.

The motion prevailed.

A motion was then made to substitute the following regarding the territory included: Seven sixteenths of a mile from the B. & A. depot, Newton, three-eighths of a mile from the B. & A. stations in Newtonville, West Newton, Auburndale and Newton Centre, five sixteenths of a mile from the station at Newton Highlands, one-fourth of a mile from stations at Riverside, Waban and Eliot, from house corner Bridge and Water street, Nonantum, from house corner number six, Upper Falls, from Prospect school house, Upper Falls, and three-eighths of a mile from the Episcopal church, Chestnut hill.

President Roffe called Councilman Forknall to the chair and took the floor. He said the sentiment in Ward Six was very much opposed to the passing of such an ordinance. The general sentiment was that the city should assume the cost of cleaning the sidewalks and not place such a hardship upon land owners and citizens. He saw no objection to other sections of the city having such an ordinance if they so desired.

Councilman Moulton for Ward Five objected, as there were only a few houses on one side of the track and it would be a hardship to those people residing in that section.

Councilman Knapp from Ward Four was opposed to the ordinance in deference to public sentiment in that ward.

Councilman McGee considered it a hardship in such a place as Waban or Upper Falls, and the fact of so few and then only gravel sidewalks and the scattered houses made it additionally burdensome. The people were much opposed to it and he should vote against it.

Councilman Bothfield said if a section of the city desired an ordinance entailing no expense on the city he believed they should have it. Ward Seven wants the matter regulated, but they care not how it comes whether in one or more wards, but the committee of conference in their deliberations came to the conclusion that the ordinance proposed would be the best. Walking through the city after a snow storm at present there will be a long distance of neatly cleaned walk, and then will come an estate where no snow has been taken away other than by the plough, and it was to remedy these evils that the ordinance was prepared.

Councilman Degan saw no objection to one part of the city having such an ordinance with Newton's peculiar growth. He moved that the section relating to Ward Six be stricken out.

Councilman Knapp and Moulton moved the striking out of such of the ordinance as referred to Wards Four and Five, and Councilman Forknall that the section referring to a radii from the house corner, Nonantum, be omitted.

Councilman Bothfield said this left the ordinance in its original form, including Newton, Newtonville and West Newton and moved its passage to be enrolled.

APPROPRIATION BUDGET.

Councilman Bothfield for the finance committee reported the appropriation budget for 1893 as ready for consideration.

The council then went into committee of the whole, Councilman Forknall presiding.

Councilman Knapp said the recommendation of the finance committee amounted to $100,000 more than the total appropriation for last year, and he thought it very advisable to cut the figures down as low as possible.

It was voted to go through the expenditures for 1893 and check each item individually.

After the list had been checked through the first item taken up was for almshouse purposes.

Councilman Roffe, who passed the item, said the $300 increase was added for repairs but none were absolutely necessary, and the item was left at $4700, the same as last year. The next item considered was the increase of $200 on the salary of the clerk of assessors, and after a short discussion the item was reduced from $1100 to $1000.

The clerical assistance was increased from $1200 to $3000 and an explanation of the $1800 increase was asked for.

Councilman Moulton said the assessors' department had done a portion of the treasury work in their office this year, the salaries being paid from the treasury office. The work included the making out of tax bills, which were sent by mail, an additional expense, and to cover these expenses this increase had been made.

Councilman Knapp thought $1800 was an excessive increase for clerical assistance simply. It was sufficient to employ three good clerks the year round. He asked how many were employed in the assessors' office.

City Auditor Otis in answer said that five and six girls were kept busy for several months on the assessors' books, making out bills, the tax bills, etc. He thought there was no addition to the actual expense this year.

The estimate was reduced to $2500 and checked.

A new item appropriating $500 for a new horse, wagon and harness for the fire department was questioned by Councilman Weed.

Councilman Bennett said the team was needed for the assistant chief. The horse now used was driven 20 or 25 miles regularly, which was too much. The new wagon was needed to carry tools, wire and apparatus.

Councilman Roffe thought $500 was not needed for the purpose contemplated and thought a loaded express wagon would be an interference to the assistant in going to a fire. He thought a new horse might be procured and the carting done as it formerly has been. On Councilman Weed's motion the item was reduced to $300.

The $900 estimate for new fire alarm stations was challenged and Councilman Bennett in defence said that five new boxes were absolutely necessary, and this money would be but little more than needed for them with the chance of more being required before the end of the year.

GAMEWELL PRICES.

Councilman Roffe was opposed to paying $125 for a box when as good could be purchased for $82. The Gamewell Co. are able to pay out money to have their boxes used in preference to others in cities and towns, and the price of their boxes is kept up to a high standard and they must be able to sell the box at a much lower price if they can make money enough out of them to pay other cities using them. He believed if the money was placed in the hands of the councilmen the Gamewell box could be procured at a much less price, and if not he believed in buying the lower priced article when it did the work just as well.

A motion was made to reduce the expenditure to $500 and it was carried.

In the highway department on widening reconstruction and improvements the expenditure recommended was $21,350 or $2350 more than in 1892.

The items were taken up individually and attention was called to Hull street by Councilman Roffe, who thought it could wait another year and the $1500 against it was stricken out.

Councilman Forknall recommended that the money appropriated for California street be changed to Chapel street as the latter was much more travelled and repairs more necessary.

Three items for the improvement of Old street were as follows: Old street from Forest to Appleton street, $1740, from Mr. Staples' driveway to Forest street $1700 and from Fountain to Chestnut street $700.

Councilman Bothfield asked that the three items be considered together. He saw no reason why the money should be required on the street again in two years, and asked Councilman Staples which was the most necessary to be done of the two large items.

Councilman Staples said something more must be expended on the street soon to preserve what had already been done. It was necessary that both of the larger expenditures be made.

Councilman Green moved the striking out of the $700 item which was done.

The item expending $1000 on Beacon street, Waban, west from the railroad bridge, Councilman Knapp advised striking out as a matter that could wait.

These reductions brought the total figures of the original item down from $21,350 to $18,150.

The $9000 item for the completion of the Cheesecake brook improvements, Councilman Bothfield moved to strike out as an unnecessary expense this year.

CITY VS HOSPITAL.

The increased amount for the Newton Cottage Hospital from $3000 to $4000 brought out some interesting facts, but was finally allowed to rest as recommended.

Councilman Bothfield had heard the statement that $420 was the expense the city had incurred at the hospital the past year but did not know how true it was.

Councilman Knapp had also heard the same statement.

The only explanation of the increase was that the additional cases for the city had amounted to that.

The clerk was requested to read the report of the Hospital to Nathan Mosman, chairman of the overseers of the poor, and the expense there shown as due the hospital from the city from Jan. 1, 1892 to Oct. 1, 1892, was $492.13.

As no definite statement of the expenses embodied in the $4000 called for, could be secured, Councilman Bennett moved that $4000 be appropriated to the Newton Cottage Hospital under contract.

The appropriation for printing increased from $4000 to $4500 was reduced to $4,000, and the street light department expenditure was reduced from $35,000 recommended to $30,000 with an amendment to include the remaining $700 for inspection and not exceeding $1,000 for maintenance of certain lights every night.

The salary of the clerk of the common council was increased from $200 to $300 in consequence of a large amount of extra work.

The committee on the whole reported and the report was adopted by the common council, the total appropriation amounting to $771,306 an increase over the finance committee's estimate of $19,500. Last year's appropriation was $680,806 and the total increase is $80,500.

The council adjourned at 1:07 a. m. o'clock.

The Langford Plan.

To the editor of the GRAPHIC:

Much is said of deterioration of the value of property if this plan should be adopted. In our belief, Mr. Editor, if rightly managed, its adoption would work just the other way. But whatever plan is contemplated must be considered in reference to the only alternative, which if anything is done, will be the elevation scheme. We will therefore first take a glance at that.

An elevated earth wall is spoken of, from 12 to 20 feet high, 3 miles long, 45 feet or so level on the top and flared off 10 feet each side surmounted by freight and passenger cars 10 feet higher, running most all the time, through the three principal centres of Newton, never to be moved, with much increased noise as business increases. The elevation to be overcome in some way daily, by tens of thousands of both sexes and of all ages and circumstances, with baggage, probably causing much more loss of life than has ever occurred at the crossings, or as experience justifies the fear of.

Thoroughly looked into, Mr. Editor, Newton would never consent to this arrangement on any terms. And besides these objections, its adoption would in our belief involve a far greater loss of property than the Langford plan. For residence neither side would be worth as much even to the top of the highland on the south all the way.

We are not ourselves in favor of doing anything, except to call upon the Rail Road to sufficiently protect their crossings, in which is no difficulty at present, yet will suggest a plan that occurs to us in case the Langford plan should be adopted. From Newton to the Lower Falls crossing at West Newton, the land of citizens on Washington street, is but a narrow strip all the way. If the city of Newton should widen Washington street from the Corner to the Lower Falls crossing at West Newton, say 25 feet, which would be enough, and would be better on many accounts than 100 feet, Washington street would become a noble central avenue 65 feet wide going through and connecting the three great centres of the city, Newton, Newtonville and West Newton, costing little compared to the 100 feet boulevard talked of, and accomplishing a great deal more. This central Avenue would finally become the great mart for trade and handicraft, increasing value on both sides, and the owners who had sold the City the 25 feet to widen Washington street, would need and could buy the Rail Road land south of the crossing, and the operation would create actual demand for the Railroad land, in a way that would not diminish but increase its value and enrich the city in many other ways. We were not ourselves, however, in favor of doing anything about grade crossings for twenty years, except to require the Railroad to reasonably protect all in the city.

If the arrangement we suggest should take place the three great centres of the city, Newton, Newtonville and West Newton, would be connected by a noble central Avenue which would in due time become the great mart of trade and handicraft with quick and easy communication with all parts of the city and with the outside world.

PETITION TO CONGRESS FOR A GOVERNMENT ROAD DEPARTMENT.

Col. A. A. Pope of Boston has issued the following petition, which is to be circulated all over the country and sent to Congress:

To the honorable Senate and House of Representatives, in Congress assembled:

We, the undersigned, citizens of the United States, hereby most respectfully petition that there be founded in the city of Washington, in the District of Columbia, a road department, similar to the agricultural department, for the purpose of promoting knowledge in the art of constructing and maintaining roads, and we ask that in such department provision be made for teaching students so that they may become skilled road engineers.

In connection with this road department we request that there be established a permanent exhibit in which shall be shown sections of roads illustrating various methods of construction and also the best road materials and machinery.

We further petition that Congress appropriate funds sufficient to erect a building for the purpose of a comprehensive road exhibit.

Only Once Thoroughly.

It was nearing midnight and far off, rising above the smoky house-tops, the faint glow of roosters could be heard, as is their wont at this hour of the night.

The young man had been talking to the girl for ages, it seemed to her, and it was all of his devotion to her.

"Could you die for me," she asked, as she heard the chattering of a claret glass, like the echo of a distant bugle.

"A million times," he exclaimed with thrilling fervor.

"How nice of you," she twittered "but I shall never ask you a sacrifice. Do it only once, thoroughly, Mr. Smith, and you may have the other nine hundred and ninety-nine times for use elsewhere."

And for an instant he really thought he should.—Detroit Free Press.

THE MAYORALTY CONTEST.

SOME surprising results were announced
as the outcome of the Republican caucuses, surprising, that is, to those who have not known what was going on under the surface, and there are traces of the national campaign, which was to have been expected, the caucuses coming so soon after that election.

Wards One and Seven elected delegates who are said to favor ex-Alderman Samuel L. Powers for Mayor, thus introducing a new candidate into the contest.
Mr. Powers is a very popular gentleman socially, and one whom it is always a pleasure to meet. He made an excellent record in his service in the City Council some years ago, but he was defeated by Mayor Kimball, after one of the most exciting and acrimonious contests we have ever had in Newton. The ill-feeling aroused by that campaign has not yet subsided, and the success of his candidacy would be doubtful. He is at present the attorney for the New England Telephone company, which is not exactly popular in Newton, as its interests are so often in conflict with those of the citizens. Besides, many citizens of all parties are opposed to having anything of a political nature attached to the mayorality of Newton, and Mr. Powers has had aspirations for higher political honors and probably has them still.

The delegations from Wards Two,
Three and Four are unpledged, but said to be divided among Aldermen Fenno and Wilson and Mr. Powers, with praiseworthy inclinations to vote for the best man, irrespective of any outside considerations.

Ward Five is said to have three sure
for Alderman Harbach and two doubtful, and Ward Six is for him, giving him eight votes sure. It is not thought that he will receive a vote from the north side delegates, and he may as well be left out of the reckoning. The Republicans do not want to meet certain defeat, and their chances would be worse under Mr.
Harbach than under Mr. Powers, but we doubt if any betting man would take chances on the election of either.

The people of Newton do not want a political atmosphere around City Hall,
and the experience of the last two years shows the great importance of having a practical business man for Mayor, one who is bound by no pledges and handicapped by no political aspirations. They liked Mayor Hibbard's brusque way of dealing with the political "bosses" who wanted him to promise some substantial favors in return for their support. The story of the "boss" who visited him in his stable before his first election, and was given two minutes to escape before the future Mayor's dogs were let out, tickled everybody immensely. We want for our next Mayor a man who will treat
all the local "bosses" in like manner, and who will go into office entirely free from pledges of any kind, and who will not be afraid to put down all the little bosses who want a hand in city business in return for the more or less imaginary votes
they control.

If the Republican delegates really desire the good of the city, and to escape
all the confusion and scandal of a hotly contested election, they can do it by putting up some such man as Alderman Fenno, who is as good a Republican as Mr. Powers, but who is not an active politician, and as a large majority of the delegates are unpledged, they can do this and nominate a candidate who will be endorsed by the Citizens. With the great number of important measures before the city it is no time to make a mere partisan nomination for the office of Mayor, or to change the excellent policy pursued the past two years.

THE ALDERMEN.

The Republican caucuses Tuesday night brought out candidates for aldermen in all the wards, some of whom have a chance of being elected, and others who will have a hard fight.

In Ward One Councilman Forknall's boast that he had the caucus all fixed was shown to be well-founded, as Alderman Coffin was passed by and the delegates are said to be for Mr. Forknall.
The ward would be a loser by this change, as Alderman Coffin has been an excellent official, and the dropping of his name shows how little gratitude there is in politics. In the common council Mr. Forknall has been chiefly known as the great objector, and for standing in the way of legislation. It has generally been held, hitherto, that no one qualified for service in the board of aldermen, a man should have a direct personal interest in the prosperity of the city, as, if a man is a large taxpayer, he is naturally more conservative, and also more quick to see what will be for the interest of the city.

As Alderman Coffin has always acted with the Republican party in city affairs, the Citizens could hardly be expected to take him up, but his friends are not disposed to let such a marked slight pass without rebuke, and Mr. D. R. Emerson, who will probably stand against Mr.
Forknall, is certain to be elected, and the addition of such a man to the board would help to give people confidence in the wisdom of its deliberations.

In Ward Two the Republican candidate is likely to be Mr. Henry F. Ross, and this would be an excellent selection.
Mr. Ross has had experience in city affairs, he is actively engaged in building up Newton, and he is a very outspoken man, whose presence would give animation to the proceedings.

In Ward Three Alderman Wilson is certain of a renomination unless the mayorality lightning strikes him, and a man of his practical business qualifications is needed in city affairs.

In Ward Five, Alderman Sprague will probably be renominated if he desires it, and in case of his refusal there are a number of candidates mentioned, among them W. B. Atherton, who has had a good deal of experience in city affairs.

In Ward Five the caucus surprised everybody by putting up Councilman Moulton instead of Councilman McGee, the reason for which is said to be that the latter has declared that Alderman Harbach could never be elected mayor, but Mr. McGee's friends in Waban and Upper Falls are up in arms already. Mr.
McGee is one of the most active workers in Ward Five, and the attempt to bottle him up will probably be entirely futile.
He will be nominated, and he is not accustomed to be beaten in anything he undertakes.

In Ward Six Councilman Roffe and in Ward Seven Councilman Bothwell will probably have the nominations of both parties as they are both excellent men for the office.

From the above it will be seen that there will be several contests, with the chances against the Republican nominees, and it is doubtful whether even the delegates to the convention will vote
their own ticket, if the plans at the caucses are carried out. In city affairs it is the best men who win, and the voters pay little attention to any bargains the political managers may have made.

THE candidates for the Common Council nominated by the Republican caucuses are Messrs. Hugh Campbell and Wellinton Howes from Ward One, an unusually strong combination. In Ward Two Coun-cillman Green is re-nominated and a new candidate put up, Mr. A. Q. Cole. In Ward Three and Four, the present representatives, Messrs. Bennett and Staples, and Knapp and Jordan are renominated. Ward Five puts up two new men, Messrs. Lyman P. Ross, and Fred
A. Turner. Ward Six re-nominates
Councilman Degen and substitutes Mr.
J. W. Parker for Councilman Roffe, who is to be promoted. Ward Seven re-nominates Councilman Weed and substitutes Mr. Henry Tolman for Councilman Bothwell, who will be the next alderman from this ward. It is too early yet to say who will be elected to the lower branch, as there are likely to be lively contests in some of the wards.

THE appropriation bill for the coming year was considered in the Common Council, Monday night, and an increase of $100,000 over the present year was asked for. Owing to a hint that such an increase would never secure the Mayor's signature, $20,000 was cut off, which was a good night's work. The board of aldermen will take up the budget next Monday night, and it is to be hoped they will put in the budget with a good deal of sense. With all our expenditures for sewers, other improvements might safely be left over for another year.
The city's expenses should not be allowed to grow faster than the increase of valuation in the city will allow. The items for improvements on side streets could certainly be safely left over until the sewer business is finished.

THE CITIZENS will hold a mass caucus
in Tremont Hall, Newtonville, next Wednesday evening, City Hall being engaged for that night. It looks as if they would have a good deal of work cut out for them, if certain plans now formed can be carried out at the Republican convention. Newton people have always believed in non-partisanship in city affairs, and there is a manly interest in the mayoralty and some other offices than for some years. If

The Republican convention nominates Mr.
Powers, judging from the expressions we hear. Tremont Hall will be filled with Republicans who believe in having a business man for mayor. If Alderman Fenno is nominated, the Citizens will unite on him, and there is a possibility of such action if Alderman Wilson should be nominated
Tuesday evening.

MR. W. B. ATHERTON of Ward Four is receiving favorable mention for aldermanship from that ward. He has served several terms in the Common Council, when that body was of much more importance in city affairs than it has been the past two years, and was one of the most active of the members of the lower branch. Ward Four might easily do a great deal worse than to nominate Mr.
Atherton.

THE choice of members of the school board is a very important matter but it is not likely to attract the same deep interest as a few years ago. There will be a vacancy in Ward Seven's representation as Mr. Geo. C. Travis, who has served so acceptably, declines to be again
a candidate.

It is now said that friends of Alderman Coffin, feeling that he has not been rightly used, will endeavor to have the Republican convention disregard the wishes of the caucus and renominate him for alderman from Ward One.

Newtonville & Watertown Street Railway Co.

Horace B. Parker, George W. Morse and others are forming a corporation to build a street railway from Newtonville to Watertown. The articles will be found in another column. The stock is over-subscribed for. The promoters are substantially the same as those who have started the other street railways in this vicinity and which have been so successful. If there was previously any doubt regarding Newtonville being the central feature of Newton, this would seem to settle it. She will now have street railways radiating in four directions. This is perhaps due her, owing to her central position. She owes it, however, quite as much to the enterprise of her people. It is an illustration of an old rule, that enterprise is more potent than capital.
Newtonville is not by any means the wealthiest ward in the city, but she has enterprising material.

This street railway will be a boon to North Village and the several mills in that region. Those have been without either a steam or a street railroad within reasonable distance. Watertown street is pretty well built up already and the small amount of land remaining unoccupied will be much enhanced in value.
More tenements are needed along that street to meet the present demands.
The road will probably be built early in the Spring as it will be too late this winter after the franchises have been obtained.

The Record Shows a Gain of Twenty for Governor Russell.

The Aldermen met Tuesday to count the votes for Governor, R. H. Gardner represented. Mr. H. C. Mudge, Mayor of Governor Russell for Wards One, Two and Three, and C. W. Shepard for the other Wards.
The count began at 2 p. m. and was finished at 5.57 p. m.

Mr. H. C. Mudge lost one in precinct 2,
Ward One; precinct 1, Ward Two; precinct 1, Ward Five and precinct 2, Ward Six, and gained one each in precinct 2, Ward Two;
precinct 2, Ward Five; and precinct 2, Ward Seven,
making a net loss of one.

Governor Russell gained 16 in precinct 2,
Ward One; two each in precinct 2, Ward
Two; and precinct 2, Ward Four, and one each in precinct 2, Ward Five, and in Ward 7.
He lost one in precinct 2, Ward 2; and one in precinct 1, Ward Six, making a net gain of 20. Mr. Putney lost 18 and gained 2, and Mr. Winn gained one.

The very few changes in all the precincts
of the City except in precinct 2, Ward One, confirms the work of the precinct officers as most reliable. By reference to the tally sheet in precinct 2, Ward One, the votes were properly checked for Gov. Russell in carrying out the number, Mr. Putney, whose name was on the line just above Gov.
Russell was credited with the vote and this mistake was carried to the total sheet and the return.

Associated Charities.

At this time of the year when so many are moved to give to the poor, the best results can only be obtained by concert of action.

It is manifestly impossible for all the charitable agencies of Newton to confer with each other, but if they could, they would send the list of the families to whom they intend to give Thanksgiving dinners
to the office of the Associated Charities, measures can be taken to obviate the injustice of one family receiving two or more turkeys, while others receive none at all.

AGAINST MR. POWERS.

To the Editor of the GRAPHIC:

Referring to the proposed nomination of Mr. S. L. Powers for Mayor of Newton, it is the impression of a large number of our citizens that his election would be detrimental to the best interests of the city, for the following reasons:

Mr. Powers is in the employ of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co., which corporation has been for some years endeavoring to extend its lines in our best streets without the consideration for property holders which they, as taxpayers, expect, and many such applications from the Telephone Co. have wisely been refused by the board of aldermen.

Repeated hearings have been held and the company has been given leave to withdraw many of its applications to forsaid poles.

The time has come to put telephone wires under ground. In Boston many hundreds of wires are so placed. Brookline, always alive to the broadest plan of development and the best interest of its citizens, has demanded and lately succeeded in getting telephone wires placed under ground. We hope to see our city government take fore-sightful action in this matter. At all events, the citizens should consider it as a factor in the coming election.

PRO BONO PUBLICO.

Thanksgiving brings a busy trade to the crockery dealers as the dinner table furnishings are seen to at this season.
Jones McDuffee & Stratton's establishment is one of the attractions for Boston's extensive departments.

NEWTONVILLE.

Farley, tuner, 483 Washington street.

Mr. Edward Sands has gone to New York on a business trip.

See advertisement about bounties for tent caterpillar eggs.

Miss Nellie Fenno of Cabot street is out again after her illness.

Higgins & Nickerson are building a new, modern dwelling house on Cabot street.

Mr. Willard S. Higgins took possession again this week of his residence on Brooks avenue.

Miss Dearborn of Exeter, N. H., is visiting her sister, Mrs. Henry Fisher of Walker street.

Mr. and Mrs. Sawtelle of Brooks avenue have been admitted members of the Neighborhood Whist Club.

The engagement is announced of Miss Nellie Brown of Walnut street and Mr. J. E. Ripley of Belmont.

Union Thanksgiving Service will be held on the Methodist church, on Thursday, Nov. 24th, at 10.45.

If you believe in business principles rather than partisanship in city affairs attend the Citizens' caucus.

Miss Susan Higgins, who has been the guest of Mrs. Lydia Higgins, returned this week to her home in Brewster.

Miss Fannie Lane, accompanied by Ralph Higgins, returned from Gloucester this week and will pass the winter here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Davis and Miss Maude Davis of Walnut terrace left Tuesday for their winter residence in Boston.

The reunion of the class of '92, Newton High school, occurs the last week in December in the clubhouse of the Newton Boat Club.

Mr. A. C. Judkins is building a new house on Edinboro street. On Lowell street, another is being put up by Messrs. Higgins & Nickerson.

The ladies composing the furnishing committee of the Newton Clubhouse were given a dinner in the beautiful cafe in the ladies' apartments, Tuesday afternoon.

Rev. V. A. Cooper, superintendent of Little Wanderers' Home, will preach in the Methodist church at 7.30 on Sunday evening. A choir of children will accompany him and sing.

Mr. P. C. Bridgman's pair of steppers became frightened Sunday afternoon and dashed through Newtonville avenue, demolishing "B's" buggy. The horses were captured after awhile and returned to the stables.

The Republicans chipped in for the Harrison & Reid flag at the caucus, Tuesday evening. The contributions came a little slow and one man was heard to remark "tough cheese" as he dropped a shiny silver piece into the hat.

Miss Wakefield gave an owl tea at her home on Austin street, Wednesday evening. It was a pleasant social affair, affording pleasure to quite a large company of young people, many of whom were members of the C. E. Society of the Central church.

Miss Lillian M. Anderson of Austin street, accompanied by Mr. Crawford, returned from Boston, Tuesday evening for California where she intends spending the winter. A large party gathered at the Boston & Lowell Railroad station, and gave them a royal send-off.

Mr. A. Q. Cole has been nominated by the Republicans for the city council. He is one of the active young men of the ward with good business experience and possessing, his friends believe, the qualifications necessary for efficient service in local governmental affairs.

A quartet rendered selections at the Newton club house, Wednesday evening, and added to the pleasure of the musical program, which also included instrumental numbers by the Germania orchestra.

The quartet comprised C. Frank Hunting, first tenor; H. W. Ashburn, second tenor; W. W. Cole, first bass; A. W. Wellington, second bass.

The drawings for the bowling teams at the Newton Club have been completed. There will be nineteen competing in the local tourney, and some of them pretty evenly matched, so far as skill in rolling is concerned. The schedule of date and details of organization are to be incorporated in the customary circular, which will be issued by Mr. Hatch for the few days before the sport this winter is very encouraging and some very interesting contests may be anticipated.

The Newtonville Woman's Guild on Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 16, listened to Miss Jeannette Grant on "What we did in London Town." As that was about everything that could be done in the space of two weeks, and as Miss Grant is mistress of a very happy style of relating her adventures, the Guild spent a very agreeable hour with her, and looking forward with much pleasurable anticipation to the opportunity of hearing of another of her trips later in the season.

It was generally expected that Mr. Edward P. Hatch, cashier of the West Newton bank, would be nominated for the common council at the Republican caucus, and they can not yet understand why he was not. Mr. Hatch is one of our most enterprising young business men, and his business enables every one to see him easily without going out of the city. It is said to be the intention of many of the leading citizens to attend the Citizens' caucus, and see that Mr. Hatch is nominated.

A union meeting of the Christian Endeavor Societies of this place was held Sunday evening in the Methodist church vestry, and was attended by a large number of interested workers. The meeting opened with a fifteen minute praise service, led by Mr. Chas. Soden. Mr. Nat. Buxton of the Universalist society led the meeting, the subject being the 23rd Psalm. Interesting remarks were made by the pastors of the Universalist, Methodist and Congregational churches, followed by singing and short remarks from different members of the Christian Endeavor Societies.

WEST NEWTON.

Farley, pianos, 483 Wash. St., Newton.

See advertisement about bounties for tent caterpillar eggs.

Mr. Elvin Shepherd has secured a position at the Lynn works of the Thomson-Houston Company.

Mr. Alfred L. Barbour is in Washington, this week, attending the National Fraternal Congress.

If you believe in business principles rather than partisanship in city affairs, attend the Citizens' caucus.

Rev. F. E. Emrich of South Framingham, will preach in the Second Congregational church next Sabbath.

Mrs. Theodore Nickerson and daughter have rented, and will shortly occupy the Bassett house on Webster street.

Union Thanksgiving services will be held in the Congregational church, Thursday at 11 o'clock. Sermon by Rev. Dr. Patrick.

Mrs. M. M. Dyett, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Marshall, returned this week to her home in Washington, D. C.

Rev. Charles G. Ames of the "Church of the Disciples," Boston, preached to a large congregation in the Unitarian church last Sabbath.

The monthly sociable of the Congregational society was held in the west parlor

Tuesday evening. After supper, entertainment features were enjoyed.

The Literature class under the direction of Miss Lucia G. Ames has commenced with a large number. The opening study will be Huxley's "Sesame Lilies."

Mr. J. W. Stanley of Shaw street departed a few days ago for Germany where he is to pass several weeks, dividing his time among the principal cities.

The next sociable of the Unitarian church will be held Nov. 25th, and a "Singing Service" under the direction of Mr. Joseph Allen will be the entertainment of the evening.

The Players will give their 17th series of performances at City Hall, Monday and Tuesday evenings, Nov. 28th and 29th, when Robertson's comedy of "Caste" will be presented.

A meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held in Knights of Honor hall, Tuesday next at 2.30 p. m. A full attendance is desired, as arrangements are to be made for the Quarterly convention to be held in this place.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Saxton of Mr. Vernon street are very glad to welcome them home once more. Mrs. Saxton has been spending the past four weeks in Washington, D. C. for her health, and is much improved.

The marriage of Miss Grace Lawrence, daughter of Major William F. Lawrence, of West Newton, and Mr. Bedford Kent, of West England, will take place early in February, after which the young couple will sail immediately for Europe.

It is proposed to increase the salary of the clerk of the common council from $200 to $250. There are 26 regular sessions during the year, and a few extras. The pay per night on the present salary averages at least $7. The extra pay is said to be for work on the municipal register.

Prof. D. G. Lyon, Ph. D., of Harvard delivered the fourth in his series of lectures in the Congregational church chapel Wednesday evening. His topic was the Prophets, "Bearing of the Monuments on the Interpretation." His next lecture is to be given in the Unitarian church Nov. 30.

One of the recent charming events on the hill was a birthday party given at the new residence of Mr. Frank Train, corner of Prince and Chestnut streets. Mr. and Mrs. Train received early in the evening and later entertained their guests comprising a large company of neighbors and friends.

Thomas B. Fitz's estate on Walnut street was brilliant with colored fire, illuminations and pyrotechnics Monday evening. The display was in honor of the national Democratic victory and the reelection of Gov. Russell. Monday evening was the time fixed for the general illumination, and many of the houses in this section of the city were illuminated.

The ladies of the church of the Messiah desire to thank all those who so kindly contributed to their fair, and also the friends whose generous patronage enabled them to achieve so great a success. The church is a monument to the liberality of the people of the city, and they will be glad to know that $1000 has been added to the building fund as the result of the fair.

Mr. Clark's new residence on Lenox street was the scene of a large gathering Tuesday evening, the occasion being a house warming. The guests numbered 250 ladies and gentlemen and covers were laid for that number in the handsome dining-room with oaken wainscoting and decorative effects in warm tints and soft coloring. Wilson & Marshall catered for the party.

The next regular meeting of the Newton Congregational Club will be held in the parlors and chapel of the Second church, on Monday evening, November 21. The subject will be given by the Rev. William Elliot Griffith, D. D., on the topic "Among Men, Books and Churches in Holland and England." Music will be furnished by a quartet from the church at Newton Highlands.

Mrs. S. F. Cate died at her residence on Highland street yesterday. She had been in poor health for the past year. She married 32 years ago and was the daughter of Charles Rice, second, of Newton Lower Falls. Mrs. Cate was a most estimable lady, charitable in disposition and possessing those qualities which won and retained friendship and respect. Her demise will be sincerely mourned by a large circle of friends. Besides her husband, a son survives her.

The members of the common council voted for a majority candidate Monday evening, or rather, to get it down to exact facts, early Tuesday morning following the consideration of the appropriation bill. The result gave Aldermen Harbach, 5; Aldermen Wilson, 4; A. F. Luke, 2; John A. Fenno, 1. Still, these figures don't give much of an idea of the popular sentiment regarding candidates. You must get out of the city hall and see the influence of personal friendships to get in touch with the people.

A very pleasant tableaux was given in the chapel of the Congregational church Tuesday evening. The scenes were interspersed with singing by Mrs. Beardsley and Mr. W. T. Rice. The tableaux comprised: Night and Morning, Dick Swiveller and the Marchioness, King Cophetua and the Beggar Maid, Hiawatha, Lady Clare, Rebecca and Rowena, The Babes in the Woods, Gossip, Blind Nixie, A Cozy Corner, Rebecca at the Well, Pandora, Marmion, The Seasons, Guinevere, Springtime of Love, Joan of Arc and Othello.

At the Congregational church last Sunday evening, one of the Christian workers attending the Convention in Boston, Mr. McMichael of Washington, D. C. gave an interesting account of the mission of which he is Superintendent. He referred to his experience as one redeemed from a disolute life. He invented a clever service for preaching to the poor in the narrow alleys of the city, the Gospel Push Cart. He had it on exhibition in Boston Common and it was visited by multitudes. It is a little church on wheels. A Thanksgiving Sunday school service was held in the evening, arranged by Mr. J. Elliot Trowbridge.

The opening meeting of the Women's Educational club was held Friday afternoon. "Summer Outings" by members of the club were enjoyed by a large number. Mrs. Martin gave an interesting sketch of the annual excursion of the club last June. A visit to the St. Albans Creamery, also to the Old Lady's Home and a trip to the Adirondacks followed. The exercises closed with a very humorous account of the journey by a special woman's train of the delegation sent to Chicago to the Federation of clubs last spring, by Mrs. J. M. Hastings. Mrs. Emily Field will address the next meeting upon educational subjects.

Mr. Stephen D. Linahan, a respected resident of this place for the past 26 years, died at his home on Oak avenue, Wednesday. He had been ill for some time, death resulting from a general breaking up of the system, due to blood poisoning. Deceased was 53 years of age. He was a man of exemplary character, possessing many genial qualities and personal characteristics. He was a good citizen, a sympathetic friend and a kind and loving husband and father. For 15 years prior to his illness he held a position in the Boston furniture house of Boyce Brothers. He was highly regarded by his employers and associates. The funeral took place this morning from St. Bernard's church and was largely attended.

Mr. Thomas Hart entertained his political friends on election day.

The ladies of the Church of the Messiah realized over $1000 from their two days fair last week.

Conductor Thayer moved Monday into the house on Ash street, formerly occupied by Mrs. Helen A. Dyer.

Jimmy Curtis, son of Driver Curtis has slightly improved of late, and is now able to sit up a part of each day.

If you believe in business principles rather than partisanship in city affairs, attend the Citizens' caucus.

The Charlestown rovers enjoyed a bicycle run to Auburndale last Sunday, dining at the Woodland Park Hotel.

The Review Club of Auburndale will hold its next meeting at the home of Miss Bishop, corner of Woodland and Victor avenues.

The house formerly occupied by Mr. Dugan on Ash street is undergoing repairs for an immediate tenant, Hall & Washburn are doing the work.

Mrs. A. S. Hooks is expected to return from a visit to the hospital this week and will accompany her mother, Mrs. Wells, to the latter's home in Galeon, Ohio.

Rev. Mr. Bishop's young men's Bible class held its first sociable for the season last Monday evening at Mr. I. S. Dillingham's. The class now numbers about twenty-four and is still growing.

The Sunday school of the Methodist church will hold a Thanksgiving and praise service on Sunday evening next at 7.30 o'clock. The choir will assist and the Amphion Quartet will give two or three selections.

Miss Bessie Anderson, daughter of Mr. Edward Anderson and Mr. Arthur A. Standish, were married Wednesday morning at the home of the bride, a select company of friends witnessing the ceremony. They will reside at Riverside.

Fred Williams, the agent of the Adams Express in this place, has been transferred to the Boston office. Mr. W. F. Hadlock has taken the agency, and will remove the office to the store now occupied by him in Plummer's block. He will employ an assistant.

A well known party in this place traded watches Saturday and got rather the small end of the bargain. He was to give once each in exchange gains time very fast; he says that it is already well into next week and by Christmas it will be time for the World's Fair to open.

The Democratic party of this place are jubilant over the result of the election, and their enthusiasm reached its height when a cannon was placed in a Plummer field on Auburn street and discharged the President's salute, much to the satisfaction of the crowd in attendance.

The Republican caucus Tuesday evening was well attended and the Lower Falls delegates were defeated by a very narrow margin. The total number of votes was 79, and the Auburn delegates favoring Alderman Sprague had 40, and the Lower Falls contingent cast 39 votes. W. B. Atherton being their choice for alderman.

Rev. Dr. G. M. Steele, by invitation of Rev. T. U. Bishop, is to give once each month on Friday evenings, a fifteen or twenty minute address on some doctrine of the Methodist church, each address to conclude with the privilege to any present of asking questions. The first talk occurs next Friday evening at 7.30 o'clock, subject, "Regeneration."

An investigation reveals the fact that this place possesses a genuine fire bug. Last Saturday evening the cottage near the river, on the estate formerly owned by Mr. Wm B. Fowle was set on fire. Box 4 sounded the alarm, but owing to the hydrant being a long distance from the fire, the first company arriving at the scene of action was obliged to wait for the arrival of a second company, to piece out their hose so as to reach it. In this way the fire had gained such headway, that the building was saved after a hard fight in a badly damaged condition. Monday evening during the Democratic canvassing, box 43 summoned the department to a second fire on the same estate. This time it was the small cottage near the stables, formerly occupied as a coachman's lodge, that had been fired. Hose 5 with the assistance of Chemical A. soon had the fire under control but before the upper part had been quite badly damaged. The estate is now owned by ex-Senator Don Cameron of Pa. and was unoccupied, and if we understand rightly was uninsured. So thoroughly aroused to the situation has the party having charge of the estate become, that he has given orders for the removal of the boilers, plumbing, and all things of value, fearing the larger house on the estate may share the fate of the cottages.

Prizes for Caterpillar Nests.

"Attention is called to the advertisement of the Newton Horticultural Society appearing in another column. They have undertaken a work which commends itself and has received much favorable criticism from the press at large, especially from the Horticultural journals and which will be thoroughly appreciated by the citizens of our city as time progresses.

The result of the prizes they offered last year was that 125,000 belts of eggs were burned, and placing the low estimate of 200 eggs in each belt over 25,000, 000 eggs were destroyed. As the plan adopted this year is more favorable to the boys and girls of our city, they are the ones who do the collecting, it is expected that the results will be greatly increased.

It is to be hoped that this subject will interest a good many and that the society will receive much valuable aid from the citizens in whose behalf the work is undertaken."

REGISTRARS OF VOTERS,

1892.

City Election Tuesday, Dec. 6th.

Registration of Women

Notice is hereby given to all persons to present themselves for registration and that the Registrars of Voters will hold sessions for the registration of voters, including women duly qualified, and to correct and revise the Ward Lists, upon the following dates (and at the places herein named):

At the City Hall, Wednesday, Nov. 16, 7.30 o'clock to 9 p. m. Friday, Nov. 18, 2 o'clock to 5 o'clock p. m. Monday, Nov. 21, 2 o'clock to 5 o'clock p. m.

Newton Centre—Associates' Hall, Pleasant street, Wednesday, Nov. 23, 2 o'clock to 5 o'clock p. m., and 7 o'clock to 8.30 o'clock p. m.

At City Hall, Friday, Nov. 25, 2 o'clock to 5 o'clock p. m., and Saturday, Nov. 26, from 12 m. to 10 o'clock p. m.

No names can be registered after 10 o'clock P. M., November 26.

All persons whose names are not on the Voting List must appear personally before the Registrars of Voters on either of the days above mentioned, presenting a tax bill of 1892 or evidence satisfactory to the Registrars entitling him to be registered.

All naturalized citizens must present their final papers when they register.

If the father of an applicant was naturalized before he (the son) became 21 years of age, the son is naturalized thereby, and must present the father's naturalization papers.

The names of all persons not assessed in 1892 are taken from the voting list, but such persons can be re-registered by applying in person to the Registrars at any session held for registering voters, and presenting satisfactory evidence to the Registrars of Voters.

Every male citizen of 21 years of age and upwards, who has resided in the State one year, and in the city of Newton six months next preceding Dec. 6, 1892, and who shall be able to read and write, shall have the right to vote at the City election to be held December sixth, eighteen hundred and ninety two.

Every female citizen, not a pauper or person under guardianship, who, not being prevented by physical disability from so doing, is able to read the constitution in the English language and write her name, and who is twenty-one years of age or upward, and who shall have resided within the state one year and within the city or town in which she may claim a right to vote six months next preceding any election of a school committee, shall have the right to vote in every such election in such city or town for members of a school committee, provided, however, that no woman whose name is not entered, as herein provided, in the annual register of voters shall be allowed to vote.—Sec. 8, Chap. 351, Acts 1892.

WORKING BOYS' HOME FAIR.

IT WILL HELP SWELL THE FUND FOR THE NEW BUILDING.

A fair in aid of the Working Boys' Home opened Tuesday in the Battle of Gettysburg building, Boston. Mr. Thomas B. Fitz of this city presided at the opening exercises. Rev. John F. Ford, superintendent of the home, gave an account of the origin and growth of the worthy charity and described the industrial training school building which is now in process of erection on Winchester street in the Oak Hill district.

The structure is of brick, with granite trimmings and slated roof. The construction throughout is of the most thorough and substantial character, iron being largely used in it, and all the interior finish will be of hard wood. It is 268 feet in length, its extreme depth is 83 feet, and it has four stories and basement and attic.

The basement, which is almost entirely above ground, will contain a dining room and recreation room, each about 80x40 feet in size, beside composing room, press room, lavatories, engine, heating apparatus, etc. On a level with this floor, but separated from it by a passage 20 feet wide, is the culinary building, 50x35 feet and two stories high, containing kitchen, ovens and servants' dining and sleeping rooms. The laundry, 30x22 feet, adjoins the culinary building. These are not shown in the view of the building given, being in the rear. The main floor of the building is reached by a double flight of circular steps, leading to the main entrance in the central tower. The main staircase is in the centre of the building, rising from a broad hall extending from front to rear. This floor is arranged for the residence of the director, and contains the administration offices of the institution, with corridors leading to the classrooms, which are located in the wings.

The second floor contains the boys' sleeping apartments and various small rooms. The main and side stairways furnish abundant approach and exit.

The third floor has a large chapel and infirmary, dispensary, linen room and other convenient apartments. Its arrangement has been planned to secure available rooms at the least expense, and when completed the building will accommodate 250 boys. In the upper stories are located the dormitories.

The building amply provides spaces for schoolrooms and workshops, where boys admitted to its benefits will be taught the various branches of common school education, and instructed in industrial work of various kinds, the disposition of each boy and his preference and aptitude for some particular trade or occupation being studied and considered before assigning him to any particular line of manual training work.

In this industrial school carpentry, tailoring, shoemaking and printing will be taught, and on the farm the cultivation of the soil will be assigned to those who prefer it, all being under the immediate supervision of competent teachers. In this way it is expected to make the work of the home more thorough and productive of the best results. The products of the labor of the boys are not intended to be consumed outside the home, as experience has shown that all that will be produced will be needed to supply its wants.

Such is a brief outline of the noble work which the superintendent and manager of the Working Boys' Home of Boston have in hand to accomplish. It is one of the best, broadest and noblest institutions of its kind in the country. It is to aid in carrying out the enlarged purposes of the home that the fair which was opened at the Battle of Gettysburg building on Tremont street is to be inaugurated.

Mr. Fitz in his opening remarks made a stirring address in behalf of the home. After cordially welcoming the people present to the inauguration of the festival, he described the character and mission of the home. Continuing he said: "This home, however, would not fulfill its mission if it simply supplied needy boys with temporary shelter, food and necessities. It has a broader field to labor in than this, and has undertaken a more sacred obligation."

"To take these poor boys, and not only to supply their necessities, but to give them the greater boon of training them to be self-sustaining—of educating them, and providing them with opportunities of learning a trade, and of useful employment, to the end that by and by they will become useful and self-respecting men, and worthy citizens of this great country—this, and nothing less than this, is the mission of the Working Boys' Home."

Mr. Fitz concluded with an earnest appeal to the community to help the cause at once by patronizing the fair as freely and as liberally as possible.

A Question of Ethics.

Interesting questions in ethics always come up in an election, and have to be met by the managing politicians. It is oftentimes very embarrassing for men who pride themselves on the purity of their motives and the irreproachableness of their personal character, to be approached by a man of the opposite party and told that for a satisfactory consideration he can deliver a certain number of much needed votes, to the manager's candidate. Of course the first impulse of every honest man would be to kick the maker of the corrupt proposition out of doors, but then, supposing he believes that the whole foundation of things depends on the success of his candidate, and that money will be necessary to elect him. Would it not be better to do a little evil, he will ask, in order that good may triumph? That is the temptation, and it can only be resisted by those who firmly believe that the bribe-giver is as bad as the bribe taker, and to some over-nice people, one is just as much an enemy of good government as the other. We live in a practical world and must take things as they are, but the lot of the political managers is not a happy one, and generally deserves the sympathy of the public. It is a difficult position in which to place any man, and the liberal-minded spectator will cover the scene with a mantle of charity. We all know that no one can touch pitch without being defiled, but let us have sympathy for the defiled one.

Of course these thoughts are not applicable to Newton, where we are all honest, but in many wicked cities there are men whose mere support is suspicious, and with whom a political manager can not be seen talking without invidious remarks. Perhaps those who make the remarks did not have money enough, but their criticisms are none the less caustic on that account. If we only keep our own hands clean that is a good deal to be thankful for, and a strong public sentiment that will resolutely refuse to condone any method of corrupting voters or any secret bargains or trades, is the only means of preserving the purity of the ballot. If a cause is in such a desperate condition that it can only be preserved by corrupt methods, it had better be allowed to die quietly.

The Panic Humbug.

We print by request the following from the Boston Herald:

We have received from a Newtonville correspondent the following letter:

To the Editor of the Herald: Many old Republicans are already predicting a repetition of the hard times of 1857 after Cleveland's administration begins, and are telling the young Democrats that they don't know what they are voting for when they vote the Democratic ticket. Will you, for the benefit of those born since that time (1857), give us an article, showing us what any comparison to be made between the conditions which caused the hard times of 1857 and the conditions which will probably arise after the present election.

In reply to the above we will say that there is not the slightest analogy between the circumstances attending the panic of 1857 and anything that now exists in the condition of the country.

The panic of 1857, as we have often before said, had no connection with the tariff in any form. It was entirely obvious that such was the fact at the time. No one even suggested that the tariff had anything to do with it then. In all the panaceas proposed to cure it, or to bring it to an end, the change of the tariff was never at any time included. The tariff was left carefully alone, for the very good reason that the country was satisfied with it, as it had never been with any tariff for forty years preceding, and never has been since in the many years that have followed. This state of things continued until, three years later, Henry Wilson said in Congress that it was the best tariff the country had ever seen. And this was the lowest tariff for the last half century. So much for the tariff as an agency in the panic of 1857.

The panic of 1857 was brought about by a general speculation, largely in railroad stocks, and altogether independent of the tariff. It began by the failure of the Ohio Life & Trust Company, a large investment enterprise which could not meet its financial liabilities. There had been a pressure in the money market for some time previously. This failure came as a complete surprise to Wall street, which knew there had been overtrading, but did not look for disaster at all in that quarter. The banks immediately began contracting their loans. On the 1st of August they had been $122,000,000. In the second week in October they were but $101,000,000. Business could not stand this. New York banks suspended; banks from one end of the nation to the other followed. Transactions ceased everywhere, and there was universal paralysis. Yet, with all the drain of specie that low tariffs are said to produce, this, the lowest tariff of all, found the nation with so much specie that the banks were literally compelled to resume in sixty days, when specie had accumulated to $28,800,000 in the beginning of September. Business did not recover so rapidly, but there was no business in the country, outside, possibly, of Pennsylvania, that called for a change in the tariff to aid it.

We trust that this statement of facts will satisfy our correspondent. And now let us say to him and to others that there is no more transparent humbug than that which prophesies injury to business as the result of the present election involving an anticipated change in the tariff. Here is an instance right to our hand as we write. A Boston newspaper has published a Cincinnati dispatch that "Luce & Manning the large Boston warehouse, wired their Ohio agents to buy no more wool at any price on account of Cleveland's election." Whereupon Messrs. Luce & Manning say there is not a word of truth in this despatch; also that they have not sold a pound of wool at any reduction from prices prevailing before election. Here is another case. A large provision dealer in Lowell told the commercial editor of the Herald yesterday that the cotton mills were about to close extensively there. "But the tariff does not affect the cotton manufacturer," was said to him. "No matter," they said, "go and see the mills." "One of their leading agents has just told me so." Now, mark the facts in this case. The gentleman to whom this story was told inquired directly of the agent as to the truth of this. "Why, we are doing the best business now for years," was the reply. "Our mills must have closed long ago if the tariff, or is dependent upon McKinleyism for its prosperity."

Our correspondent need not be under any concern. The defeat of McKinleyism is the last thing likely to create a financial panic. It will restore confidence in business rather, because when McKinleyism is extinguished business will be based upon a sounder basis than it was before.

Littell's Living Age.

In its fifty-two weekly issues (one year's numbers) Littell's Living Age presents what cannot be equalled, in quantity and quality, by any other magazine in existence. It makes yearly four large octavo volumes, containing over three thousand pages of solid matter, representing the best work of writers of the highest eminence in the world of letters.

Current numbers contain articles by such authors as Frank Harris (editor of the Fortnightly Review), Anne Ritchie; Robert S. Ball; Frederick Harrison; Augustus Jessopp; G. Strachey (British Minister at Dresden); Mrs. Andrew Crosse; Karl Blind, and many others.

Think of the mine of wealth stored on the shelves containing a complete set of such a work, now comprising 196 volumes.

In view of all this the subscription price, $5.00 a year, is extremely low, but by taking advantage of the special offers made to subscribers for the coming year, much other valuable reading may be obtained at a purely nominal cost.

Send for descriptive circulars, and add 15 cents for a specimen copy, to the publishers, Littell & Co., Boston, Mass.

Beauty Among Savages.

Among the Babines, who dwell to the north of the Columbia river, a large under lip is regarded as a type of beauty. A small incision is made in the lip during infancy and a fragment of bone inserted. This is replaced from time to time by larger and larger fragments, each operation being attended with severe pain, and at length pieces of wood measuring not less than three inches in length and an inch and a half in width, are inserted, causing the lip to protrude to a frightful extent. A similar custom exists among the Paraguay Indians, and the labrets worn by the Botocudos are inserted in a slit made in the lower lip.

A Botocudo has been noticed to take a knife and cut a piece of meat on it and tumble the meat into his mouth. Among the Hydras (Queen Charlotte islands) it is considered a mark of the lowest breeding to be without this labial ornament of the lower lip. When a young woman and an old one quarrel the elderly dame will reproach the younger with her youth, inexperience and general ignorance, pointing, were further proof necessary, to the inferior size of her lip. This lip of beauty is not, however, peculiar to these aborigines, but is common among some of the African tribes. The Berrys, for instance, who inhabit Sanbriat, a tributary of the Nile, insert in the lower lip a piece of crystal an inch in length. The Bougo women in a similar way extend the lower lip horizontally till it projects far beyond the upper. The mutilation of both lips is observed among the women of Kadje, in Segseg, between Lake Tsad and the Beuue—Brooklyn Eagle.

The Abuse of Hypnotism.

An army of miscreants misuse hypnotism to obtain money from their victims. They are constantly exposed by third parties, but seldom lose their power over their dupes, on account of the mesmerized condition of the latter.

Lower still in the depths of sin are those who call themselves "massage magnetizers," "massage hypnotists," or those who advertise "electric baths," "massage baths," "magnetic baths" and "magnetic treatment." There is no reason for their existence, unless it be in a correctional or penal institution. Lastly there are the artists, professors or fakirs, who give public exhibitions of the hypnotic process. Some of these are honest and upright, others are unscrupulous and mercenary wretches.

All of them, however, are to be carefully avoided by sensible people. They are to be avoided even more by young boys and girls than by grown folks. If any one desires to see the marvels of hypnotism, let him or her go to their own family physician, and either he or some other member of that noble profession will satisfy curiosity without injury to body, brains, minds or morals.

In taking interest in hypnotics in any way, therefore, it is well to bear in mind Punch's advice to young men—don't.—Philadelphia Times.

Speaking English.

Almost any one who speaks English might be put down successfully in half a dozen places where English is supposed to be the mother tongue and hear as many dialects spoken, not one of which he would understand until it was interpreted. An old Lancashire worthy and a London lady were one day occupying a railway carriage. The train had been waiting long at a certain station, and there was no appearance of its starting, when the worthy remarked: "I beg your pardon, said the lady. "I beg your pardon," said the lady. "I'm saying they're a gey daidlin lot here."

"I really beg your pardon, sir."

"I'm observin they are a vera dreich lot here the night."

"Really I must again beg your pardon. I don't comprehend you."

"I was just tryin to say that the train was late."

"Indeed, sir, it is—very late," agreed the lady, and then collapsed.—London Tit-Bits.

Forster's Poor Wit.

Mr. Forster, if taken at his own valuation, would be quite the biggest person at any dinner table.

He used his wit like a flail, and then looked round as much as to say, "See, now, how the air is choked with the chaff of other men's talk." I do not think Crabb Robinson liked Forster, though they often met—perhaps because slightly disparaging anecdotes to tell to each other.

As a poor instance of Forster's wit, I remember on one occasion Crabb Robinson told the story of his butler whispering to him at the dinner table that the soup had run short, whereupon Forster, to the astonishment of his guests and to the dismay of his serving man, roared out the plagiarism, "Then let there be more mulligatawny soup," at the same time looking round as if he had said a very good thing indeed.—Mrs. Crosse in Temple Bar.

Plant for a Metropolitan Newspaper.

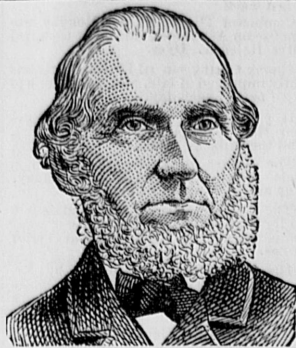

"I am a member of a syndicate that is going to start a new morning newspaper in New York," remarked Stutley. "We have all our plans completed, and it's bound to be a success."

"Who's your editor?" inquired Assborough.

"We haven't any editor and don't want any, but we've got an architect who says he can put up a nineteen-story building," was the reply. "We've hidden three reporters in a sewer, interviewed five men who died ten years ago and hired a Hoboken dog catcher to write cablegrams from Berlin. It will be a success from the start."—New York Herald.

Charley's Part in the Service.

Sally Carter and Molly Gates were talking about a grand wedding that was to come off in a few weeks. Sally's cousin was to be the bride. "I am going to have a new white dress and a beautiful pink sash," said Sally, "and my brother Charley is going to be one of the rushers."—Youth's Companion.

gradually growing worse. Three years ago I got down so low that I could scarcely walk. I looked more like a corpse than a living being. I had no appetite and for five weeks I ate nothing but gruel. I was badly emaciated and had no more color than a marble statue. Hood's Sarsaparilla was recommended and I thought I would try it. Before I had finished the first bottle I noticed that I felt better, suffered less, the inflammation of the bladder had subsided, the color began to return to my face, and I began to feel hungry. After I had taken three bottles I could eat anything without hurting me. Why, I got so hungry that I had to eat 5 times a day. I have now fully recovered, thanks to

A LOVE SONG.

The bird in its nest at morn
Looks out through the leafy space,
And sends a sweet little song
From its hiding place—
Only a faint "Cool Cool"
But some other little bird will hear
And soon draw near.

The whispering leaves repeat
The story they oft have heard,
For oh, there's nothing so sweet
As the song of the bird—
A love song, it is true,
Only a faint "Cool Cool"
But some one calls out a-neighbor:
"Sweetheart, I am here!"

"Cool Cool" says one from the nest,
A shy little warbler she;
"Cool Cool" comes the answer back
In a lower key.
And then a new song is begun—
Are these two birds or one?
And with thrills and twitt-rings sweet,
The love song they repeat.

—Josephine Pollard in Godey's.

Not in His Line Exactly.

A man with an armful of hand bills went into Mr. Schoppenheim's restaurant and asked permission to tack a hundred or so to the wall.

"You vos dose?" asked Schoppenheim. "Circulars advertising a railroad excursion."

"You goes away off mit a week or den days and you goes sheaper as to stay at home?" asked Schoppenheim.

"That's it."

"Unt you wants to hang dose circulars mein restaurant in?"

"You've got it."

"Got vot?"

"The idea."

"Den mein gustomers would read dose circulars?"

"That's the idea."

"Unt go away den days or two weeks?"

"Yes."

"Unt don't eat dinners here vile dey vos away?"

"Well, they could hardly do that, you know," said the hand bill man hesitatingly.

"Dot's vot I dinks meinself. Nein, I guess I von't have any of dose pills hung mein restaurant in. Good day, mein friend!" — Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

When a Dog Surrenders.

It is evident that a man who will seriously undertake to put himself in rapport with other animals can exchange communication with them at least as satisfactorily as he could with another man who was confined to an entirely different language. My dog, who has had no special training, understands some half dozen of my gestures, and himself uses the turning aside of the head to indicate dissent, accompanied often by a plain look of disgust if being misunderstood, puts up a paw to deprecate punishment, turns on his back to express submission, sticks up his tail—the warrior brandishes his weapon or waves his flag; the dog has no weapon—by way of defiance, lowers it for shame or alarm.

That turning on the back, by the way, is well understood among dogs as a gesture of surrender. If two strange dogs meet on the street and one shows fight, if the other turns on his back he will not, as a rule, be molested.—Cor. New York Times.

For Cancer and Skin Poisoning.

Cancerous growths are the most difficult skin diseases to control. The knife is generally the only thing that will answer satisfactorily, but the drug called pyoktanin has been used with considerable success. As a local dressing on painful cancers that could not be removed by an operation it gives considerable relief, and in many instances has decreased the size of the growth. For poisonings of the skin various drugs are used, but for ivy poison there is none better than permanganate of potassium, which makes an excellent wash for the poisoned skin. In Russia it has been found of great value in frost bites, relieving the itching and burning sensation at once. For slight burns of the skin it is also of great use, but severe burns are not to be treated by it.—Yankee Blade.

Cannibals and Shaved Heads.

On the upper Congo the natives give a great deal of imagination and labor to the arrangement of their head-dresses. Some of them, however, like the Bangala, keep their heads closely shaved, except for little tufts of hair on top and at the sides. On the middle Mobangi river the natives also shave their heads. This is a very general custom among cannibal tribes. Not all cannibals on the Congo shave their heads, but it is certain that all tribes which follow this practice are cannibals.—New York Sun.

An Original Answer.

A youth in one of the Sunday schools connected with one of the city missions, without meaning to be sacrilegious, but with visions of his own misdoings that had received deserved punishment, to the question, "Why was our Saviour sent to this earth?"—answer, "To save sinners"—answered, "Oh! I suppose we acted so bad they had to send him."—New York Tribune.

Welcomed by the Old Man.

Sue Deering—I am afraid papa was angry when you asked him for me. Wasn't he, Jack, love?

Jack Hilow—Not at all. He asked if I knew any more respectable young men who would be likely to marry your five sisters if properly coaxed.—Harper's Bazar.

Young ladies of Germany have a superstition that if they bury a drop of their blood under a rosebush it will ever after insure the experimenter a pair of rosy cheeks.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS.

BOSTON THEATRE—The Tompkins production of "Babes in the Wood" at the Boston Theatre seems to hit the popular fancy, as during the past week the big house has been crowded at every performance. The costumes are magnificent, the scenery is a delight to the eye, the specialties are pleasing and the ballets are equal to the best seen in Boston for a long time. The quadrille danced by Nini Patte on P' Air and her pupils is startling. Unless they deliberately stood upon their heads it is difficult to imagine what else these dancers could do. They are a sensation. The acts and singing of the children and the pantomime make "Babes in the Wood" interesting to the young folks.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE—"The English Rose," the charming melodrama of Irish and English life in Ireland, which two years ago made a notable success at the Boston Museum, will play a week's engagement at the Grand Opera House, beginning next Monday evening. The play is owned and controlled by the management of Proctor's Twenty-third Street Theatre, New York, and it comes to Boston with a worthy and expensive cast and a large amount of new and elegant scenery. Henry Chausfrau, so well and favorably known by his great success in his father's famous play, "Kit, the Arkansas Traveller," assumes the leading role, formerly taken by Mr. Jack Mason. Harry Meredith, Harry Hawk, Miss Kate Foley, Steve Grattan and Charles Leonard Fletcher are also members of the company. Next Sunday evening the Torbett Concert Company, one of the largest musical organizations in the country, will give a high class and artistic entertainment. The Luttman Sextette from Stockholm, Sweden, is with the company.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE—Mr. E. H. Sothern will be at the Hollis Street Theatre, Boston, next Monday evening, presenting for the first time here the new comedy, "Captain Letterblair." In this new success of Mr. Sothern's, which has been filling the Lyceum Theatre, New York, to overflowing for the past three months, this talented young comedian has a play in the same delightful vein which was found to be so popular in "Lord Chumley" and "The Highest Bidder." It is a most amusing comedy with delicious bits of pathos and sentiment; and is heightened in its effect by the progress Mr. Sothern has made in this class of work since seen last here. The class is a strong one, and will present many of the former members of Mr. Sothern's company. The author, Miss Marguerite Merrington, was for many years an instructor in the New York normal school. This is her first dramatic work, and it speaks highly for the future. There will be an extra "Captain Letterblair" performance on Thursday (Thanksgiving Day), and the regular Wednesday and Saturday matinees besides.

COLUMBIA THEATRE—Augustus Thomas' new play, "Surrender," will have its first presentation on any stage at the Columbia Theatre next Monday night, and the event will be one of more than usual interest. The story of "Surrender" is purely domestic. All the men are soldiers, and the atmosphere is that of war; but no shots are fired, no battles won. The scenes are in the drawing room of a house in Richmond during the last year of its investment. The cast is a phenomenal one and follows:

General Colgate, Louise Aldrich
Lieut. Taylor, Robert Ayling
Capt. Crane, Charles Green
Capt. Holbrook, Alf Loman
Corp. Starr, Frank Cummings
Gen. Bartlett, W. H. Crompton
Capt. Allen Thurston, Clement Bainbridge
Maj. Walter Drennan, Burr McIntosh
Lieut. Schofield, Henry Woodruff
Uncle Clem, H. D. Blakemore
Mrs. Gen. Colgate, Rose Eyttinge
Dallas, Elaine Ellison
Bessie, Miriam O'Leary
Mrs. Bartlett, Florence Robertson
Blanche Bartlett, Kate Busley
Lorraine Cowell, Nan de Banks

TREMONT THEATRE—None of the Tremont Theatre patrons will be sorry to learn that the engagement of Manager John H. Russell's Company—Russell's Comedians—is not to be a call, but a visit, to use a social simile. Messrs. Abbey, Schofield, Grant, quite naturally, feel a sort of brotherly interest in this best of all merry-making organizations, for its success has been a very pleasant part of this theatre's prosperity. Each season, year after year, Russell's Comedians have borne away the banner, and there is no reason to think for a moment that this engagement will vary this pleasant condition. The current week will be the last presentations of "A Society Fad." Since Thanksgiving is pre-eminently the time for the return of old friends and familiar faces and the renewal and account of old-time events, as was announced, long ago, the ever welcome play, "The New City Directory Right up to Date," will be presented all Thanksgiving week, including the special matinee, Thanksgiving Day. There will be an abundance of new matter in this forth coming edition; but the best of the older material is sure to be demanded including the Boston favorite, Amelia Glover. Seats can be secured now for Thanksgiving week. Of course it will be the part of wisdom to apply at once for the holidays.

BOWDOIN SQUARE THEATRE—The comedians, Hallen and Hart, will bring forward at Bowdoin Square Theatre, Boston, next week, for the first time in Boston their new piece, "The Idea." All of the scenery has been specially painted for the production. The costumes will be new and in brief if the statement of those concerned may be relied upon, everything will be new from the start to finish. The piece concerns New Orleans life, and has for its central character a retired merchant, whose heart and days are full of reforming the evil tendencies of his city. He is the aggressive head of a number of local law and order societies, and through his eager attempts to purify and elevate things in general, arise most of the fun and frolic. The Bowdoin will no doubt be a scene of merry and thrifty times during this engagement. "The Dazzler," with winsome Annie Boyd, follows.

"Nothing succeeds like success," and nothing will more quickly insure success than true merit. For fifty years, Ayer's Sarsaparilla has maintained its popularity as the superior blood-purifier. It stands upon its own merits and never fails to give satisfaction.

"A chemical success and medical triumph," so speaks an eminent physician in reference to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and the eulogy was none too strong. No other medicine is so safe and efficacious in all diseases of the throat and lungs.

Be wise in time. You have too many gray hairs for one so young looking. Use Hall's Hair Renewer, the best preparation out to cure them. Try it.

The Boston Herald beat all the other Boston papers in the fulness and correctness of its election returns. The Herald is a great newspaper, as reliable as it is enterprising, and its news columns are to be depended upon. In its election news it made no claims, but simply published the facts and told what were the indications. Its tables were reliable and complete, and in all respects it justified its claim to be considered a truthful and independent newspaper.—From Cape Cod Item.

The Old Man Knew Her.

The young man was bold and he wanted the girl, so he interviewed the father.

"So," said the old gent, after the proposition had been stated, "you wish to marry my daughter?"

"Exactly so, sir."

"And can you support her in the style she expects?"

"I think so, sir."

"Are you sure?"

"Well, I may say I am."

"Then take her, my boy, and if you succeed in what you have tackled, I'll be blamed if you won't be doing better than I have ever been able to do," and the old man gloated in glee.—Detroit Free Press.

PASTOR KOENIG'S NERVE TONIC

Had the Desired Effect! I.

MANNVILLE, R. I., March 8, 1891. I, the undersigned, suffered from epilepsy for 6 years, had no appetite and could do no work whatever; consulted a number of doctors, but all said there was no remedy for my disease. I then took Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic, and am now in perfect health, and work all the time. Thousand thanks to your remedy.

PHILIP MONGEON.

65 PROSPECT ST., NEWARK, N. J., March 2, 1891.

I got some of Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic for nervousness and sleeplessness and it helped me; the first time I took it I had the best sleep I had had for several months. I also know friends of mine who used it and say it is the best nerve tonic they ever used. I write this that some sufferer may use your medicine and be helped by it.

—There has been some complaints made against the hack drivers being so much in the depot, the nature of the objections being the odor which will necessarily to a greater or less extent, cling to the clothes worn in the care of horses. The matter was called to Mr. Holden's attention, but the drivers have not been forbidden the depot as they claim, the matter simply being brought to their attention and left to their discretion.

It had been otherwise it would have been tailed an additional hardship which the friends of the drivers would have been quick to condemn.
—E. B. Darrell had a ride in a wheel-barrow last Friday evening, W. B. Monroe propelling the vehicle as the result of an election bet. The procession started from Mr. Noble's drug store, H. T. Hesse's large tent being filled with exultant Democrats and a crowd of nearly 100 bringing up the rear, with drums, tin horns and fireworks.
The route of march was through Centre,
Willow, Summer, Station, Union streets,
Institution avenue, Centre street to Mr.
Noble's. An oyster supper and evening entertainment were then enjoyed at Mr.
T. R. Frost's on Cypress street.
—Baron Nils Posse will give a free lecture on "Physical Training" in Mason school hall, Tuesday, Nov. 22, at 8 p. m.
Educators, teachers and others interested in the subject are invited to attend, and it is safe to predict that the audience will be large. Baron Posse is a graduate of the Royal Institute of gymnastics in Sweden and is probably one of the foremost authorities on gymnastics in this country. His efforts in introducing Swedish gymnastics in American schools have gained him recognition, not only from American educators, but also from those in his own land he having recently been appointed commissioner in charge of the Swedish exhibit of gymnastics to the World's Columbian Exhibition.
—Mrs. Judge Lowell left her home on Hammond street, Chestnut Hill, in a carriage last Saturday evening to attend the Symphony concert at Music Hall, Boston. Her carriage, driven by Coachman Barrett, was turning the corner of Beach and Kingston streets at 7:45 o'clock, when the hack was struck by a Charlestown car numbered 686. The carriage was wrecked, the horses knocked down,
the driver thrown from his seat and injured about the head and Mrs. Lowell was struck by the force of the collision. Mrs.
Lowell was taken to the emergency hospital, where she recovered consciousness.
She did not think that she had received any serious injury, but the surgeons in charge found that one side of her body was partially paralyzed, and after the arrival of her husband, who had been sent for, it was decided to remove her to the Massachusetts General Hospital. Her injuries, although serious, are not necessarily fatal,
but she will probably be confined to the hospital for some time. Barrett was taken to station 4, where his wounds were dressed by Dr. Hubbard, and he was then taken to his home, 39 Melrose street. The car was in charge of Motorcar Patrick Kelly and Conductor Joseph Lindsay.
—The "Kalendar Fest" has been the prevailing attraction during the week, and despite the lowering weather at its opening the latter part of the "fest" has been especially favored. Associates hall was transformed from its usual hall of entertainment and the design of each table was distinctly individual while the whole presented a most pleasing effect. The twelve months of the year were each represented by the decorations and articles displayed being in harmony with the month represented. The June booth in the center of the hall, with covering and decorations of holly leaves contained a varied and beautiful collection of potted plants in full bloom, and was presided over by Mrs. J. Avery Bal-win, who had several young lady assistants.
The February booth, with Mrs. J. B. Thomas
in charge, assisted by Mrs. Marshall O.
Rice, Mrs. Henry Warren, Mrs. Walter Webber and Mrs. A. L. Rand was tastefully decorated and contained works of art and rare bric-a-brac. At the right of the hall, lavatories were provided for the convenience of the ladies. The lemonade table near at hand was presided over by Mrs. T.
A. Plimpton and the (little) "old woman" in the shoe proved a unique attraction and was a favorite source of amusement to the ladies. Mrs. Wm. B. Merrill in charge, assisted by Mrs. A. H. Leonard and Mrs. Edwin Hughes. October in red, adorned with pumpkins, gourds, and apples, was presided over by Mrs. J. H. Sabin and Mrs. Edward Thomas, assisted by Mrs. J. B. Edgerton, Miss Dora Thomas, Miss Sadie Sanborn, Miss Grace Rowe and Mrs. W. L.
Conist. Strenuous groups were trimmed with poppers in varied hues, and Mrs. C. W.
Brown presided, with Mrs. J. E. Rockwood, Mrs. W. M. Flanders and Mrs. G. A.
Pierce assisting. July and the Japanese table, with Mrs. D. B. Harding and Mrs.
Mrs. A. K. Pratt and Mrs. F. E.
Wheeler. Autumn leaves were used in decorating November and was under the care of Mrs. E. F. Melcher and her assistants, Mrs. F. T. Parks and Mrs. Lewis Melcher. In the supper room at one end was January, where coffee, chocolate, bouillon and tea were served by Mrs. Edward Ellis and her assistants, while at the opposite was August dainty with varieties of ices, served by Mrs. S. A. Sylvester and assistants. The Valentine postoffice consisted of the February table was ably superintended by Mr. Leo. The "Merry-go-Round" found many patrons among the children. The Newton H. S. orchestra furnished music each evening, and the opening evening the entertainment consisted of statuesque groupings participated in by young ladies from Newton Highlands. Miss Alice Reed in readings was greatly enjoyed on Wednesday evening, and on Thursday evening a double quartet of young ladies from the Baptist church rendered pleasing selections. Each table as a part of its decoration had the sign of the Zodiac belonging to itself, the decorations being mostly on the wall back of the tables. Mr. O. F. Smith designed the arrangement of each booth, and its relative position making the combination most harmonious. The Newton Centre Ward Club was organized five years ago and its present membership is 123, the officers being Mrs. R. R. Bishop, president; Mrs.
D. B. Clavin, treasurer, and Miss A. E.
Ellis, secretary. The principal objects of the "club" are for the benefit of the Newton Cottage Hospital, the Associated Charities and the Pomroy Home.

the erection of a new house on Boylston
street.
—Miss Alberta Grover, who is teaching school in New Hampshire, is at home for the holidays.
—The Hickey paper mill No. 1 has commenced work and is running days with a full force of hands.
—Phillip Kerr's paper mill is running night and day and a large amount of paper is being turned out.
—If you believe in business principles
rather than partisanship in city affairs,
attend the Citizens' caucus.

—A new candidate was initiated by Echo Bridge Council, Royal Arcanum, at their meeting Wednesday evening.
—Miss Lizzie Crockett of North Andover, who has been the guest of Miss Mary Grover for two weeks, has returned home.
—The alarm Wednesday evening from box 612 was for a fire at the Pettee Machine Works, the foundry stack firing some of the woodwork near it. The damage was slight.
—The length of the run on the new alloys of the Quinobquin Association has been found to be so inadequate that Mr. H. M.
Beal has been engaged to lengthen the run,
the work being in progress this week.
—The Newton Rubber company are making some improvements in their mill. This week a large new boiler has arrived, and has been set up. An additional story is being built on to the shed near the front of the mill for an office room.
—Mr. James A. McLellan is building an apartment house on Chestnut street, Upper Falls, for Mrs. Levi C. Wade. The building will be about 80 feet in length with 4 modern conveniences. Messrs.
Rand & Taylor are the architects.
—Mr. F. A. Flathers, superintendent of the Pettee Machine works has resigned his position there, which he has held for a number of years. Mrs. Flathers health is very poor, and after a visit to relatives in Nashua, N. H., they hope to spend the winter in the south where it is hoped the warm climate may be beneficial to her. A large circle of friends will be sorry to see them go, but whose sympathies are with Mrs. Flathers in her search for renewed health.
—The Monday Club will hold its next meeting with Mrs. Nickerson, Lincoln street.
—Mrs. W. A. Moore has been confined to her home for a few days past on account of illness.
—Mrs. W. Chatfield was taken seriously ill on Saturday last, but is now somewhat improved.
—Rev. Mr. Hornbrooke will conduct the Unitarian services next Sunday at Stevens Hall at 4 o'clock. The lecture will be "The True Hearted Woman."
—Mr. J. H. Watson and family occupy their fine new house, just completed on Chester street.
—The church male quartet are to sing at the Congregational Club, West Newton, on Monday evening, Nov. 21st.
—The subject of next Sunday evening's lecture at the M. E. church, will be "The True Hearted Woman."
—If you believe in business principles
rather than partisanship in city affairs,
attend the Citizens' caucus.
—An important sale of land on Griffin avenue has been reported, but not the names of the purchasers.
—Miss Bertha O'Connor returned home
last week from the Normal school, So-Framingham, on account of continued illness.
—Mr. W. K. Giles of Parker street died suddenly on Sunday morning last. He had not been in good health for a year. He was the father of Mr. W. H. Giles of the Highlands.
—Following is the list of letters remaining in the postoffice: Lydia Beaumont, Mrs. James H. Bradford, Hugh Clifford,
Clara May Corby, Thomas Paulson, Mrs.
Mary Foley, Mrs. Ida Hall, Mrs. M. C.
Donald, Mrs. A. F. Meserve, Louise Smith.
—A lecture was given in Stevens Hall on Wednesday evening, under the auspices of the West End Literary Club, by Mr. A. J.
George, A. M., on "The English Lakes and their Geology." The lecture was listened to with much interest by a good audience composed mostly of ladies.
—The five delegates chosen at the Republican caucus, held on Tuesday evening at Lincoln Hall, to attend the city convention next week, were in favor of Mr.
Moulton for alderman. For councilmen,
Mr. Lyman A. Ross and Mr. F. W. Turner were nominated.
—Hospital Sunday should not be forgotten, and collections will be taken next Sunday morning in the churches of this city for the support of this worthy charity.
As churchgoers are not the only ones that should take an interest in this matter, it is to be hoped that the church should keep this object of charity in mind.
—Sunday's music at the Congregational church will include:
Anthem, "Jubilate deo" in C. Howard M. Dow
Response, "Hear us O Lord." Barby
Offertory, "The Lord's Prayer." Tenor solo, Mr. Hunting, Elijah, Quartet, "God shall charge His angel legions."

Recessional, "Round the Lord in glory seated." No. 431

Eating for Strength.

"Food that 'tastes good' is digested more readily and assimilated more perfectly, so that we really derive more nourishment from it." So says the Boston Cook Book, and the sentiment is so sound and the language so well chosen that we really think it must have been written under the inspiration of a "Ham omelet" made with Fertis Famous Ham. Has cured others of "that tired feeling," will cure you.

MR. LEESON'S MAJORITY

LEADS ALL THE OTHER REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES.
The vote for Councillor in the 3rd district has been gathered from the town and city clerks, and is given below. Newton should feel particularly gratified by this exhibit, for it shows that every plain citizen of the district with a trifling exception in Charlestown, gave its candidate more votes than the candidates of his party for Governor or Lieut.
Governor, while several places besides Newton itself, gave Newton's candidate more votes than any other person on the ticket, local, state or national.

women, by Miss Grace Richardson of Bombay, India, Mrs. Stevenson and others.
There will be a question drawer to which all are invited to bring questions. Basket collation, with hot coffee served by the Auburndale ladies. Teachers and all others interested in children are invited to be present. Mrs. Alice J. Harris will probably lead the singing.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

SUPERINTENDENT ALDRICH RETAINS HIS OFFICE.

The school committee met in the Clafin school house Wednesday evening, the mayor presiding and Messrs. Lawrence, Travis, Harwood, Boyden, Hale and Mrs.
Martini being absent.

A communication was received from the city council authorizing an additional appropriation of $2548.98 to the school appropriation.

A communication was received from
Mr. C. C. Hussey acknowledging the graceful courtesy extended him by the board.

Mr. Bond made a motion to proceed to ballot for superintendent.

Mr. Bond and Mrs. Davis were appointed tellers and Mr. Bond reported the result as showing eight ballots for Mr.
Geo. I. Aldrich, the present incumbent.

The chair appointed Mr. Hornbrooke a committee of one to inform Mr. Aldrich of his re-election, reporting thereafter to the evident satisfaction of all present.

No report was submitted by the superintendent and an order for the purchase of text books was passed: Bessey's Elements of Botany and Whitney's Introductory French Reader for use in the High school, also King's Second and Third Geographical Readers, "Picturesque Geography, a series of twelve books, Blaisdell's Physiology for Little Folks and a Pathfinder in American History.

Mr. Putney reported on the matter of nature study, recommending that the High school committee have authority to employ a competent teacher for the study and allowing Mr. Chandler to spend his time in the lower branches as needed. The report was accepted and adopted.

The sum of $12,556.39 was appropriated for December expenses.

Mr. Bond reported on the printing of the Columbian Day exercises, recommending its reference to the board of next year.

Mr. Hornbrooke presented the resignation of Mrs. M. M. Bakeman, first assistant at the Bigelow school.

The resignation was accepted and Annie E. George was chosen to fill the vacancy at a salary of $700 per year, and Maria E. Gardiner to be assistant at the same school at a compensation of $620.

An order was passed requesting the chair to appoint a committee of three to co-operate with other schools to secure legislation tending to place the care of school buildings in the hands of the school committees of the commonwealth.
Mr. Monro submitted the annual report of the school committee showing one new school building this year, that at Waban, making a total of 24. The most important action of the year was the appointment of a new superintendent whose administration had been eminently satisfactory. A supervisor of public buildings was urged, also more attention to the attendance of scholars at the various schools, and additional teachers' supplies, the equipment being very scanty.

The report was accepted.
An order was passed transferring $550
from the general to the incidental report of the salary of the superintendent at $880, was passed.
The board adjourned at 8 o'clock.

THE CITIZENS' CAUCUS.

MR. FENNO ENDORSED AND ALDERMANIC
CANDIDATES NOMINATED.

The Citizens held a Mass. Caucus in Tremont Hall, Newtonville, Wednesday night, which was largely attended. Mr.
C. W. Sheppard called the meeting to order and Mr. Geo. B. Jones was chosen chairman and Mr. C. W. Sheppard secretary.

Mr. Marcus Morton of West Newton made a speech denunciatory of the sewer assessment ordinance and offered the following resolution which was passed unanimously:

Whereas, It being the sense of this meeting that such portions of Section 5, in the "Ordinance relating to Drains and Sewers" in the city of Newton, as refer specially to the assessment of real estate, are unjust and inequitable, it is Resolved, That all candidates who may be nominated at this meeting, for either aldermen or common councilmen, shall pledge themselves that if elected to either of said offices, they will use their earnest efforts to repeal, reconsider or take such steps as may be conducive to a more favorable adjustment of the method of assessment as contained in said Sec. 5, of the "Ordinance relating to Drains and Sewers" as passed to be ordained by the City Government of Newton
Sept. 12, 1892.

The chairman was authorized to appoint a committee of one from each ward to nominate a committee of five from each ward to bring in nominations for mayor, aldermen and the school board, and he nominated J. E. Briston, O. F. Clark, M.
Morton, P. A. McVicker, John Glover, Geo. Linder and A. C. Mudge, and they chose the following as the nominating committee:

Ward One—J. E. Briston, B. R. Ware
W. F. Grace, J. W. Keefe, John F. Ford, Ward Two—O. F. Clark, E. W. Redpath, J. L. Richards, P. C. Bridgman, L.
B. Schofield.

Ward Three—Mr. Morton, C. P. Hall, G.
M. Cox, W. F. Lawrence, S. H. Urbinio,
Ward Four—P. A. McVicker, John
Donovan, E. J. Corcoran, E. H. Kenne, Wm. Dolan.

Ward Five—John Glover, W. H. Burr,
Henry Durant, T. H. Muller, David Bates,
Ward Six—Geo. Linder, A. H. Roffe, A.
C. Jewett, W. F. Woodman, Martin Greelich.

Ward Seven—A. C. Mudge, H. E. Both-field, W. F. Hammett, Hosa Hyde, John Hahn.

The committee retired and the convention listened to a very amusing criticism of city officials from one of the highway employes.

City Clerk Kingsbury came to the caucus to give notice that it could not legally nominate candidates for the Common Council, and it was decided to get out nomination papers, when any changes were made from the Republican nominees.
An unofficial report from the committee at 10 o'clock stated that they were having a hard time in coming to an agreement for mayor and that they stood 19 for John A.
Fenno, 11 for W. F. Harbach, and 5 for E.
B. Wilson.

Chairman W. F. Lawrence for the committee reported as follows: For mayor,
John A. Fenno. For alderman, Ward 1,
D. R. Emerson; Ward 3, H. H. Hunt;
Ward 4, Albert Plummer; Ward 5, Dr.
Eben H. Thompson; Ward 6, Albert H.
Roffe; Ward 7, H. E. Bothfield. For school committee, Ward 5, Joseph R. Smith and Frank J. Hale; Ward 6, Samuel Ward and Edward H. Mason; Ward 7, J. Edward Hollis.

The names were acted upon seriatim.
There was quite a breeze of excitement when the time arrived for a ballot for mayor. The house was first divided, but as three names were offered, those of J. A.
Fenno, W. F. Harbach and E. B. Wilson, it became apparent that the only correct method of determination at the strength of the candidates was by opening a marking list which was done on motion of Mr. E.
O. Childs. The result of the ballot is appendix:

John A. Fenno had 50
W. F. Harbach had 45
E. B. Wilson had 30
Mr. Fenno was declared the choice of the convention. Mr. McVicker moved to make the nomination unanimous, but some of the adherents of the defeated candidates demurred and the motion failed.
The scenes just prior to the ballot for mayor were highly dramatic, with a touch
here and there of real comedy. The irrepressible Cox of Ward Three, once set down upon by Mayor Hibbard, was again to the fore and was heavily weighted with parliamentary pointers. That Ward Three Democratic contingent, conspicuous in the national campaign for going back on their party candidate, was on hand and very desirous of running the convention. There was for a time a good deal of confusion, but the deliberations were happily brought to the point of business-like precision
through the efficient work of Chairman Jones who proved the right man in the right place.

The aldermanic nominations were taken up in the order of the wards. For the Ward One delegates in the committee were Mr. L. E. Coffin and he placed that gentleman's name before the convention. On the ballot, Mr. D. R. Emerson won easily, receiving at least nine-tenths of the votes
of those present.

There was another fight over the Ward
Two alderman. Mr. Redpath for the delegates reported the name of Mr. Henry Ross. Mr. C. H. Tainter presented the name of Mr. E. M. Rumery. The latter was nominated by a two-thirds vote of the convention.

On the Ward Three aldermanic nomination, a motion to substitute the name of Mr. E. B. Wilson for that of Mr. Henry Hunt was voted down. The nominations were then completed without further debate, the candidates of the committee being endorsed by the convention.
After completing the list of nominations,
a ward and city committee was chosen and the convention then adjourned.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

THE APPROPRIATION BUDGET CONSIDERED.—ROUTINE MATTERS.

The meeting of the board of aldermen Monday evening, found every member present and the mayor presiding.

A petition was received from certain telephone users in West Newton, asking that the N. E. Telephone & Telegraph Co. be granted locations for poles and wires to reach their residences. Signed by Henry B. Day and seventeen others.

License petitions were received from W. F. Woodman as auctioneer; Roger McCarthy, junk; W. B. Jones for wagon license; L. A. Vachon for two pool tables.

Notices of intention to build were received from W. L. Quint, dwelling house 2834 feet on Lowell street, from Thomas Weldon dwelling house 27x29 feet on California street, from W. B. Weldon dwelling house 27x29 feet on Allison street.

A petition was received from the N. E. Telephone & Telegraph Co. asking location for poles on Chestnut street, between Hillside avenue and Highland street.

FINANCIAL.

The sum of $500 was transferred from interest on water loans to be added to interest on city loan. The city treasurer was authorized to borrow $40,000 in anticipation of taxes; also the sum of $119,000, payable at 4 per cent. per annum in ten years, for the sewer construction, and establishing a sinking fund for its redemption.

The sum of $47,000 was appropriated for December expenses.

THAT COMMISSION.

Alderman Sheppard moved that the order relative to the appointment of a commission on the question of separation of the grades on the Boston & Albany in Newton, and the appropriation of money therefor, be taken from the table. He then moved the withdrawal of the order, the motion prevailing.

A new order was then presented, appointing a commission, consisting of the city engineer and two other experts to consider the relocation, or raising or depression of the tracks in their present location, the park system as proposed regarding Washington street, and render to the city council a report including the probable cost of each plan, also the probable land damages arising therefrom, in April 1893, the sum of $5000 being appropriated for the expense of the above. The order passed unanimously.

LAND FOR HIGH SCHOOL.

Alderman Hyde asked that the matter of the purchase of additional land be taken from the table, and then said the purchase had been recommended by the public property committee, and it was time the matter was settled one way or the other. The present order called for an $8000 appropriation.

Alderman Wilson thought it could lay until after the 1892 appropriations had been decided.

The matter was here allowed to rest until a substitute order was prepared.

Alderman Harbach offered an order requesting the mayor to petition the general court to exclude the indebtedness of the sewer construction from the limited indebtedness of the city and to extend the debt limit, and omit indebtedness in anticipation of taxes from the limited indebtedness.

REPORTS.

Alderman Coffin for the highway committee reported, recommending the laying out of concrete walks on portions of Woodward, Tarbell, Maple, Chestnut, Austin, Alpine, Fayette, Griffin and Hartford streets, as petitioned, the recommendations being accepted. Also on petition of Juddkins and others, laying out Clifton street and taking land thereon, a hearing was held on Tuesday, Dec. 6, at 7:30 o'clock.

Alderman Sheppard reported the filing of plans of locations in Ward Seven by the N. E. Tel. & Tel. Co. as required, and appointing a hearing for Tuesday, Dec. 6, at 8 o'clock.

Alderman Harbach presented an order laying out sewers on Hunter street; an order laying out concrete walks on Chestnut street, taking land thereon and appointing a hearing for Dec. 6 at 7:30 o'clock. The water board were authorized to lay 170 feet 6 inch pipe on Ashton avenue, 125 feet 6 inch pipe on Dalby street, 170 feet 2 inch pipe on Green street, at a cost of $402.

The petitions of Jennie M. Burgess, Fairview street, and estate John Warren, Elmwood street, asking appointments in sewer assessments, were granted.

HIGHWAY MATTERS.

Alderman Coffin reported recommending that a private way over land of Annie A. Higgins near Winter street be discontinued as requested, and following with an order requesting the mayor to execute a release of the land to said Higgins.

The laying out Clifton from Crafts to Nevada street was recommended, and that all interested be notified, a hearing on Tuesday, Dec. 6, at 7:30 o'clock.

An order to relocate Ridge avenue from Parker street east was passed, persons interested to be notified.

An order for the construction of various concrete sidewalks was passed.

Alderman Coffin reported, recommending the granting of a petition of H. F. Ross and others, for the widening of Hull street to forty feet, and appointing a hearing for Tuesday, Dec. 6, at 7:30 in the afternoon and Dec. 12 in the common council. Orders discontinuing a portion of Beacon street, and for laying out of Lenox street and Maple avenue were passed.

Theodore W. Trowbridge petitioned for an auctioneer's license.

SNOW ORDINANCE.

The sidewalk ordinance relating to the clearing away of snow by persons within a certain radius from the B. & A. stations at Newton, Newtonville and West Newton as adopted in the common council was received, and following this the action of the city council on the matter last spring was submitted.

Some confusion was caused by a misunderstanding of the order as adopted by the lower branch and an animated discussion ensued, the general opinion seeming to prevail, with the exception of Alderman Sheppard, that the ordinance applied to each Ward alone.

Alderman Harbach believed in the work being done by the city, and thought a special appropriation should be made.

Alderman Wilson opposed this as being a great expense.

Alderman Churchill said that when the question first came up previous to the appointing of a committee of conference it was thought unwise to have such an ordinance, but it was thought best to have some ordinance of the kind, and the original order was practically voted. He believed a city ordinance was not for one or two Wards alone.

Alderman Sheppard said Newton was both city and town in its division and the only question is where to draw the line. Alderman Harbach wanted the order tabled and printed and taken up at some future time.

Alderman Wilson knew of no city in the commonwealth which had such an ordinance as proposed.

Alderman Hyde thought Newton should be original in her sidewalk as well as sewer ordinance.

Alderman Coffin asked the Alderman from Ward Three how he understood the order to stand, and he replied as applying to the whole city.

The Mayor, for the information of the board, read the order again, and the board concurred, none dissenting.

HIGHWAY AGAIN.

Alderman Hyde introduced Mr. J. E. Titus as wishing to speak to the board. Mr. Titus' land had been damaged by highway construction restricting entrance from Williams street to his lot, and as the highway committee had not taken notice of his petition last July, he asked what course to pursue in the matter.

The Mayor did not consider the matter as belonging to the board to consider. In answer to the Mayor, Alderman Coffin said no action was taken on the petition. The place had been visited but the highway department, he thought, had not exceeded its authority in the work.

A petition from George Warren for wooden stable 40x50 feet on Paul street was received.

Alderman Coffin offered an order relating to the Harbach heirs that part of Beacon street be discontinued.

A recess was then taken and after re-assembling, Alderman Hyde presented a petition from J. E. Titus, relative to the restriction of entrance to his lot from Williams street by work of the highway department.

An order authorizing the appropriation of $7,800 for the purchase from the Clavin estate of additional land for the High School, passed.

BEFORE THE BUDGET.

Before taking up the appropriations for 1893, the Mayor referred to Hon. Wm. P. Ellison who was present in behalf of the Newton Cottage Hospital, and explain the extra $1000 asked by them in the appropriation.

The board voted to go into a committee of the whole, and the Mayor called President Harbach to the chair.

Mr. Ellison gave a very concise statement of the Hospital matter resulting in an expense the past year to Oct. 1, for the care of 286 cases payable by the city at a cost of $3110.73. Rated on this basis the year's expense to the hospital would be $4150 and on this basis they asked for $400 instead of $300.

The discrepancy between this statement and that of the report to Mr. Mosman of the overseers of poor, which showed only $2 cases to Oct. 1, costing about $1800, required light and after considerable discussion, the matter was explained by Mr. Ellison in that the applicants for admittance to the hospital about whom there is any doubt as to their residence in Newton, the overseers of the poor are immediately notified, while patients of actual known residence in Newton are not so reported, the $2 reported probably being doubtful as to residence, and the $304 being known residents. The question of rendering regular reports as required by the contract was brought up, and it was found one report had been made in June and passed the board, but had not come into the hands of the clerk.

The report was hunted up in the overseers' room and duly delivered to the clerk of the board for filing.

THE BUDGET.

Alderman Hyde moved to proceed with the budget.

The list was gone through and checked and the items then taken for consideration.

The first item was the almshouse reduced from $5000 to $4700 by the other branch.

Alderman Churchill said the $300 extra recommended, was for painting the house. It was very much needed and he thought it economy to admit the $300.

Alderman Wilson thought the matter could wait.

Alderman Sheppard thought $300 could be better economized by painting and preserving the house, and moved to make the appropriation $5000.

The next item was clerical assistance in the assessors department, $2500, reduced by the council from $3000.

Mr. C. A. Miner of the assessors, in explanation, said the total expense of clerical assistance the past year had been $1800 against an appropriation of $1200. A good deal of the city treasurer's work estimated at $350 is done in his office, sewer work, $700, and work for the street watering department $125 making a total of $2975, actual expense.

Alderman Hyde moved to restore the amount to $2975.

Alderman Sprague, referring to the increased salaries for drivers in the fire department, recommended by the several committees, said $1.92 a day was very low for twenty hours work seven days in the week, and thought they were worth certainly as much as drivers of city carts who, he heard, got $2.25 for an ordinary day's work.

Chief Bixby, upon request, said he knew of no city which paid its drivers so little, mentioning Lowell, Boston, Cambridge, Somerville and Brookline.

A lengthy discussion followed, Alderman Sprague finally moving that the item stand as recommended by the several committees. The motion was defeated, leaving the item as recommended by the finance committee, without the increase.

The item for new fire alarm stations changed by the council from $900 to $500 was considered.

Chief Bixby said the $1000 recommended to the finance committee included fire boxes, and the cost of pole wires and work of putting them up. After some discussion it was changed to $1000.

Alderman Sheppard moved to strike out in its entirety "widening, reconstruction and improvements" in the highway department.

Alderman Hyde and Churchill objected to any such wholesale measure.

Alderman Harbach and Coffin thought it poor economy to take money from the highways, and from those streets selected for additional care during the year.

It was finally agreed to strike out this total appropriation of $18,150, there seeming few chances of diminishing the budget unless some determined measures were taken with matters which could lay over until another year.

Alderman Harbach moved to strike out the $3000 for use on parks about the city. Last season the $2000 appropriated was all used without doing all that was necessary. The appropriation has been too small and it was thought $1000 more must be used to keep the parks in good shape.

The item for a $8500 highway stable on Auburndale avenue was questioned by Alderman Hyde, who is chairman of the public property committee and knew nothing about it.

Alderman Coffin said complaint was made of the horses now necessarily kept in the horse house, and a place for storing tools and teams was needed as well as for several horses.

Thoughts of the Nonantum horse house fight came up, as Alderman Hyde spoke of the ease which all plans and figures except those of the public property seem to pass. The discussion ended by Alderman Coffin moving to pay for the stable by note and taking it from the budget.

Alderman Wilson wished to know about the registration appropriation.

City Clerk Kingsbury said through an error the estimate was not made large enough, and instead of $1000, $1600 would be necessary.

The item was increased to $1600.

Alderman Churchill taking up the item of the salary of the city solicitor, believed in raising it from $1250 to $1500. The work had been much more arduous this year and the salary was very small for the work done.

Alderman Sprague said $2500 would not pay him for the work he did.

The figures were raised to $1500.

The general appropriation for schools was taken up but after some discussion was left at $133,000 as recommended.

The street light department appropriation, $30,000, was then taken up and Alderman Sheppard submitted the work that could be obtained at this price, a cut from a recommendation of $35,000 with amendment. He said they had arranged a schedule whereby arc lights could be run all night every night in the month; incandescent and gas lights twenty-five nights in each month instead of twenty as now, making a total expense of $20,000 and $1000 for new lights through the year. Considerable discussion was brought out, Alderman Harbach believing in spending more money on streets than lights.

The item was passed.

The budget was finished, the board having cut down the figures $24,000 from those of the council, making a total cut down of $43,500 by both branches or a reduction from the recommendation of the finance committee, $790,406 to $746,906. Last year's appropriation of $690,806 is exceeded by $56,100.

The committee of the whole then dissolved.

AFTERWARDS.

A communication from the common council was received of the defeat of $7850 appropriation for High School land.

Alderman Hyde offered a substitute order making the purchase sum $7825, which was passed.

The alderman then went into executive session.

Free Trade and the Wool Industry.

To the Editor of the Graphic:

Already the great business interests of the country, apprehensive of the victory of the Democratic party in the November election, are preparing for the shock which must come when that party overturns the economical system of this country and inaugurates its policy of free trade.

Mr. Wm. Carey of Oak Hill, one of the largest wool growers of the eleventh district, announces his intention of selling his entire stock, as free trade would ruin his business. A few years ago Mr. Carey began wool raising in a small way.

The beneficial effect of the McKinley bill upon the wool manufacturers of the country cannot be denied. For American wool. And so Mr. Carey has several times in the past two years made additions to his business, and was contemplating still greater additions, when the Democratic victory put an end to all thoughts of increase. And as the careful farmer, who has the dark clouds along the distant horizon, prepares to meet the coming storm, so this careful business man seeing the inevitable approach of disaster, will prepare for the coming danger by disposing of his entire stock. As this is only one of the daily instances of a retreating or of a complete stop of business, can we not say "the industries of Massachusetts are folding their tents like the Arabs and silently stealing away."

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

JOHN A. FENNO NOMINATED AFTER A CLOSE CONTEST.

The Republican convention was held Tuesday evening in the council chamber. Mr. R. H. Gardiner called the convention to order, and Judge W. F. Slocum was appointed chairman and Mr. A. F. Luke, secretary.

All the delegates were present, and it was voted to take an informal ballot for mayor. Ex-Alderman Chadwick presented the name of Alderman John A. Fenno of Ward Two, as the unanimous choice of the delegates from that ward. He had served four years in the city council, had been on both tickets at every election, and was in every way qualified to discharge the duties of mayor of the city. He could spare the time to attend to it, and his record in the city council would bear the closest scrutiny. A year ago as chairman of the highway committee he kept the roads in better condition than usual and turned over a balance at the end of the year, an unheard of thing in that department. The Citizens' party would endorse his nomination and there would be no contest, which would save much needless work and hard feeling among fellow citizens, and also be favorable for the best interests of the city.

Mr. W. E. Sheldon presented the name of Alderman Wilson, saying that Ward Three had never yet had an expert, and now it presented the name of a man who had shown himself an expert financier, and one of the most successful business men of Boston. He had had a year's experience in city affairs, and had a capacity for business equalled by but few. He would have the respect of the whole city, and although he could not say that any other party was pledged to nominate him, yet he hoped they would do so.

Mr. R. H. Gardiner presented the name of Alderman Harbach, as the unanimous choice of Wards Five and Six, and he knew he would be favored by all the Democrats in those wards, who appreciated faithful work in the mayor's chair. Mayor Hibbard had declined a unanimous call to serve another year, as he could not attend to both the city's business and his own. The calls on the mayor had increased tremendously in the last few years, and we want a man who can give his whole time to the city, which Mr. Harbach could do. He had been elected to the city council four years ago, with no experience in city affairs, and known to but few, but he had earned heart and soul into the work, and had given the most careful attention to the minutest details, and was thoroughly familiar with all city affairs. He deprecated partisan politics in city elections, but Mr. Harbach had always voted the straight Republican ticket, and the only objection to him is that he has the arts of the politician; when he makes up his mind he goes ahead, no matter who or what stands in his way. It would be a sad day for Newton when we turn aside from an upright, clear-headed man, for such a reason.

Alderman Hyde seconded the nomination, as the unanimous choice of Ward Five.

Mr. H. C. Hunt of Ward Seven read a letter from Mr. Samuel L. Powers, saying that he had noticed the mention of his name by his friends, but while he appreciated the compliment, he was not and had not been a candidate.

AN INFORMAL BALLOT was then taken with the following result:

W. F. Harbach	17
John A. Fenno	8
E. B. Wilson	—
Total	25

Formal ballots were then taken as follows:

FIRST BALLOT.
W. F. Harbach	17
John A. Fenno	15
E. B. Wilson	3
Total	35

SECOND BALLOT.
John A. Fenno	17
W. F. Harbach	13
E. B. Wilson	5
Total	35

THIRD BALLOT.
John A. Fenno	15
W. F. Harbach	13
E. B. Wilson	7
Total	35

FOURTH BALLOT.
John A. Fenno	17
W. F. Harbach	15
E. B. Wilson	3
Total	35

The total was reported as 35, and it was voted to declare the ballot void and the next result:

John A. Fenno	18
W. F. Harbach	16
Total	34

As Mr. Fenno had a majority, he was declared the nominee and on motion of Mr. R. H. Gardiner the nomination was made unanimous.

ALDERMANIC CANDIDATES were then called for and reported by wards as follows:

Ward One—Reuben Forknall.
Ward Two—Henry F. Ross.
Ward Three—E. B. Wilson.
Ward Four—W. B. Atherton.
Ward Five—Erastus Moulton.
Ward Six—A. H. Roffe.
Ward Seven—H. E. Bothfeld.

As the delegations were all unanimous the above were declared the nominees.

SCHOOL BOARD. Candidates for school board were then called for and Alderman Hyde reported his delegation as unanimous for Frank J. Hale, but divided on the second member. The majority favored Joseph R. Smith, and the minority Dr. S. L. Eaton.

Mr. S. W. Jones presented the claims of the former and Alderman Hyde of the latter.

The Ward Six caucus declared in favor of A. L. Harwood and E. H. Mason, but the former declined and Samuel Ward was presented in his stead.

Ward Seven presented J. Edward Hollis. Where there was no contest the names presented were endorsed, and a ballot was taken for the second member from Ward Five which gave J. R. Smith 28 and Dr. Eaton six, and the former was nominated.

Mr. W. E. Sheldon said he would present formal resolutions embodying the thanks of the convention to Mayor Hibbard, for the able and businesslike manner in which he had performed the duties of Mayor for the past two years, and the resolutions were passed unanimously by a rising vote, after which the convention adjourned.

VALUE OF THREATS.

HOW DESIGNING PERSONS TAKE A MEAN ADVANTAGE.

Wives Are Frequently Terrorized by Their Husbands, While Scapgrace Sons and Wayward Brothers Use Their Positions to Extort Money.

The threat as a weapon of social warfare has not yet been given its truly important place. The sanest persons are inclined to regard the threat as the outcome of a vain and feeble mind and are prompted to laugh when the villain cries "Beware!" Much as we may despise the threat, yet it is indubitable that more people are influenced and made to do what is against their wishes by this means than by actual violence.

The threat wielder is naturally punily proportioned, mentally and physically, and exercises his power most effectually in the woman's world. Women more than men have reason to dread the threat, for man can either afford to run its dangers or proceed to immediate punishment. The woman is defenseless, and though she would frequently like to proceed to extreme, yet traditional convention keeps her within bounds.

Threats are so varied that it would require a large volume to describe them all, but we will speak of the more common.

The dissatisfied son is well known to society. He greedily seizes every occasion to drag his name through the mire and besmirch the family. He is frequently remonstrated with; prayers, tears, exhortations are in vain. Then comes the last injunction, "If you persist in this last course I will disinherit you." "Go ahead," replies the young reprobate; "you cut off my supplies, and I'll disgrace the whole family."

One threat is sufficient to procure the means for his vile wants, and the household lives in abject terror lest the threat welder put into execution his promise of further tortures. It is not only bad sons who exercise this baleful system of money getting; it is as freely employed by bad brothers and husbands.

The pleasant and affectionate brother is probably now reading the society columns of the daily and weekly papers with the utmost care. His drunken comrades once twitted him about his "craze."

"Well," said the unblushing scoundrel, "d'ye see, I have a sister who's no end way up, and when I find she's going to give a party to the nobles I drop her a line and say I'm coming. It fetches the stuff, it does." This heartless scheme to filch from her money to cover her disgrace found a peculiar charm for the besotted minds of his companions.

The threat was more potent than the performance, for if the good lady had had the moral courage to send for an officer and declare the fellow a lunatic she would have been saved from his now never-ending persecution.

How many women suffer from the threat of their devoted husbands? And how many wives slave themselves to death through threats from their spouses? The threat cannot be successfully wielded by men whose mentality lacks intuition. To a man whose intuitions are good, and who reads human nature easily, the threat is a powerful weapon. It really requires a man who can analyze emotion and passion to reach the acme of perfection as a threat wielder. The vulgar threatener loses his charm, but the accomplished villain can so torture his victim or victims that the pangs endured by the patrons of the auto da fe were exquisite pleasures in comparison.

Apparently the kindest and most subservient husbands can, by judicious handling of the threat, drive their wives almost to desperation at a social function, and none but them know of the secret punishment. To employ the threat so that it pesters every fiber of your victim's body the tenderest points in your opponent's armor must be known. That once being discovered it is marvelous what ramifications the threat can take. The merest glance can become a threat, and the person is as completely under the glamour of this delicate inquisition as the diminutive mouse in the claws of a powerful cat.

The most successful threat is not to the woman herself, for a woman's patience and pluck under such circumstances can be provokingly humiliating, and there is no man who feels exactly a hero when the person he has sworn to honor and protect will regard him with humid eyes and meekly say, "As you like, dearest."

Women, as a general rule, love martyrdom, and there are some so peculiarly constituted as to derive the severest enjoyment from the contemplation that their liege lords were harboring in their minds some hideous schemes of vengeance against them. But where this would fail the threat of the amiable individual to do something to himself would be eminently successful. Women above all things feel disgrace, and the anguish at the loss of an amiable husband by being hit over the head with a bungstarter is trivial when compared to the sorrow for the manner of his death. It would not be for the flight of her husband's soul the tears were shed, but for the disgraceful circumstances attending the departure. The fact that it was not a respectable demise for which she could be properly consoled was the only bitter remembrance of her sweet widowhood.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Fun for the Monkey.

A pet monkey was sitting in my grandmother's drawing room when a lady came in and sat down. The monkey, after watching her for some time from the back of the chair on which he was perched, snatched the visitor's bonnet from her head, put it on his own, and defied all attempts to catch him and rescue the bonnet. At last, the window being open, he leaped out upon the lamp-post, and there sat, sharing the delight of the passersby, looking as Blucher must have looked when, years after, he appeared on the field of Waterloo in an old lady's bonnet.—London Spectator.

FENNO FOR MAYOR.

The Republican convention made the best choice possible in deciding upon ex-Alderman John A. Fenno for mayor. It was a close and interesting contest and five ballots were necessary for a choice. Alderman Powers sent in a letter stating that he was not and had not been a candidate, which left three men in the field, and on the first ballot Alderman Harbach led with 17 votes, dropping on the second to 13, and gaining one on the fourth and fifth. His strength is said to have come from Wards One, Five and Six, while Ward Three, after voting for Alderman Wilson once, went over to ex-Alderman Fenno, with Wards Two and Seven, and most of Ward Four. The Harbach men did their best but they could not gain the extra vote needed to nominate him, while Alderman Wilson's friends believed that he was most urgently needed in his present position, and therefore did not make a very strenuous effort to secure his nomination.

The result has given great satisfaction to all parties. The Republicans believe it has saved them from a bitter contest with the result doubtful, and now they are on the winning side, and the Citizens are pleased at the endorsement of their candidate. There was some talk of a nomination paper, but even if such action should be taken, it would have no serious effect on the election, as Mr. Fenno is sure of a practically unanimous vote.

The union of both parties in favor of one candidate is an excellent thing for the reputation of the city of Newton, as it shows that all parties here are more interested in the prosperity of the city than in any petty local squabbles, and a better choice than Mr. Fenno could not well have been made. He is not given to bluster, or to making a great show over what he does, but we have had few such efficient men in the city government. He is always willing to listen courteously to the other side, and to examine the arguments presented, and in his career in the city council he could always be depended on to look after the interests of the people. He believed in fairness and justice to all, he could be firm in defence of any cause in which he believed, but he never was so obstinate as to refuse to listen to any arguments against him, and in this quality he strongly resembles Mayor Hibbard, to whom he promises to be a worthy successor.

Newton's interests will be safe under his administration, there will be no extravagance, but all the needs of the city will be efficiently looked after, and the thing to do is to give him a board of aldermen who will be well qualified to make the next administration efficient in every department. It does not make so much difference who is sent to the council, but in the board of aldermen we need liberal-minded, practical business men, and a wise selection should be made from both tickets.

ELECTION EXPENSES.

By the 8th of December the treasurers of political committees in this state which have received, expended or disbursed any money or the equivalent of money, or incurred any liability to pay money in connection with the recent election, if the aggregate of such receipts or expenditures and liabilities shall exceed $20, must file a detailed account with the city or town clerk of their respective city or town. A failure to do this or a failure to make an absolutely honest statement, both of receipts (including the name of the contributor) and disbursements, with the date and reason for the same, will render the committee treasurer liable to punishment by fine of not exceeding $100, or by imprisonment in jail for not more than one year, or by both fine and imprisonment. More than this, every person who has received money, or the equivalent of money, or has spent money, or its equivalent, to an amount exceeding $20, on his own account, and not through a political committee, for the purpose of aiding or promoting the success or defeat of a political party, or of electing or defeating a candidate, must file a statement of such receipt or expenses, and a failure to do this will be punishable in the manner indicated above.

The provisions of the law are clearly stated above by the Boston Herald, and it would seem as if the law fully covered the case. The Election Laws League has prepared a number of blanks to be filled out when cases of a violation of the law are known or suspected, and these are to be sent to all the city and town clerks.

In the case of Newton there are pretty grave rumors in circulation of money being used for other purposes than legitimate expenses, and many men will watch carefully the returns made to the city clerk to see if certain payments of which they have, or profess to have, knowledge are included in these returns. Every man who makes any pretences to honesty and patriotism ought to be actively interested in seeing that this law is enforced, and that any violations of it are brought to the notice of the proper authorities. The matter transcends in importance any other question involved in politics, for if elections can be carried by the use of money, then we might as well bid farewell to any hope of honest government. The public conscience seems to be strangely dulled on this question. We have heard many otherwise honorable gentlemen defend the use of money to elect their candidate, as a perfectly proper thing to do, and they evidently will see nothing wrong in it. They are honorable citizens, they occupy high positions in church or society, in other ways they are model citizens, yet they profess that they can see nothing wrong in carrying an election by corrupt methods, provided their own party is benefitted. Probably a good deal of this talk is only due to the heat engendered by an election, but when honorable men will even excuse such methods there is evidently need of a general revival, and a quickening of the public conscience.

There are so many ways of evading a law, that a strict enforcement of the law relating to election expenses seems too much to hope for, but if an example could be made of those who have violated the law, by giving them the full penalty, it would do much to make the corrupt use of money in elections disreputable. The public regard wrong actions much as the little girl, who said that such a thing was worse than wicked, it was vulgar, and when once the bribe-giver has been imprisoned, such a means of carrying an election will cease to be considered smart, and its full enormity will be realized.

THE CITIZENS' CAUCUS.

The Citizens' Mass Caucus was well attended and contained the usual number of men who wanted things run for their own personal benefit, or to pay off some private grudge, without any regard for the good of the Citizens' organization. It was certainly curious to witness the friends of Alderman Harbach, a straight Republican, who, Mr. Gardner says, always votes his straight party ticket, come in and attempt to carry the convention for him. Such action was hardly consistent, to say the least. There was also a fight made in behalf of Alderman Wilson, but we do not believe that it had that gentleman's sanction. To have taken any other course than to endorse the nomination of Mr. Fenno, would have been a sad blow to the Citizens' movement, and perhaps this was one secret of the opposition made to him.

The wisest leaders happily prevailed, and Mr. Fenno is certain of election, no matter who takes out nomination papers. The resolution adopted, calling for the repeal of the sewer ordinance, was rather amusing, coming before the nomination of any candidate, and then putting up one man at least, who worked hard to pass it, and one wonders whether he had given satisfactory signs of repentance. The men who voted for the resolution and then worked for Alderman Harbach, the chief author of the ordinance, and the man who tried his best to have the whole cost assessed on abutters, must have a curious idea of consistency. Mr. Fenno can certainly stand on the resolutions, as he was the chief opponent of Alderman Harbach's plan.

For aldermen, the Citizens have seconded the Republican nominations in the case of Messrs. Roffe and Bothfeld of Wards Six and Seven, and have put up new men in the other wards. Their nominees in Wards One and Five are exceptionally strong ones, and will probably receive the votes of a large number of Republicans.

Mr. D. R. Emerson of Ward One ought to have an easy victory, as he is one of the large property owners in the city, a first class business man, and represents the class it is especially desirable to have interested in city affairs, as they have made Newton what it is to-day. Dr. Thompson of Ward Five is one of the leading citizens of that ward, a wide awake and active man, and he is especially popular in his own ward, and throughout the city.

In the other wards the Republicans have up very strong candidates, and they will probably have the advantage over their competitors on the Citizens' ticket.

The new time table has been the great subject of interest this week, the number of trains to Boston having been increased from thirty-three to forty, and the number of trains out from thirty to thirty-five. There is also one new Sunday train each way, going in at 3.21 from Newton and one coming out at 2.35. There are no additional express trains, we are sorry to say, but these additional trains lead all to think well of the Boston and Albany management. The new trains were sandwiched in at hours when trains were badly needed. The early trains out are much better arranged, and it is now seldom necessary to wait over half an hour for a train. The changes are so many they were rather confusing at first, and on Monday most people got either a later or an earlier train than the one they started for. Another improvement on the B. & A. is the much better light furnished, a new style of lamp having been put in many cars, so that it is possible to read a paper on trains running after dark. Many of the gloomy old cars still remain, however, to emphasize by contrast the improvement that has been made.

The sidewalk ordinance, which provides for the clearing of snow by abutters from sidewalks within a specified distance of the railroad stations in Newton, Newtonville and West Newton, has been passed by the City Council, and residents in those sections will not be so dependent on their neighbors in the future. The other sections have invested so largely in rubber boots that they do not care to have their walks cleared, as that would take away all excuse for using them. The order was passed by the Council a week ago and when it came up in the board of aldermen several of the members did not know where they were at, and thought it applied to the whole city. Alderman Sheppard said the Newton papers stated that the Common Council had amended it so that it only applied to three villages, to which a member from the suburbs on the south side replied that the Newton papers were no criterion, and he knew it applied to the whole city. Mayor Hibbard kindly read the order and it was found that the south side aldermen were wrong and the Newton papers were right, as they usually are.

A CORRESPONDENT asserts that a gentleman of Oak Hill who has found wool raising profitable the past two or three years, is so alarmed at the Democratic victory that he is going to give up the business. But any one who found any profit in wool raising the past few years, when the price has been lower than ever before, ought not to be easily discouraged. Congressman Stevens and many other experienced men assert that the price of American wool will go up when the tax on foreign wool is lowered sufficiently to allow of native wool being mixed with it. Perhaps too, then the all wool goods will be made of something else besides shoddy, and our foreigners will get the benefit of this change. But the chief importance of the letter is in showing that farming and also the keeping of sheep is profitable in the city of Newton, which will surprise many people who thought they knew all about Newton.

ALDERMAN SHEPPARD's order for the appointment of a commission of three competent engineers to consider the grade crossing problem, and the three plans for their abolition which have been proposed, was passed by both branches of the City Council, Monday night, and the expense of the same limited to $5,000. The plan is generally favored by the people, who would like to have the opinion of experts on the question, which is the most important one now before the city of Newton, in that its decision will have an important effect on the future growth of a large section, and on the comfort of the citizens. The commission will have six months in which to make their report, and Mayor Hibbard can be depended on to appoint men in whom the citizens will have perfect confidence.

REV. AMOS E. LAWRENCE retires from the school board after a service of fifteen years, and his retirement was marked by a vote of thanks and very appreciative remarks at the Ward Six caucus. Few men have given so many years of service to their city, and very few men have been as well qualified as Mr. Lawrence to advance the interests of education. He has done a good deal in helping to raise the Newton schools to their present high position, and his attitude in regard to the schools has always been a perfectly disinterested one. People all over the city regret to learn of his refusal to accept another term.

THE tickets are now all made up for the city election, and now let us all wish success to the best man. In city elections people refuse to be bound by any party ties and have no regard for caucus dictations, which is the reason why Newton has always been so well governed. It will be a bad day for the city when a nomination by any party is equivalent to an election. Caucuses can be packed and otherwise manipulated but something more is needed to secure an election.

It looks now as though we should have an economical administration of city affairs next year, and perhaps the appropriation bill could stand more pruning still. Mayor-to-be Fenno is not a man who make a great display over what he does, but he gets there all the same without exceeding his appropriations, something that could not be said of some chairmen of committees, who rush about as if they had the whole world on their shoulders.

A CORRESPONDENT wants to know what that solid body of Democrats was doing at the Ward One Republican caucus. We can not say, but probably they were helping to make things interesting for the Republicans, that is generally the mission of Democrats. If they could help to foist a weak or unpopular candidate on the Republicans, they were merely making things brighter for their own side. If our correspondent had any objections to make he should have made them at the caucus.

The action of the Ward One delegates at the Republican convention in voting solidly for Harbach every time has caused much surprise. It was not thought that Ward One was a Harbach ward, but as Councilman Fornkall boasted that he had fixed the caucus for his own nomination, perhaps he also fixed it for Mr. Harbach.

ALDERMAN HARBACH is not easily discouraged. He was defeated as a candidate before the Republican convention, he was then defeated by the Citizens' convention, and now he is getting out nomination papers. This for a man who was vouched for as always voting the straight Republican ticket is pretty good.

MAYOR HIBBARD has appointed on the grade crossing commission, City Engineer Noyes and Messrs. Chas. A. Allen and Geo. S. Rice.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS.

COLUMBIA THEATRE—"Surrender," the new war drama by Augustus Thomas had its first presentation on any stage at the Columbia Theatre, on Monday evening, by Charles Frohman's Boston stock company. The author has made a capital play, filling in his sombre background of the battle-raged drama of the civil war with the sparkle and shine of wit and sentiment in the foreground, with brave Yankee boys and pretty Southern girls clasping hands across Dixie's land. Then the new company headed by Louis Aldrich and Rose Eyttinge is an excellent one, and under the inspiration of the genial audience the production went with a vim and spirit that carried all before it. "Surrender" is announced until further notice.

HOLLIS STREET THEATRE—The appearance of Mr. R. H. Sothorn at the Hollis Street Theatre is a seldom presented but always acceptable character of an Irish gentleman has proved very attractive indeed, and at few performances were there any vacant seats, while frequently it was necessary to remove the orchestra to accommodate the extra demand for seats. Mr. Sothorn will appear in this play for one week more at the Hollis Street Theatre, which will positively be the last, the final performance being given Saturday, Dec. 3, with the usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees. The performance is so regulated that suburban patrons may be sure of catching their train, the curtain never dropping later than 10.35 at nights.

IN THE SHADOWS.

As the shadows filled the room with peace,
We spoke of our absent friends:
How some were dead and some were sped
To the faraway earth ends.

And by some magic of yearning hearts
The lost seemed warm and near;
Yea, loved so much we could almost touch
Their hands and feel them here.

And when the lamps were lit, and speech
Waxed merrier, yet the place
Felt strangely bare, and each one there Missed some beloved face.
—Richard Burton in Harper's Weekly.

New York's Women Authors.

Among the exhibits presented at Chicago by the women managers will be a compilation of the names of all the women authors who are natives of New York state or hold residence therein. The list already embraces over 200 authors of either books, articles or pamphlets of acknowledged merit. In the list thus far collected are to be found the names of Mrs. Isabella Macdonald Alden (Pansy), Mrs. Mary Clemmer Ames, Mrs. Amelia Barr, Mrs. Lillie Devereux Blake, Rose Elizabeth Cleveland, Susan Fenimore Cooper, Mrs. Croly (Jenny June), Mary E. Mapes Dodge, Mary J. Holmes, Mrs. Sarah Jane Lippincott, Mrs. Anna Katherine Green Rohlf, Mrs. E. D. E. N. Southworth, Mrs. Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Susan Warner, Mrs. Ella Wheeler Wilcox, Mrs. Julia Wright, Eliza Ann Youmans and more equally familiar names.—Albany Letter.

Moore's Greatest Poem.

"Lalla Rookh" was read universally and translated into several European languages. The poem has no lofty Miltonic flights—no hall of Eblis reaching the height of the sublime—but it is calculated to suit the taste of every order of the mind. Young and old, educated and uneducated, comprehend its luxurious imagery, sweet passages, fascinating descriptions and gorgeous voluptuousness; hence the uncommon popularity of the poem. Those who have hearts for the deeper things of humanity—what enjoyments come not from external color, orient hues and Tyrian purple?—will prefer the heart which is shown in many of Moore's other productions.—Westminster Review.

Apples as Medicine.

Chemically, the apple is composed of vegetable fiber, albumen, sugar, gum, chlorophyll, malic acid, gallic acid, lime and much water. Furthermore, the German analysts say that the apple contains a larger percentage of phosphorus than any other fruit or vegetable. The phosphorus is admirably adapted for renewing the essential nervous matter, leucithin, of the brain and spinal chord. It is perhaps for the same reason, rudely understood, that old Scandinavian traditions represent the apple as the food of the gods, when they felt themselves to be growing feeble and infirm, resorted to this fruit for renewing their powers of mind and body.—Medical Age.

Why They Wouldn't Cash It.

A well known broker presented one of John Jacob Astor's checks at a downtown bank the other day and was surprised beyond measure when the paying teller refused to cash it, remarking with a significant smile: "That man's checks are no good here. He gives us more trouble than all our depositors put together. We won't touch it."
"What!" exclaimed the broker, "won't cash that check? Why, man alive, I've known who Mr. Astor is? Great!"
"Hold on," interposed the teller; "the check isn't signed. We get 'em that way every day. They are the most troublesome of all our depositions." But the broker had fled.—New York Times.

A union Thanksgiving service was held in the Methodist church yesterday morning.

Mrs. Edwin Lane, who has been visiting here, has returned to her home in Gloucester.

Miss Dearborn, who has been the guest of Mrs. Henry Fisher, has returned to her home in Exeter, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Davis of Walnut terrace are occupying their winter residence, Union Park, Boston.

A praise service will be given in the Central church Sunday evening. The choir will be assisted by an orchestra.

Superintendent Aldrich delivers an address at the meeting of the Mass. Teachers Association in Springfield this afternoon on "The future of the primary schools."

C. F. Shirley has been doing some fine work on the Newton club league team. He put up a total of over 500 in three matches played and leads in the average classification.

Gettemane Commandey, K. T. met Tuesday evening. The red cross degree was conferred on six candidates. The usual collation was partaken of following the ceremonies.

Mr. Bert Stiles and Mr. Arthur A. Vose were the piano instrumentalists at a concert given by members of the Harvard Medical school in the People's church, Boston, Tuesday evening.

A fair will be held in the Methodist church vestry Wednesday and Thursday of next week. Many interesting features are promised and the tables will be liberally equipped with holiday goods.

There are letters at the postoffice for James Boyd, Charles Campbell, Ceresa Capuano, Lamo Colyer, William Hamilton, Mrs. L. S. McKenzie, Emma Novehart, Berton Roberts, R. S. Shaw, C. E. Veasey and Charles West.

Mr. Charles W. Lowell now occupies his new residence, corner Lowell and Crafts street. He has lately occupied a prominent position with the firm of E. Russell & Co., Franklin street, Boston. He was formerly with the Blair Camera Company.

Rev. V. A. Cooper, superintendent of the Little Wanderers' Home of Boston, preached Sunday evening in the Methodist church. Incidentally, he gave an account of the work of the home. A choir of the children rendered selections during the services.

The ladies of the Methodist church are to hold a fair in the vestry, Wednesday and Thursday next. An oyster supper will be given the first night and a pie supper on Thursday evening. We remember that these pie suppers years ago were a great success.

The regular meeting of Gen. Hull Lodge, A. O. U. W., was held at Tremont hall, Monday evening, at which time the one hundredth member was admitted, and to commemorate the event, "The Tales of a Wayside Inn" were given. Music by Atwood's orchestra. Refreshments were served during the evening.

Mr. E. P. Hatch who has been nominated by a nomination paper to represent this Ward in the Common Council, has fifty of the leading citizens among the signers, and seems to be a general favorite. Mr. Hatch is known as a great worker, and whatever he undertakes is well done. If he makes as good a Common Councilman as he does a bank cashier, the Ward could not ask for anything more.

The seventeenth anniversary of the Goddard Literary Union was a very interesting occasion. Among those present were some of the charter members besides many who joined during the intervening period from the date of organization to the present time. The guests were received by a committee comprising Mrs. J. L. Adams, Mrs. Hartshorn and Rev. and Mrs. Ira A. Priest. Following the social features, an entertainment was enjoyed, consisting of a piano solo, original selection by Mr. Bradshaw; cornet solo, Charles Atwood; soprano solo, Mrs. Gertrude C. Dickinson; recitation, Miss Maud Fennel; violin solo, Miss Handley; song, Miss Maud Davis; recitation, Mrs. George; piano, Miss Glynne; recitation, Mr. Pierce; reading, Miss Linda Curtis. A letter from Mrs. M. T. Goddard was read. The musical and dramatic portions of the program proved a source of much pleasure to those present.

Sociable of the Unitarian Society in the church parlors tonight. A feature will be the old time singing skule under the direction of Mr. Joseph Allen.

Union Thanksgiving services were held in the Congregational church yesterday. There was a large attendance. The sermon was delivered by Rev. Dr. Patrick.

Mr. Edward B. Wilson received the unanimous re-nomination for alderman in the Republican convention. He was supported for mayor by the Ward Three delegation on the first formal ballot.

Robertson's comedy of "Caste" will be presented by "The Players" in the city hall next Monday and Tuesday evenings. The piece will be given a superb set and the parts have been carefully distributed.

A sparring match in which glimmered a spark of the tales of the young giant of the medieval period was stopped by the police Monday evening. It was all about a fair lady and was settled in a most ignominious way—in court.

Mrs. Ellery Peabody gave an "at home" Tuesday afternoon. She was assisted in receiving by Mrs. John Avery and Mrs. Peabody. It was a very pleasant social affair attended by a large company of neighbors and friends.

A meeting of the Congregational Club was held in the Second Congregational church Monday evening. The usual social meeting and supper preceded the exercises in the chapel. The address on the topic "Among Men, Books and Churches in Holland and England" was delivered by Rev. William E. Griffis, D. D., of Boston.

The music for the occasion was furnished by the quartet of the Newton Highlands Congregational church.

Quite a little gathering assembled at the office of Dalby & Co. on Saturday last, the occasion being the presentation of a handsome antique rocking chair in embossed leather, to Arthur R. Richardson, an employee of the above firm. Mr. Geo. A. Treat presented the same in an appropriate speech. The recipient was completely surprised. He managed to say however, "Gentlemen, I thank you, 'tis a dandy."

There will be a Mother's Rally at the Methodist church in Auburndale on Wednesday the 30th inst. Addresses will be given by Miss Helen Richardson of Boston, India and Mrs. Kate L. Stevenson of Newton. H. S. Shapleigh, Pres. of the Maternal Association, will lead the devotional exercises. Morning session at 10. Afternoon session at 2 o'clock. Basket lunch, hot coffee provided.

Mrs. Dr. Thayer narrowly escaped the misfortune of losing a valuable gold watch recently in Boston. While standing before one of the stores on Washington street, she felt it violently wrested from her side. Fortunately, a police officer chanced to be passing, and, hearing her cry, he called for aid, alighted, and made pursuit of a man who was making flight through the crowd, arresting him with the watch in his grasp.

Mr. S. F. Cate desires to express his gratitude to those kind friends, members of orders, societies, and others identified with the Livery Men's Association, for the beautiful tributes sent upon the occasion of his wife's funeral last Saturday. He also desires to express his appreciation of the services and ministrations of those friends who, during Mrs. Cate's long illness, helped to brighten the sick room and gladden her heart through the weary hours of pain and suffering.

At the meeting of J. Wiley Edmonds Camp 100, Sons of Veterans, Monday evening, officers were nominated as follows, the election taking place, Dec. 5th. For Captain, E. Y. Willey, C. E. Kimball and J. L. Sears. For 1st lieutenant, C. E. Kimball, J. F. Ramsdell, E. Y. Willey. For 2nd lieutenant, J. F. Ramsdell, Camp council, A. S. Klawns, H. S. Hawkes, F. D. MacFried, T. W. Casmay, C. E. Kimball, Delegate T. W. Casmay. Alternates, E. Y. Willey, J. H. Owens. Election, Dec. 5.

The funeral of Mrs. S. F. Cate took place from her home on Highland street last Saturday afternoon. There was a large attendance. Rev. J. C. Jaynes officiated and Newton Lodge, I. O. O. F., quartet rendered appropriate selections, including "Still, Still with Thee," "Consolation," "Fading Away," "Home One by One." The large collection of floral tributes comprised many beautiful designs. Pillows were sent by the Dornie Casket Company, and the family, the latter inscribed "With love and sympathy," "The Livery Stable Keepers Association sent a harp with broken string and Mr. Cate's employees a wreath and sickle. Other designs were sent by Mrs. Manning, Newton Lodge, I. O. O. F., Garden City Lodge, K. L., Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Kelly, Mr. Nugent and Mrs. Chandler. The interment was in the family lot in the Newton cemetery.

AUBURNDALE.

The Newton Rubber Co's new office is nearly finished.

Miss Dewey of Woodstock, Vt., has been visiting her sister.

Cobbler Ryan has moved into Procter's small store on Procter avenue.

H. W. Torsleff has put a third team on the oil route conducted by him.

Mr. P. A. Hartley and family spent Thanksgiving at Fall River.

The Review Club will meet with Mrs. Cooley on Central street, Tuesday a. m., Nov. 29.

Miss Hildreth of Ash street is entertaining three friends from Wellesley College.

Dr. Clarke is entertaining his uncle from Pittsburg, who holds a lieutenancy in the U. S. Navy.

Our streets are undergoing their annual fall cleaning at the hands of the highway department.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Hunt and Master Hunt have returned to their apartments at the Vendome, for the winter.

Mr. N. P. Snell left Tuesday noon on an extended trip to Paris, his many friends join in wishing him a pleasant voyage.

Mr. W. F. Hadlock, who has been confined to the house for the past week, has sufficiently recovered to be at his place of business again.

The stores have been displaying an unusually good assortment of Thanksgiving dainties this week. As of old, a long, well filled pocket book makes a good Thanksgiving.

Mr. L. Papanti will open a dancing class in Auburn hall, on Saturday. Parents who wish to have their children join a select class will please call at the hall at 2 p. m., Saturday. See adv.

Miss Coffin gave a charming dancing party at the Woodland Park Hotel, on Friday evening. Some elegant toilets were worn by the fair debutantes. Cheeney played for the entertainment, which was an early affair.

There are letters advertised for James Carey, Mrs. G. C. Harris, Mrs. Mary M. Healey, Larell Emory, Miss Norah Fox, Miss Mary Glenn, Miss Lucy A. Gleason, Miss Madeline Kinnon, Mrs. Lizzie B. Nicholson, Charles Perry.

A Mother's rally to which all ladies are cordially invited, will be held under the auspices of the W. C. T. Union of this city in the Methodist church, Auburndale, Wednesday Nov. 30. Sessions at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. There will be interesting addresses; among them, one by Mrs. Stevenson of Newton, on social purity, and one by Miss Richardson of India, on Rescue work for Erring Women. Ladies are requested to bring written questions for question box, and also basket lunch. Hot coffee will be served.

One of Loker's wood teams met with quite a mishap on Monday forenoon. As the team was going up Auburn street to the bridge, loaded with wood, the horse strap broke, freeing the horse from the wagon. The loaded wagon backed down the hill from the bridge gaining great impetus, crossed the side walk in front of Woodbury's store and broke three large lights of glass in one of the show windows.

One of the delivery wagons belonging to Pluta's market narrowly escaped being ground to atoms, Viny Pluta seeing the accident getting the wagon out of the way just in time.

The house of Mr. Geo. W. Bourne on Woodbine street was entered by burglars on Friday night of last week. The burglars gained an entrance by breaking the glass in one of the kitchen windows and throwing back the sash lock. Mr. Bourne gave chase, and the burglars left without securing any booty. It will be remembered that the same house was broken into on the night of the Republican torchlight parade and some thirty or forty dollars taken. The general belief in this place is that the party making the breaks was someone that was familiar with the interior of the house and had a knowledge of the habits of the inmates.

The chapel connected with the Congregational church has recently been remodeled and newly furnished, presenting an improved and attractive appearance. There is a graceful balcony around three sides of the chancel. The frescoing and tinting of the walls will be in excellent taste, when finished, also the furnishing, and the same may be said of the ladies rooms, and the class rooms. The cloak rooms are convenient, and the kitchen arrangements, all one could desire. The chapel inside is much improved every way. Expenses have been incurred in furnishing the chapel, to help defray these an entertainment will be given there on Wednesday evening, Dec. 14. Particulars later. Friends please note the date.

Mr. L. E. Leland has almost entirely recovered from his recent sickness.

The cadets of St. John's church have been enlarged in numbers from forty to over one hundred.

Mr. Levi Wales' horse attached to a light wagon ran away Tuesday morning on the hill above the station. The wagon and harness were damaged slightly.

Mr. D. F. Warren has secured a trip ticket to the world's fair and return, which he won be sending in the most coupons cut from the Boston Post as a Sulphur Bitters advertisement.

A new firm has taken charge of C. A. Wiswall's paper mills, the latter selling out. Mr. Wiswall has bought a water privilege in New Hampshire and will probably build and operate a mill there.

The lecture in the course now being held at the Methodist Episcopal church, which was to be given on Monday evening last by Rev. W. P. Perrin on his travels through Samaria and Galilee, has been postponed to Wednesday evening next, Nov. 30. The lecture will be illustrated with a fine set of stereoscopic views, and will be well worth attending.

The Democrats of this place and Wellesley celebrated with much enthusiasm the recent victory, Tuesday evening. The greater part of the residences in Wellesley were beautifully decorated and illuminated and as the procession, headed by the Boyle O'Reilly band, passed different sections, people continually cheered. A grand display of fireworks added beauty to the scene.

SEVERAL PASSENGERS HURT.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT AT NEWTON HIGHLANDS STATION.

An accident, which resulted in the destruction of considerable rolling stock, and in which several persons were injured, none seriously, occurred at 3.10 o'clock Saturday afternoon on the circuit branch of the Boston & Albany railroad at the Newton Highlands station.

A passenger train going around the circuit road, arriving at Newton Highlands at 3.05 o'clock, left two New York & New England coaches at the station.

When the circuit train departed, an engine backed down from the Woonsocket branch of the New York & New England railroad, and the coaches were attached. They contained only a few passengers, bound for Needham and points beyond on the New York & New England railroad.

Just after this train got under headway an empty Boston & Albany gravel train, the engine of which was reversed, the tender being in front, came around a sharp curve east of the Highlands station, and crashed into the rear of the passenger train. The blunt end of the tender prevented the telescoping of the rear car, the end of which was smashed in.

The force of the concussion carried the car forward and shoved the car in front over the tender of the passenger train engine.

Both coaches were pretty badly stove up and the passenger engine considerably damaged.

The cab and boiler of the gravel engine was smashed in and 10 cars piled up in a heap.

The wreckage was strewn over the outward and inward tracks and stopped the running of trains for several hours.

When the engineer of the gravel train, Frank Jenkins, saw that a collision was inevitable, he reversed the lever of his engine and jumped from the cab, the fireman following suit. Neither of the men were hurt.

Immediately after the accident the railroad men and citizens hurried to the coaches, which were, however, emptied when they arrived. It was ascertained that the injuries of the passengers consisted largely of simple cuts and bruises, the result of the shock and contact with broken glass.

Mrs. Taey of Newton Upper Falls was not quite so fortunate as the others. She, it is thought, sustained injuries to the spine.

Some persons believe that the accident was due to carelessness on the part of the engineer of the gravel train. Others attribute it to the automatic signal about one-fourth of a mile east of the Highlands station, which, they think, failed to work.

Engineer Jenkins says that the signal was clear when he passed. He was making 15 miles an hour.

An employee in Crain's factory is reported, on credible authority, as stating that the danger signal was displayed and that the red disc was up when the gravel train came along.

The responsibility will be made clear, probably, at the investigation to be held by the railroad people this week. In regard to the signal it is said that there has been a call for one that could be worked by a lever at the Highlands station and that the Boston & Albany officials have been requested to locate one there. This proposed signal, it was thought, would insure still greater safety, and its necessity was urged because detached cars bound for Needham and beyond on the New York & New England road often wait five minutes at the Newton Highlands station.

A Reaction Against Lodgeism.

(Springfield Republican.)

However little or much it may amount to, there is certainly a growing feeling among Republicans that it would be a wise thing for the party to look beyond Henry Cabot Lodge for its candidate for United States senator. In the sobering light of these after-election days it is being seen that Mr. Lodge has been playing politics for himself, and the action of the Republican state convention in his behalf and the pledges exacted by local caucuses are all being traced to their source. We have never seen in this state any such canvass as Mr. Lodge has made in pursuit of the high office that he aspires to win, and his campaign is much more like a specimen of Empire state politics than any other experience Massachusetts has had since the days of Ben Butler's frank asking for what he wanted. There certainly are signs of a healthy reaction against Lodgeism, and it is to be hoped that it may continue to spread. Meantime the friends of Mr. Crapo have begun to move, as will be seen by the following circular letter that is being sent to members-elect of the Senate and House. It is dated New Bedford and reads:

Dear Sir: The senator and representatives-elect to the Legislature from New Bedford, in behalf of his many friends, present for your consideration as candidates for the Legislature the name of Mr. William W. Crapo of New Bedford. You are doubtless aware that an effort is being made to secure the election of members-elect in favor of a particular candidate. As the claims of Mr. Crapo will be submitted to the Legislature when it assembles, you are asked not to pre-judge the case, nor permit yourself to be controlled in your judgment by any other than a fair comparison of the merits of all candidates.

WILLIAM M. BUTLER, Senator-elect.
SAMUEL ROSS, Representative-elect.
CHARLES P. RUGG, Representative-elect.
GEORGE M. EDDY, Representative-elect.

Mr. Crapo is to be preferred to Mr. Lodge, and John D. Long, either. The latter is not a candidate in the sense of seeking the place, but he could not refuse to serve if called by the Legislature. Let the office seek the man after the good old fashion that is passing away.

Lasell Notes.

Miss Ransom still continues to improve.

Thanksgiving recess began on Wednesday. School resumes work on Tuesday next.

A number of the students have been to see the sights at Mechanic's Fair, and others are going.

Prof. W. J. Rolfe has begun his year's course of Shakespearean lectures at the Seminary, and has an unusually large class this year. They are at present studying the tragedy of Julius Caesar.

The military drill remains under Major Benyon's charge, and is, for the last three years, voluntary. Fully four-fifths of the pupils take the training and derive much pleasure as well as profit from it.

Thirty of the young women are taking swimming lessons under Mrs. Arthur Winslow's able management. Each pupil takes, on an average, two lessons a week, though some less frequently. One is already mistress of the art, and another rapidly nearing that goal.

A party of the girls, under Mr. Bragdon's escort, attended the services at the Rescue Mission in Boston, Tuesday evening, Nov. 15. It was an occasion of special interest. There were stirring addresses by Mr. Harry Ballou of New York and others, and altogether the services were very good and greatly enjoyed.

Several new books have recently been added to the library, among others H. C. Carpenter's excellent work on the Bassett-Karen Mission, (presented by Mrs. Carpenter, a former pupil), Prescott's Conquest of Peru, Lamb's Tales from Shakespeare's Tragedies and Lang's latest collection of poems, The Blue Book of Poetry.

Rev. W. D. Bridge, director of the Chautauqua school of shorthand, is this year in charge of the department of shorthand at the Seminary. Mr. Bridge is one of the best stenographers in the country, and has recently been appointed to the charge of this branch in the Boston High schools. Lasell is fortunate in securing his services. It is proposed to make the course free later on.

A public meeting was held in the gymnasium on Saturday evening in the interest of Negro education as represented by the Tuskegee Normal and Industrial Institute, Alabama. Addresses were made by two of the students of the Institute and the principal, Mr. Booker T. Washington, and a quartet of the students sang a number of negro melodies very effectively. The work is worthy and was aided by voluntary contributions from the audience.

The Demonstration Lectures in cooking for Nov. 14, and 21, were upon the subject, "Vegetable Foods, Boiling" and "Meats," the first including the preparation of potatoes, rice, macaroni, cabbage, carrots and onions; and the second, soup-stock, clear soup, fillet of beef and mushroom sauce. The class has been divided into three divisions, giving opportunity for better work. There are also three private classes in cooking. No spirituous liquor is used in the preparation of the various dishes.

An Interesting Question.

A very interesting question is before congress and the American Bar association arising out of the unfortunate massacre of the Italians in New Orleans. The relations between this country and Italy were strained nearly to the point of war. Diplomatic intercourse was not discontinued, but Baron Fava, the Italian minister, was recalled.

The issue in the controversy arose from the conduct of the mob that broke into the New Orleans jail and killed the Italian who had been arrested for the murder of the chief of police. For everything done by the people of the city, and for everything done or left undone by the government and courts of the state of Louisiana, the federal government was responsible to Italy. The men engaged in the outrage were acquitted, and this government recognized its moral responsibility at least by paying a small sum of money to surviving sufferers.

The question before congress and the Bar association's international law committee is clear. What remedy is there for a condition of law, international and domestic, under which the United States is responsible to a foreign government, even to the point of war, for the acts of the people and courts of a single state? It is an interesting and important question and one in which the whole country is concerned.—Harper's Weekly.

Good Use of Officeholders.

It is beginning to dawn upon the minds of the managers of the Chicago exhibition that if the whole grand army of present and prospective officials attend the show and pay as they go in the attendance will be large enough to crowd the grounds and to make the show independent of transient visitors.—Philadelphia Times.

A Terrible Fate.

"Poor Cholly Weekness is dead."
"Weally?"
"Yaas. Died a violent death too. Was run into by a June bug last August."
"Deah me! How terrible! And what an unfashionable bug for August!"—Harper's Bazar.

A resident of Jewel City, Kan., lost his watch and supposed that it had been stolen. He was agreeably surprised recently when a chicken scratching in his barn unearthed the watch.

Reports state that some rich finds have been struck in the Bohemia mining district, Oregon, and that there is considerable excitement in that locality.

Over twenty patents were issued last month for improvements in the bicycle or some of its attachments.

Pretty Poor Pickings.

Findings are popularly supposed to belong to the sweeper, but one of the street sweepers of Portland observes that his is a very disappointing job. He has found only a one cent piece and a short lead pencil during his term of office and is disgusted with politics.—Lewiston Journal.

A Pathetic Death on Pike's Peak.

Several years ago, when the summit house on Pike's peak was used as a signal station, the occupants of the hut were a telegraph operator and a companion. Winter had set in with more than usual severity. Unexpectedly the telegraph operator was taken sick and failed so rapidly that the first day of his illness plunged him into delirium. The companion of the operator was not familiar with telegraphy. Their provisions were growing short.

The second night brought no relief. The sight of his raving, half starved comrade grew intolerable to the weary nurse, who one night went out on the mountain top. Scarcely had the door closed behind him than reason returned to the dying operator. With the little strength that he retained he dragged himself to his instrument and flashed over the wire, down the mountain side, that his companion had been lost on the mountain and that he could live but a little while, but that they might yet be rescued if assistance started at once. Crawling back to his pallet the sender of the message died. The wanderer at length found his way back to the hut to have added to his cheerless surroundings the presence of death. At the sight of his lifeless comrade the last ray of hope faded, and he sank unconscious beside the dead operator.

With the first intimation that there was distress on the mountain top a party of willing men, mostly miners wintering at Colorado Springs, started for the summit. They reached the top after a day's weary travel, and just in time to resuscitate the still unconscious man, who in the end recovered.—Chicago Tribune.

Don't Drink Wine with Bananas.

The statement made in connection with the death of Colonel Gilmore that wine and banana juice combined made a deadly poison has caused much comment and much more comparing of notes. That to eat bananas and drink wine immediately afterward is to court certain death, as was stated by a gentleman of some experience, is not correct, or I would have died a score of deaths from poison before this, and the inhabitants of the West Indian islands would have been decimated time and again, for the combination is common among those who can secure wine.

It is possible that some particular wines are dangerous in combination with bananas, but the rule does not apply either to champagne or sherry. The suggestion, however, that bananas are injurious in connection with anything is rather a novel one to me, because there are few fruits which will preserve life and health like the banana. When properly ripened the fruit is at once delicious and nutritious.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Few Men Die of Overwork.

Dr. Pye Smith holds that there is no fear of the ordinary man using his brains too much for health, and he does not believe that mental labor or honest work of any kind interferes with health or shortens life a day. He maintains that excessive eating is the abuse that tends to the injury of brain workers more than any other cause.

Many active brain workers have suddenly broken down and fancied that it was due to brain fatigue, when, as a matter of fact, it was due to over stuffing their stomachs. The furnace connection with mental machinery became clogged up with ashes and carbon in various shapes and forms, and as a result disease came, and before the case was fully appreciated a demoralized condition of the nervous system was manifested and the prosaic cause for the collapse was suppressed under the euphemistic "mental overwork."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Swallowing Abilities of Snakes.

The jaws of the chicken snake are hung on hinges that can be taken apart or displaced for the time being, as the case may be, and an entire Texas cottontail rabbit can be persuaded to enter, head and all, with little effort, and the body being made of india rubberlike material and very stretchable the kicking little animal soon finds a lodgment in the stomach. His snakeship then carefully resets his jaws so that his mouth assumes its normal size and blissfully reposes for the succeeding six hours. The powerful gastric juice does the balance, and no Texan can testify that he ever heard of a chicken snake suffering from indigestion or chronic dyspepsia. The capture and digestion of chickens, song birds, turkey eggs and rats constitute simple pastime to the chicken snake and does not call for a six hour layoff in feeding time.—Port Lavacaen.

Some Definitions.

During the recitation of a class in reading in one of the pieces read the word "merchant" appeared.
"What is a merchant?" the teacher inquired after one of the children had read the word.
"A merchant is a tailor," answered one.
"A merchant is a man who keeps dry goods stores," said another.
"A merchant is a man what buys cheap and kin sell dear," remarked a third.
At last a little boy with a triumphant air cried out, "A merchant is a man what sells goods."
The teacher corrected none of these mistakes in language.—Dr. J. M. Rice in Forum.

Early Mental Development.

Both common observation and the closest scientific study have made it plain that youth is the period of sense ascendancy. From this most important conclusion follow, which we cannot ignore without paying a heavy penalty. Attention has been called to the infant in order to show that, prior to all school education, nature asserts herself and points the way in which the human brain and mind develop. Any education that overlooks these facts is directly against the organization we possess, and must be more or less of a failure.—Wesley Mills, M. D., in Popular Science Monthly.

Perilous Riding on the Iron Horse.

"Did you ever ride on a locomotive?" asked O. G. Haskins. "I tried it once and have no desire to repeat the experience. It was out in Colorado, where you sometimes run so close to bottomless chasms that you could drop your hat into them, and make turns so short and sudden that it nearly disjoins your spinal vertebrae. The master mechanic was an old friend of mine and gave me permission to ride over the road on the engine of the lightning express. The engineer did not appear to fancy my presence much, but treated me civilly. We were behind time, the night was black as Erebus, and a terrific thunderstorm was raging. The engineer was determined to go in on time, and the way he rushed around those curves and across canyons was enough to make a man's hair turn gray."

"The peculiar thing about these mountain engines is that they do not take a curve like any other vehicle. They go plunging straight ahead until you feel sure that they are clear of the track and suspended in midair, and then shoot around and leave you to wonder by what miracle you have been saved. The trucks take the curve in the orthodox manner, but the superstructure is so arranged that it consumes more time in making the turn. With the lightning playing about the mountain peaks and half disclosing the frightful gorges and swollen torrents, the great iron leviathan swaying and plunging along that slippery, serpentine track, I first realized the perils of railway travel and the responsibility of the sullen man who kept his hand on the throttle and his eye on the track. I stood with my heart in my throat, admiring his nerve, but not envying him his job. At the first stop I clambered back into the coach and staid there."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Bright Old Men in Essex County.

Essex county, Mass., has been noted not only for its legal lights like Rufus Choate, Caleb Cushing, Judge Story and others, but also for its deputy sheriffs, some of whom have served many years.

Of one of these men, Daniel Potter, many amusing stories have been told. At one time he entered a newspaper office in Salem, and addressing the only scribe who was in sight said:

"I thought I would tell you that tomorrow I shall go where I never went before and can never go again."

The scribe, knowing his caller, promptly "gave it up," and then Mr. Potter said:

"It is into my eightieth year!"

Some years ago these old deputies had a gathering at the home of a certain one of their number in Gloucester. While they were roaming about the house the host called the attention of his guests to an old clock, a great favorite of his.

He told his friends of his great attachment to this ancient timepiece and grew quite pathetic at certain points in his remarks, which he brought to a close by saying in a voice full of emotion:

"Gentlemen, I have wound up that clock every night for more than forty years."

He had evidently made an impression on his visitors, when one old deputy, who had been carefully examining the clock, turned the tide of feeling evoked by the story by saying dryly:

"Well, I always did think you were something of an idiot! That's an eight day clock!"—Youth's Companion.

Deaf for a Year

Caused by

Catarrh in the Head

Catarrh is a CONSTITUTIONAL disease, and requires a CONSTITUTIONAL REMEDY like Hood's Sarsaparilla to cure it. Read:

"Three years ago, as a result of catarrh, I entirely lost my hearing and was deaf for more than a year. I tried various things to cure it, and had several physicians attempt it, but no improvement was apparent. I could distinguish no sound. I was intending putting myself under the care of a specialist when some one suggested that possibly Hood's Sarsaparilla would do me some good. I began taking it without the expectation of any lasting help. To my surprise and great joy I began to hear. I had taken three bottles of my hearing was returning. I kept on till I had taken three more. It is now over a year and I can hear perfectly well. I am troubled but very little with the catarrh. I consider this a remarkable case, and cordially recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to all who have catarrh." HERMAN HICKS, 30 Carter Street, Rochester, N. Y.

BOOKS AND MAGAZINES.

MRS. BLIGH
by Rhoda Broughton is the latest novel published in Appleton's Town and Country Library, and is a charming story by an always popular writer. Like all of the author's heroines, Mrs. Bligh is peculiar, not exactly beautiful, nor exactly charming, but a woman of strong feelings and a great capacity for self-sacrifice and her trials make very entertaining reading for an idle hour. The hero is of course an intensely selfish personage, but the realistic world—a monthly that comes every week—a single magazine that contains the cream of all. Those who desire a thorough compendium of all that is admirable and noteworthy in the literary world of reviews and magazines published abroad; for they will find the essence of all compacted and concentrated here.

Littell's Living Age.
A semi-centennial: America's venerable and only weekly eclectic, Littell's Living Age.

This standard weekly is the oldest, as it is the best, concentration of choice periodical literature printed in this country. It holds a unique position in the reading world—a monthly that comes every week—a single magazine that contains the cream of all. Those who desire a thorough compendium of all that is admirable and noteworthy in the literary world of reviews and magazines published abroad; for they will find the essence of all compacted and concentrated here.

Littell's Living Age is, for this reason, particularly well adapted to the needs of the busy American whose leisure for extended reading is greatly restricted. To those whose means are limited, it must meet with especial favor, for it offers them what could not otherwise be obtained except by a large outlay. Intelligent readers who want to save time and money will find it invaluable.

Its prospectus for 1893 presents some special attractions and is well worth attention in selecting one's reading matter for the new year. Reduced clubbing rates with other periodicals are given, and new subscribers for the year 1893 will be sent gratis the two October issues containing a powerful story by Frank Harris, editor of the Fortnightly Review, and also the numbers of 1892 published after the receipt of their subscriptions.

The fall of the year is a trying season for elderly people. The many cheerless, dark, dismal days act depressingly, not to say injuriously, on both old and young. Now is the time to re-enforce the vital energies with Ayer's Sarsaparilla—the best of all blood medicines.

LITERARY NOTES.

Reginald de Koven will edit the new department of Music and Drama in Harper's Weekly.

Ruth McNery Stuart will contribute another of her characteristic stories, "Delphi's Dilemma," to Harper's Bazar for November 20th. The same number of the Bazar will contain a delightfully interesting article on "The Office of Chaperone," by Emma Moffett Tyng.

A new novel by Paul Lindau, author of "Lace," will be published immediately in Appleton's admirable Town and Country Library. The title is Hanging Moss, and the story describes certain phases of social life in Berlin, with a change of scene to this country in the latter part of the book.

The next article in the famous series of "Capitals of the World," now running in Harper's Weekly, will be a graphic description of life and society in the city of Washington, written by Henry Loomis Nelson, and attractively illustrated by C. S. Reinhart. It will appear in the number of the Weekly published November 23d.

General Taylor, a biography by Major-General O. O. Howard, U. S. A., will follow Mahan's Farragut in the Great Commander Series published by D. Appleton & Co. General Howard has visited the scenes of Taylor's campaigns in Mexico, and his book will be found to be an authority for those who are interested in the military history of our country. This biography contains a portrait and several maps.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS.

BOSTON THEATRE—Funny little Arthur Dunn, pretty and clever Mamie Gilroy, handsome and stately Belle Black, eccentric Tim Cronin, elastic Charles Wayne, erratic Fannie Daboll, satirical Saroney and lively, agile, graceful and expressive George Melville hold together and elaborate the story of "Babes in the Wood" at the Boston Theatre. They form a clever combination of mirth-makers. Salmiograchi, the best ballet dancer Boston has seen for a long time; Biancifiori, whose lightning dance is marvellous; Nini Patti En L'air and her pupils, whose quadrille has astonished modern theatregoers and amazed the old timers; the pretty Amazons, the gorgeous scenery, the dazzling light effects and the costly and beautiful costumes make the production at the Boston Theatre of interest to all classes. The big house has been well filled since the opening night, and the indications are that during this week every seat in the theatre will be occupied at every performance.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE—Catering to please all tastes theatrically the management of the Grand Opera House will next week change its dramatic bill to one of high-class vaudeville. Variety in all its varied styles will swing down upon the stage of the Opera House and for fully three hours each evening and at the Thursday and Saturday matinees, entertainment will reign supreme. Fresh from a most successful two week's engagement at Proctor's Theatre, New York, Hopkin's Trans-Oceanic Star Specialty Company comes to Boston, the company as good as its name is long. The critics of the metropolis have pronounced in its favor. There isn't a dull line or an old thing in the entire exhibition, and if Bostonians will not appreciate good vaudeville, the Trans-Oceanics will make one of the greatest hits of the season. Following the Trans-Oceanics will come the pugilist actor, Mr. James J. Corbett, in his new play "Gentleman Jack."

Boston Teachers' Mutual Benefit Association.

The Teachers' Mutual Benefit Association is composed of nearly 1000 teachers in the public schools of Boston, and was formed three and one-half years ago for the purpose of paying annuities to members of the association who retire from teaching, either from ill-health or after a long term of service (thirty-five years for women and forty for men). These annuities are paid from the income of this fund, added to quarterly assessments paid by the members, which vary with the salary, but in no case exceed $20 per annum.

Fourteen annuitants are now receiving an average of $320 per annum. When the permanent fund shall reach $60,000, it is expected the annuitants will receive 60 percent of their salaries at retiring, provided that no annuity shall exceed $600.

It is proposed to hold a grand bazaar in Music Hall the first week in December for the purpose of raising this permanent fund. It is hoped that $60,000 may be realized at that time. The purpose of the bazaar comes to the fore with gratitude to their former instructors, and all public-spirited men and women should unite in bringing their efforts to a successful issue.

The Author of "America"

[Edmund Bok in the Philadelphia Press.]
Writing of "America" and its author, recalls to me a very pretty incident to which I was a witness last autumn in Boston.

With a friend I had been making a call and the evening being a beautiful one, we concluded to walk down from the Back Bay district to our hotel. On our way down we passed what was evidently a school building, in which some opening exercises were about being brought to a close. The main door was open, and we stopped a moment to listen, with probably two dozen other people in the street, to the singing of "America" by the school children. The singing was unusually good, and to secure even a better effect, we crossed the street and stood on the opposite curbstone. There were probably a thousand children singing, and as we looked into the building, lavishly decorated with national emblems, there was something about the scene particularly stirring.

Suddenly my friend nudged me, and turning to him he motioned with his head to an old gentleman standing directly next to me, his arm almost touching mine. A glance at his face was sufficient. It was Samuel Francis Smith. Stepping a little aside so that he might, if he chose, secure a better view into the building from where I stood, I watched him closely. But he did not move. Almost until the last word of his own anthem had been sung did he stand there, apparently absorbed. Then he seemed to recover himself, and, heaving a deep sigh, walked away.

I have often wondered since what must be the feelings of an author upon such an occasion. How little did the children inside of the building dream that in that little audience outside they had the author of the lines they had sung so effectively and so beautifully, as one of their most interested listeners.

Katie's Letter.

Katie is a little girl just four years old. One morning her Aunt Sue took her to the postoffice. They do not live in a city where the letter-carriers bring the mail to the houses, but in a large town where all have to go to the post-office to get their mail.

When they reached the office Aunt Sue asked the clerk at the window if there was a letter there for her. He went back into the room and looked. Pretty soon he came back, and said:—

"Yes, there is one for you," and gave it to her. Then they went home, and Aunt Sue read her letter.

One day, about a week after that, Katie was feeling very lonesome. There was no one she could play with, and she had played alone until she was tired. Aunt Sue had gone to the city for a day. All at once Katie thought: "Oh, I'll go down to the post-office and get a letter. That will be such nice fun."

She knew where the post-office was; and, as the town was a quiet one, she was often allowed to go as far as that alone. She took her smallest doll with her for company, and started out. When she came to the office she went up to the window. For quite a little while the clerk did not know she was there. She was so small that her head did not come up to the window, and he could not see her.

By and by he heard some one say in a very small voice: "Mister."

Then the clerk went to the window and saw Katie, and said:—

"What do you want, little woman?"

He was a very good-natured clerk, and liked little boys and girls.

"If you please, sir," said Katie, "I want a letter."

"What is your name?" asked the clerk.

"Katie Bishop,"

"Oh, yes," the man said, and went and looked in the boxes. Then he came and told Katie there was no letter for her that day.

So she had to go home without any. All the time she was wondering what the reason was that she could not get a letter like Aunt Sue. After a while she thought:—

"Perhaps they have to buy them the same as they do candy. 'I'll go and see.'"

Now, that very morning Aunt Sue had given Katie a cent for doing an errand for her; and this cent, strange to say, was not spent, but was safe at home.

Katie went home, got the money, and came back to the office. The clerk was at the office this time, and she put her money upon the shelf, saying:—

"Please, mister, if you can buy a letter for a cent, I want one."

When he heard that, the clerk laughed, and said:—

"No, you can't buy a letter for a cent; but you can take your money, and go down to the store and buy some candy. Then, if you stop when you come back, I rather think there will be a letter here for you."

So Katie did as he said, and when she came back, in about ten minutes, she found there was a letter in a real envelope, directed in a nice plain hand to "Miss Katie Bishop."

In the envelope was a lovely card with a picture and some verses on it.

Where do you suppose it could have come from?—Max Bennett, in Our Little Ones.

"I was deaf" for a year, caused by catarrh in the head, but was perfectly cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. H. Hicks, Rochester, N. Y.

Man is often deceived in the age of a woman by her gray hair. Ladies, you can appear young and prevent this grayness by using Hall's Hair Renewer.

It is no easy thing to dress harsh, coarse hair so as to make it look graceful or becoming. By the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor, this difficulty is removed, and the hair made to assume any style or arrangement that may be desired. Give the Vigor a trial.

Rev. Sylvanus Lane

Of the Cincinnati M. E. Conference, makes a good point when he says: "We have for years used Hood's Sarsaparilla in our family of five, and find it fully equal to all that is claimed for it. Some people are greatly prejudiced against patent medicines, but how the patent can hurt a medicine and not a machine is a mystery of mysteries to me."

Hood's Pills cure Liver Ills.

I have been a great sufferer from catarrh for over ten years; had it very bad, could hardly walk. Some nights I could not sleep and had to walk the floor. I purchased Ely's Cream Balm and am using it freely, it is working a cure surely. I have advised several friends to use it, and with happy results in every case. It is the medicine above all others for catarrh, and it is worth its weight in gold. I thank God I have found a remedy I can use with safety and that does all that is claimed for it. It is curing my deafness. —B. W. Sperry, Hartford, Conn.

Didn't Want a Girl.

Last summer my wife's health was all run down, and she wanted me to hire a girl to do the work. In a little while I found one I thought would suit her, when to my surprise she said I need not hire any one, as she felt much better, and thought another bottle of Sulphur Bitters would cure her. Donald Grey, 41 Worcester square, Boston.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.

When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.

When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.

When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me." J. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"The use of 'Castoria' is so universal and its merits so well known that it seems a work of supererogation to endorse it. Few are the intelligent families who do not keep Castoria within easy reach." CARLOS MARTIN, D. D., New York City, Late Pastor Bloomingdale Reformed Church.

Castoria cures Colic, Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhoea, Eruption, Kills Worms, gives sleep, and promotes digestion. Without injurious medication.

"For several years I have recommended your 'Castoria,' and shall always continue to do so as it has invariably produced beneficial results." EDWIN F. PARDEN, M. D., "The Winthrop," 135th Street and 7th Ave., New York City.

THE WAY TO GO SIGHTSEEING.

An Old Philosopher Gives the Benefit of His Experience.

For sightseers I will lay down two or three rules which have guided me more and more in my habits of traveling, and for which I think there is good foundation:

If you will stay two or three days in one place you will get that sort of affection for it and knowledge of its interior life, if one may use so large a phrase, which makes you always remember it with pleasure. If, on the other hand, you should spend the same three days in going to three different places you have in each of them only the annoyance of dropping your anchor and pulling it up again, only the little trials which necessarily belong to the first hours in an inn or a lodging house, and before these little annoyances are well over you have gone on your way again.

My experience is that I have very little recollection of any sort of places where I have simply spent a night or a part of a day, and that for filling up that great fund of experience and memories the maintenance of which is the great object of traveling it is always desirable to remain for a little while where you are well off, that you may become acquainted not simply with the circumstances, but with the real character of what in a certain way you may thus make a home.

I hold that no man should travel with the mere idea of being amused. He has no right to walk into a town or an inn and say to the first person he meets there, "Come and amuse me; show me what there is which is entertaining." Wherever a man goes he should carry certain tastes of his own, should have certain objects which have interested him in life, and he should inquire with regard to those objects, as this particular place may have an answer to give to his inquiries.

And this I say with a good deal of hesitation. I know nothing in the mere crossing of the water which should change us all into critics of fine art. I am always a little amazed when I go by chance into a picture gallery in Paris, in Brussels, or in Antwerp, to find there some well to do Americans whom I never should by any accident have found in the academy at New York or the art gallery in Boston. I cannot see why we should all be compelled to see paintings in Europe, and in every city in Europe, when at home we do not consider the examination of paintings to be our principal and especial business. I like to see a good picture, I think, as much as anybody does. But I cannot understand why the profession of a traveler and that of a connoisseur in art should be considered, as being very much the same thing. So I do not believe, as I say, that a person gains qualifications for an art critic by the accident of his crossing the ocean.

To young travelers I am forever saying, "Keep scrapbooks." They are even better than journals, by which I mean, preserve little queer bits of printed information which will come drifting into your hands every day, and which in after years will have a value from association which of course does not attach to them, and by the same token whatever is written at the moment has a freshness after-ward which no recollection brought out on rainy days can rival. Here is the advantage of a fountain pen or a half dozen sharpened pencils, of which you cannot very easily lose all. Your journal may be no sort of use to anybody else, but it will always be of value to you, and—Edward Everett Hale in Boston Commonwealth.

Judge Not Too Quickly.
A mother whose temper is impulsive should never trust her first hasty judgment in the management of her little ones.

In the larger affairs of the neighborhood and of society the prudent person refuses to judge hastily. He gives the benefit of the doubt wherever and whenever and to whomsoever he can. People have a right to ask that before they are weighed in the balances and found wanting their cases shall be looked at from all sides and from the most favorable point of view. It is not well to assume that blunders and down dropped eyes always indicate guilt. Innocence falsely accused is often ashamed to look its accuser in the face. Judge not, that ye be not judged, was said by the purest lips that ever spoke on earth.

The man or woman whose habit it is to indulge in snap judgments of any kind is necessarily narrow and undeveloped.—Harper's Bazar.

Rainfall in Australia.
Australia seems to have had an unusual rainfall this year, though it does not equal that of 1890, when, according to a report just issued by the government astronomer of New South Wales, the average for the whole colony was 32.75 inches, or 32.6 per cent. greater than the average of the sixteen preceding years. Forests do not seem to have aided in cloud precipitation, for while a densely timbered region the amount was 35.69 inches, the mean of nine of the nearest stations in an open country was 38.92 inches.

Elevation, however, has a marked influence on rainfall. At Wallagong, half a mile from the sea, at an elevation of sixty-seven feet, 38.84 inches fell, while at Cordeaux river, six miles from the sea, it is 55.53 inches.—Mediterranean Naturalist.
